THE present volume, following that issued by the Trustees in 1898, is the second of a complete catalogue of drawings by British artists and foreign artists working in Great Britain, which is in course of compilation by Mr. Laurence Binyon, Assistant in the Department of Prints and Drawings. It extends from the letter D to H, and includes therefore several of the names in English art, such as Flaxman, Gainsborough, Girtin, Hogarth, which are both most distinguished in themselves and best illustrated in the Museum collection. The name which fills the most considerable space is that of John Doyle the political caricaturist ("H · B"). He is represented by a very numerous series of the original sketches for his published caricatures, purchased by the Trustees in 1882. Other leading names, of earlier date, are those of foreigners, as for instance Holbein and Hollar, who by reason whether of length of residence or of the inspiring and transforming influence they exercised upon native artists cannot be omitted from a catalogue intended, as this is, to give something like a complete historical conspectus of the arts of the draughtsman and sketcher as practised in Great Britain.

The plan and method of the work are in all respects the same as those adopted in volume I., and are fully explained in the preface to that volume. In the brief biographical notices will be found a few new results of research, in the shape of birth-dates and other matters not printed elsewhere.

DANCKERTS, Hendrik (b. about 1630, d. about 1680). Landscape painter and engraver; born at the Hague and trained as an engraver; painted landscapes in Italy; came to England about 1667, and was engaged by Charles II. to paint views; left England about 1679 and died soon after.

1. LANDSCAPE STUDY. Trees on a high rocky bank, with a road in front, and a view of fields and hills l. Inscribed by H. Danckerts.
 Pencil and Indian-ink wash on blueish grey paper; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Purchased December, 1871.

DANIELL, Rev. Edward Thomas (b. 1804, d. 1842). Amateur painter; born in London and educated at Norwich, where he had drawing lessons from Crome; proceeded to Balliol College, Oxford, 1823; B.A. 1828; a friend of Linnell and admirer of Blake; worked as a clergyman in Norfolk and London, 1832–1840, when he started for the East; made many fine drawings in Greece, Palestine and Lycia, and died at Adalia in Pamphylia. Daniell was also an admirable etcher, and his etched work, well represented in the department, is most remarkable for the time at which it was produced.

The following drawings were made during Daniell's tour in Lycia with Lieutenant Spratt and Professor Forbes in the spring of 1842, and during a subsequent unaccompanied tour in the summer of the same year, which ended in his death from fever. They have been arranged, as far as is consistent with convenience of mounting, according to the route followed by the travellers, and detailed in Spratt and Forbes' 'Travels in Lycia,' etc., London, 1847, to which book references are made. The spelling of Turkish names of localities is that adopted in the two volumes published by the Austrian Expedition of 1831–82, 'Reisen in Lykien,' etc., Vienna, 1834 and 1839.

[1-46.] Drawings made during the first tour.

1. LARNAKA, CYPRUS, FROM THE SEA. The town is seen at some distance, built along the shore, with a tall minaret and palm trees l. and the mountains of Santa Crece and Tröodos behind it towards the r.; in the foreground a small sailing boat. Probably sketched by Daniell on his way from Syria to Smyrna.
 Water colours on buff-tinted paper; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.

2. Two on one mount, imp., viz. :—
- (a) COS, FROM THE KARADOGLIA ISLANDS. A long view of a barren rocky coast with purple mountains beyond a gulf; seen over a tranquil sea.
Water colours with pen outlines on buff paper;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
- (b) THE LYCIAN COAST WITH THE VALLEY OF THE XANTHUS, FROM THE SEA. A sketch of hilly coast, broken in the centre by the valley of the Xanthus, with the snowy Massicytus Mountains in the distance.
Water colours on buff paper, heightened with white;  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 20$  in.
3. Two on one mount, imp., viz. :—
- (a) THE ISLANDS OF CALYMNUS AND LEROS. The mountainous coast of Calymnus projecting from the l., with Leros towards the r., sea in the foreground. Inscribed, Calymno Lero.
Water colours with pen outlines on buff paper;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
- (b) IN THE GULF OF MAKRI. The mouth of the gulf seen from the sea, backed by mountains of the Taurus range, and enclosed by the rocky coast. Dated, Dec. 23rd, 1841.
Water colours and body colours on buff paper;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
4. MAKRI, THE ANCIENT TELMESSUS, LOOKING WEST. View from a height, looking across a valley to the rocky hill on which are the ruins of Telmessus; beyond are the bare, rose-coloured hills enclosing r. the waters of the gulf, on which H.M.S. Beacon is seen at anchor. Dated, Maeri, January 3, 1842.
Water colours with pen outlines on buff paper; imp.,  $14 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
5. THE ACROPOLIS OF TELMESSUS, LOOKING NORTH EAST. The acropolis of the ancient town, on its isolated hill, rises toward the l., a wooded valley between it and steep crags r., in which are rock tombs. In the foreground a road leading down past a tomb l., which a Turk with a pack horse is passing. Beneath l. is a glimpse of sea; beyond, the bare plain enclosed by mountains, with the distant snow of Taurus r.
Water colours and body colours on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{7}{8} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Pen sketch on buff paper; imp.,  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
Compare views of the same tombs in 'Reisen in Lykien,' I., Plates XIV. and XV.; and in Scharf's 'Lycia' (1847), Plate v.
7. Two on one mount, imp., viz. :—
- (a) MONUMENT ON THE SEA SIDE OF MOUNT CRAOVS. A square limestone column, hollowed at the summit, with a small window near the top (Spratt and Forbes, p. 21). A Turk is seated at the foot of the column l., beyond which the ground slopes in a hollow to the sea, with the mountains rising l.
Water-colour and pen sketch on buff paper;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (b) THE MASSICYTUS MOUNTAINS, FROM PINARA. View from high ground, looking east across the valley of the Xanthus, glimpses of which are visible in the distance, to the hills with broken gorges rising l. into snowy peaks. Dated, From Pinara, Jan. 5, 1842.
Water-colour and pen sketch on buff paper;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{4}$  in.
8. Two on one mount, imp., viz. :—
- (a) VALLEY BETWEEN CRAGUS AND ANTICRAGUS. The valley with its woods lying in luminous shadow and rising beyond into a bold peak, with further ranges r., coloured by sunset. In the foreground a hut and three figures seated by a tree.
Pen and ink sketch washed with water colours and body colours on buff paper; imp.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
Pen sketch, washed with water colours and body colours, on buff paper;  $10 \times 14$  in.

9. XANTHUS, FROM THE SOUTH, WITH THE KIOSK OF KINIK. The river flows into the l. foreground from under the heights of the ancient town, which occupy the middle distance; the Kiosk of the modern village of Kinik is under plane-trees on the gentle slope of the bank r.; on the same bank a horse drinks from the water near a group of women washing clothes; another group is under a plane farther up the stream; and in the foreground a woman moves away alone.
Pen and pencil sketch on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{3}{4} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
10. THE VALLEY OF THE XANTHUS, LOOKING SOUTH, FROM ABOVE THE ANCIENT CITY. A vast prospect over the plain to the distant sea. The river winds to the sea from the r., under the ancient town which occupies the centre, the Harpy Tomb standing conspicuous to the r. of the theatre; in the foreground are rocky slopes, and in the distance flat-topped hills.
Pen sketch on drab paper; imp.,  $14 \times 20$  in.
Compare similar views in Spratt and Forbes, p. 28 (by Spratt); in Scharf's 'Lycia'; and in 'Reisen in Lykien,' I., Plate xxiii.
11. THE 'HORSE' TOMB, XANTHUS; NOW IN THE BRITISH MUSEUM. The top of a hill sloping l., with bushes and scattered stone fragments, among which rises the tomb, showing a frieze of warriors on its sides; nearer, r., lies the arched top, which had been taken off by the men of Sir Charles Fellows' expedition before removing it to England (Fellows' 'Travels in Asia Minor and Lycia,' 1852, p. 448); in the distance, l., the plain stretches to the sea.
Water colours on drab paper; imp.,  $14 \times 20$  in.
12. VIEW OF XANTHUS, LOOKING SOUTH, FROM THE EASTERN ASCENT TO THE UPPER ACROPOLIS. The slopes of the acropolis, with a tall square monument, still standing ('Reisen in Lykien,' I., Plate xxv.) on the brow of the hill r. Two figures are at the base of the monument, and another stands on the lower ground in the centre near the overthrown 'Horse' Tomb; beyond, the plain, and distant flat-topped hills.
Pen sketch on pale buff paper; imp.,  $14 \times 20\frac{5}{8}$  in.
13. INTERIOR OF A HOUSE AT XANTHUS. A man in European clothes and a fez (probably Spratt or Forbes) seated reading in the middle of a large room, with roof of rafters, a bed in a wooden recess r., and an open door beyond l.; knapsack and broad hat hang at the foot of the bed, and a box lies under the window l., through which a turbaned figure is visible.
Water colours and pen on pale buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
14. THE HARPY TOMB, XANTHUS. The Harpy Tomb, a tall square monument as it appeared before the reliefs were removed from it, stands towards the r.; further off l. another tomb with arched top; fragments of stone lie around and brushwood beyond, with a turbaned figure r., and in the r. distance a hill.
Water colours on pale buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{3}{4} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
15. Two on one mount, imp., viz.:—
(a) INTERIOR OF A TURKISH COTTAGE AT PINARA. Three Europeans (probably Spratt, Forbes and Hoskyn), seated on the floor of a low room, with fire burning l., and a window and door in the further wall. Two natives stand r.; one inside and one outside the door. (Spratt & Forbes, p. 6.)
Water colours;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.
(b) JUNCTION OF THE MANGYR TSCHAI WITH THE XANTHUS. The Mangyr comes down from the r., and joins the Xanthus as it sweeps on in a broad channel towards the l. The snow-crowned mass of Antieragus bounds the horizon; and lower hills fill the middle distance, sloping down to the Xanthus from the l.
Water colours and pen on pale buff paper, heightened with white;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
16. SOURCE OF THE XANTHUS. The river source bubbles up among rocks, foaming down in a strong stream to the r. Trees hang over it in the foreground, and beyond rises the mountain side. 'The Xanthus is born a full grown river' (Spratt and Forbes, I. p. 39).
Water colours and pen on buff paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $14 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Water colours and pen, on buff paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $13\frac{7}{8} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Compare the drawing of Tlos, made from an almost identical point, by Müller, also in the department (described, infra, under Müller, W. J.). Although both sketches were taken in winter, the colouring is very different in the two. A similar view, by Forbes, is lithographed in Spratt and Forbes (l. p. 38), and a photograph of the acropolis and cliffs is reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' l. Plate XLII.
18. TLOS FROM THE SOUTH-WEST. Tlos rises in the centre on its hill, beyond a great stretch of level ground, with dark purple ranges in the distance l., and r. the crowding peaks of Massieytus, flushed with sunset under rosy clouds. Scattered ruins appear on the slopes beneath the acropolis, and broken ivy-covered masses of Roman buildings nearer r.
Water colours, with some pen work, on buff paper; imp.,  $14 \times 20$  in.
19. TWO ON ONE MOUNT, imp., viz. :-
- (a) BELLEROPHON TOMB, TLOS. Part of the face of the cliff (described above in No. 18); to the r., a temple tomb cut in the face of the cliff, with pediment supported on tapering square columns; towards the l. an inscription, and a low doorway cut in the rock beneath. (Spratt and Forbes, l. p. 34.)
Water-colour and pencil sketch on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{7}{8} \times 10$  in.
- (b) PINARA. A towering mass of rock, faced by a precipice, in which numberless tombs are pierced, and crowned with ruins, rising in a ravine, with the sheer heights of Cragus around. (Spratt and Forbes, l. p. 8.)
Pen sketch on buff paper; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
20. TWO ON ONE MOUNT, imp., viz. :-
- (a) PEDESTAL OF A MONUMENT AT TLOS. A quadrangular pedestal with a bas-relief representing Tlos besieged; above, a fragment with lower part of a relief of a warrior. (Spratt and Forbes, l. p. 34.)
Water-colour sketch, on buff paper;  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Casts from the reliefs on this monument are in the British Museum.
- (b) GATE OF THE CITY OF PATARA. A gate with three round arches and bushes growing about the top of it; beyond, the plain, with scattered ruins and tombs and a glimpse of the sea between two hills. In the foreground r. a Lycian boy and two sheep.
Water colours and pen on buff paper, heightened with white;  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 14$  in.
21. ORAHN, THE ANCIENT ARAXA. A broad hollow, with high bank l., on which are the village houses among trees. Beyond, l. and r., the near and lofty peaks of Taurus. (Spratt and Forbes, l. p. 38.)
Unfinished pen sketch on buff paper; imp.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
22. THE HARBOUR OF ANTIPHELLUS; WITH THE ISLAND OF CASTELORIZO. View from a height looking down on the little port of Antiphilo, with tombs and remains of the ancient Antiphellus clustered by the shore of a bay, which lies calm under noonday sunshine. A long promontory, enclosing the bay, runs out r., with islands and the harbour of Vathy beyond; l. appears the head of another cape, and between them is the island of Castelorizo (Megiste).
Water colours and body colours on buff paper; imp.,  $12\frac{1}{4} \times 19\frac{5}{8}$  in.
23. THE VALLEY OF KASSABAR FROM PHELLUS, LOOKING WEST. View from a height. The side of a mountain slopes steeply down towards the l., with tombs carved in the rock; at the l. beneath rises a tower and fortification, and beyond, the plain of Kassabar, with the Dembra winding through it, stretches to distant mountains.
Water colours and body colours, with some pen work, on buff paper; imp.,  $13 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Pen sketch on buff paper;  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
25. PORTICO OF A TURKISH HOUSE AT KASSABAR. Interior of a long outer corridor of woodwork on the first floor of a house, a raised seat or platform l., and a view of Kassabar village and mountains beyond. At the end of the corridor, a divan, and near it a Turk and a European, standing above an outer staircase leading up from below, on which are two more figures. The house is that in which the travellers stayed at Kassabar. (Spratt and Forbes, I., p. 88.)
Sepia sketch with pen outlines; atl.,  $14\frac{1}{4} \times 27$  in.
26. THE GORGE OF THE DEMBRA. A gorge between towering pine-covered precipices under which a torrent streams among scattered boulders; a small party of horse-men at some distance l. follow a path which borders the torrent and is lost towards the r. in the winding of the gorge. (Spratt and Forbes, I., p. 123.)
Pen sketch partly washed with sepia on buff paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
27. MYRA. View over the plain to the near mountains; in the centre of the foreground two massive Roman walls form an angle; close under the mountain towards the l. is the theatre of Myra, with tombs in the rock-face above it. (Spratt & Forbes, I., p. 132.)
Water colours, body colours, and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
28. THEATRE OF MYRA. A field in the foreground, with the remains of the theatre r., its ruined arches opening on the field; immediately above, the steep wall of the mountain, with numberless rock-tombs in its face. Two figures near the foreground l., and another r.
Water colours, body colours and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
29. RUINS OF SURA, NEAR MYRA. A hillside sloping down to the l., where there is a glimpse of distant sea, the slope strewn with rocks and ruins, among which is conspicuous a tomb with a hollow chamber, surmounted by an arched, crested monument; higher up r. is another rock-tomb, and in the foreground r. a great block carved with turban-headed tombstones. Inscribed by Daniell,  $\Sigma$ OVPA.
Pen sketch, washed with water colours and body colours on buff paper; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
30. THE PLAIN AND BAY OF PHINEKA. A vast prospect from a height, crowned with ruins of an Hellenic fortress, and sloping suddenly down l. to the shore of the bay, which stretches to the distance r. Beyond the great plain, through which two rivers, the Aryeandus and Limyrus, come blue from the l. into the sea, rises the Solyma range, and in the far distance the snowy ridge of the Pamphylian Taurus.
Water colours and body colours, with some pen-work, on buff paper;  $13 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
31. Two on one mount, imp., viz. :—
- (a) ROCK TOMBS AT LIMYRA. A hillside of stratified limestone, with a great number of tombs excavated along the outcrop of each stratum; the hill slopes down to the l., where the plain of Phineka appears, and mountains rising beyond. In the foreground, l., on rising ground, four natives. (Spratt and Forbes, I., p. 148.)
Pen sketch on buff paper;  $10 \times 14$  in.
Compare the photograph reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' Pl. XII.
- (b) SUMMER DWELLING IN A 'JAILA' OR UPLAND. A group of trees, between the stems of which is built a low shed, with roof of boughs, containing three seated figures; a third figure stands outside, near the foreground; l. a wall runs from the trees, with horse tethered near the end of it, and mountains appear in the distance.
Pen sketch on buff paper;  $10 \times 14$  in.

32. VILLAGE OF ARMUDLY, ON THE PLAIN OF PHNEKA. The level plain, with cattle feeding in the foreground, and a Turk standing on a hillock r.; the scattered buildings of the village, with small mosque and minaret in the centre, appear at a little distance close under the mountains.
Pen over pencil on buff paper; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
33. TWO ON ONE MOUNT, imp., viz.:—
(a) KARDITSEH. A wide view from a height, over a rocky region, descending into a valley, with a stream (the Limyrus?), beyond which rises a snow-topped mountain range. In the foreground the vilage of Karditseh, a few huts and sheds.
Pen sketch, slightly washed with water colours and body colours, on buff paper;  $10 \times 14$  in.
(b) ROCK TOMBS IN LYCIA. View down a narrow valley, with rock-tombs, mostly arched at the top, clustered up its sides, which rise into precipices r.; at the end of the valley a great hollow of undulating country, closed by a mountain range.
Pen sketch over pencil, on buff paper;  $10 \times 14$  in.
34. DISTANT VIEW OF ACALISSUS AND EDEBESSUS. View from a mountain side over a vast and wild valley, sloping up steeply into precipitous ridges against the sky. Half-way up the slope a few tombs and ruins show the site of Acalissus, and close under the mountain wall, further off, are the remains of Edeessus.
Pencil on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
35. OLYMPUS IN LYCIA. A narrow river flowing out from the r. foreground into the sea. The ruins of Olympus cover a hill rising l. above the river at its mouth, and there are other ruins on the low bank r. A road in the l. foreground follows the stream to the foot of the hill; a Turk rides along it, and a number of planks lie on the bank.
Pen on buff paper; imp.,  $12 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
36. MOUNT SOLYMA FROM DELIKTASH (OLYMPUS). The sandy shore of a bay, with a vessel lying moored in the shallow water; r. an isolated steep rock, l. the ruin-covered hill of Olympus, beyond which, and all along the further shore of the blue bay, rises the range of Solyma, culminating in a snowy peak.
Water colours and body colours over pencil, on buff paper; imp.,  $13 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
37. THE VALLEY OF THE CHIMERA, NEAR OLYMPUS. A wild and rocky ravine, descending steeply from the l., with the r. side in shadow; the slopes broken into frequent precipices, with scattered trees.
Water colours and pen, on buff paper; imp.,  $20\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
38. THE FIRE OF THE CHIMERA. A mountain side, sloping steeply up from the foreground to a wooded ridge; some way up the slope a heap of ruins, at the corner of which, l., shoots out the flame of the Chimera; and beneath the ruins a cavity in the rock, in which a Turk is standing, while another sits on the brink. (Spratt and Forbes, I., p. 193.)
Pen, washed with water colours and body colours, on buff paper; imp.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Compare the two photographs reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' II, Pl. xvii.
The legendary terror, famous as the Chimera, which Bellerophon subdued, Virgil's 'flammeis armata Chimera,' is a jet of inflammable gas issuing from a crevice in the rock; it is now resorted to without fear by both Greeks and Turks, and used for purposes of cooking.
39. THE SOLYMA RANGE FROM THE SOUTH. Broad sands enclosing a bay r., by the edge of which, near the foreground, are two natives, one seated. At the end of the sands a low range of hills, the site of Phaselis, backed by the towering mountains of Solyma; two great peaks, with a hollow between them, rising conspicuous in the centre.
Water colours, body colours, and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $11 \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
40. TERMESSUS, LOOKING S.E. View from a height looking down on a plateau covered with the ruins of the city, the theatre being conspicuous at the further edge towards the l. From the gorges bounding the plateau and overlooking the city, mountain ranges rising into a bold rocky mass l., and stretching r. to the plain of Adalia, the long sweep of the coast and the sea.

Water colours and body colours on grey paper, with pen outlines; ntl.,  $19 \times 27\frac{1}{2}$  in.

41. RUINS OF THE GREAT WALL IN THE PASS BELOW TERMESSUS. View from the side of the pass, on the opposite side of which the mountain, broken into precipices, rises l. to a great height, and falls r. into a valley which continues the pass at right angles, winding away into the distant hills. The wall, guarded by towers, crosses the pass at the l. (Spratt and Forbes, I, pp. 231 and 240.)
Pencil, partly washed with water colours on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
42. STADIUM OF CIBYRA. View from the hill-side in which the stadium is excavated, looking east over the Cibyrate plain to the mountains, with the lake of Gjöhlissir in the distance l.; the curved end of the stadium rises r. in tiers of seats, surmounted by a ruined tower. (Spratt and Forbes, I, p. 258.)
Water colours, body colours, and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Compare the view by Spratt (Spratt and Forbes, I, p. 260), and the photograph reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' II, Pl. xxx.
43. FRONT OF THE ODEUM AT CIBYRA. A long high wall, with five low arched doorways in the centre and a square doorway on each side, flanked l. by another wall, seen in perspective; the whole building is ruined at the top. (Spratt and Forbes, I, p. 257.)
Pencil and pen, slightly washed with Indian ink, on buff paper; imp.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Compare the photograph reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' II, Pl. xxxi.
44. THE TOWN OF ELMALÝ. Part of an undulating plain, with a group of trees toward the l., bounded by a low range of hills, on the slopes of which is the town.
Pen, and slight sepia wash on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Compare the photograph reproduced in 'Reisen in Lykien,' II, Pl. xxi.
45. VILLAGE OF GOMBE (KOMBA). A village with a few square and massive buildings clustered on the top of an isolated hill rising in a valley, with a steep height overhanging it r. and mountain ranges beyond.
Water colours on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{3}{4} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
46. A MOUNTAIN PASS IN LYCIA. A pass under high hills r., capped by precipitous crags winding round to the r., with a mountain rising darkly l., broken into an isolated peak.
Perhaps a view of the Acropolis of Pinara, from the S.W.
Water colours and pen; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.

[47-55.] Drawings made during the second tour.

47. RHODES, FROM THE SEA. The battlemented wall of the harbour, projecting towards the r. in a bastion with a tall fortified tower; behind the wall l. the roofs and minarets of the town, and r. the open country.
Water colours and body colours on buff paper; imp.,  $10 \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.
48. SERAJDIK. The upper part of a craggy hill, rising in a barren valley among mountains. On the hill are scattered trees, and near the foreground fragments of a wall and other ruins. Dated Sahar-raji, July 4th, 1842.
Body colours, water colours and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.
49. TSCHANDYR, WITH RUINS, PROBABLY OF MARMORA. A precipitous crag, crowned with ancient fortifications, rising almost sheer in front from a valley in which are rock-tombs l., and sloping down among trees r.; beyond, a wide valley rising into conical peaks and opening l. on the plain of Adalia, washed r. by the blue sea, and bounded by far-off mountains.
Water colours and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
In Daniell's account of his last tour (Spratt and Forbes, II, p. 13), he says, 'I passed the entire of next day among the ruins, and in making an upright sketch;' doubtless the drawing just described. The ruins were supposed by Daniell to be those of Olbia, but according to Spratt and Forbes, as also Beendorf and Niemann, are probably those of Marmora.

50. STADIUM AND THEATRE OF PERGE, IN PAMPHYLIA, FROM THE FORTIFICATIONS. View from a ruined wall running straight from the l. foreground to a tower, behind which are the remains of other buildings, and beyond them, at some distance, a low flat-topped hill with a ruin, perhaps of the Gymnasium, at its r. extremity; the end of a similar hill is visible, r., with the theatre built on its lower slope; and between this and the foreground is the stadium, in the midst of level fields; the figures of three natives in the foreground.

Water colours, body colours and pen, on buff paper; imp.,  $13 \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Compare the plan of Perge in Lanckoronski's 'Villes de Pamphylie et de la Pisidie,' tome I., p. 36.

51. SILLYUM, IN PAMPHYLIA. View from the south-west. The Acropolis, an isolated hill, rises from an undulating foreground, and occupies the whole view, except for a glimpse of mountain-peaks in the l. distance; at the top it is broken into precipices, and all up the slope are remains of massive architecture and fortified roads. A native pitcher, a bow and arrows, lie in the foreground, r., at the side of a road, along which a Turk is driving an ox, followed by a boy.

Water colours, body colours, and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.

52. THEATRE AND STADIUM OF SELGE, IN PISIDIA, FROM THE SOUTH-WEST. The remains of a Roman building, with two natives seated, r., in the foreground, looking over a row of square arches and down the length of the stadium to the theatre, built on a slope opposite towards the l. Below the theatre, in a hollow r., are a row of columns and other scattered ruins; beyond, the ground gradually rises to distant mountain ridges sharp against the sky.

Body colours and water colours on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This sketch is lithographed in Spratt and Forbes, II., p. 26, where Daniell mentions it as a 'sketch of the first view that struck me. . . I did not finish the outline till nearly four o'clock.'

53. SELGE, FROM BELOW THE THEATRE, LOOKING SOUTH-WEST. View looking up to the height from which the preceding sketch was made; a row of Ionic columns stands in the foreground, with a path winding past them to the r., and five natives in single file coming down it from the huts of the modern village, Serbghc or Surk; to the l. is level ground, with scattered ruins and trees rising up to the heights which bound the view, their slopes covered with various remains of buildings (Spratt and Forbes, II., p. 27).

Water colours and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.

54. BOZBOROUN, FROM SELGE. View from a height, looking down on a vast square ruin rising in the foreground, l., above the valley, which stretches away, continually rising to the distance, in a succession of snail-shaped hillocks; bounding the view, Bozboroun springs sheer from the slope, its steep face darkened by an approaching storm.

Water colours and pencil on buff paper; imp.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

'On my fourth day,' writes Daniell (Spratt and Forbes, II., p. 27), 'I determined to attempt the glories of Boz-boroom; but I had scarcely begun to colour when the whole effect was changed by a thunderstorm, and huge rolling clouds, not concealing the mountain, but . . . completely changing the effect . . . The rain reached me at two o'clock, just as I was about to complete my foreground.'

55. AQUEDUCT OF ASPENDUS, IN PAMPHYLIA, FROM THE ACROPOLIS. View looking north to the mountains, from which the aqueduct brought water to the city. The slope of the Acropolis occupies the r. foreground, and the ruined aqueduct runs from the r. half way across the middle distance, then turns at right angles and crosses the undulating plain to the foot of the hills; at the angle, and at the further end, are remains of two towers; to the l. is open country, and in the centre foreground is a Turk with his wife and child, moving away.

Water colours, body colours and pen on buff paper; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Compare a similar view in Lanckoronski (II., p. 126), who also gives an elevation of the aqueduct and its towers.

All purchased November, 1872.

DANIELL, Samuel (b. 1775, d. 1811). Painter; younger brother of William and nephew of Thomas Daniell; went to South Africa during the first British occupation of the Cape, and visited Bechuanaland; in 1806 sailed to Ceylon and lived there till his death.

1. SILVER MOUNTAIN, DRAKENSTEIN, SOUTH AFRICA. A lake or stream in the foreground r., with bushes on the bank, from which rises a low, broad hill, and behind that the mountain, culminating in abrupt precipices, with a cleft between it and other high crags r. In the l. foreground, by the water, two figures and an ox cart; and a house among trees at a little distance. Inscribed No. 1.

Pencil over red chalk outline; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved by W. Daniell in 'Sketches . . . of Southern Africa.' Pl. 13. 1820.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

DANIELL, Thomas (b. 1749, d. 1840). Painter; born at Kingston-on-Thames; studied at the Royal Academy; went in 1784 to India with his nephew William, and worked there, the two publishing on their return 'Oriental Scenery,' completed 1808; elected A.R.A. 1796, and R.A. 1799; retired early from his profession.

1. NEAR GORDALE, CRAVEN. A narrow wooded valley, down which a rocky torrent comes foaming.

Indian ink and pen, tinted with water colours; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  in.

2. ST. ANNE'S HILL, NEAR CHERTSEY, SURREY. A road in the foreground curving under a sandy bank l. to the centre, where another tree-bordered road from the r. joins it, and disappearing down a slope to undulating wooded country beyond; in the foreground, towards the r., a young tree rising up against the placid sky.

Pencil, with Indian ink and water-colour wash; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{8}$  in.

3. CHEDDAR CLIFFS, SOMERSET. View looking down the valley between broken crags in the foreground, with an isolated peak rising towards the l., and another peak beyond more to the r.

Water colours over Indian ink; roy.,  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{7}{8}$  in.

4. CHEDDAR CLIFFS; ANOTHER VIEW. View down the winding gorge, with a stream issuing from the r. side, and breaking over rocks into the foreground; at the l. an overhanging rock crowning the grass slope; two figures on a turn of the path at a little distance.

Water colours over Indian ink; imp.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 18\frac{1}{8}$  in.

No. 1-4 were purchased May, 1872.

5. A WATERFALL IN INDIA. View looking up a river with steep, rocky and wooded banks, between which, at some distance, it foams down in a great fall to a basin, then, broken by a lower fall, flows swiftly into the l. foreground, under high rocks r., on which are two natives, one with spear and shield.

Water colours over Indian ink; atl.,  $18\frac{3}{4} \times 24\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Purchased at the Percy sale, May, 1890.

DANIELL, William, R.A. (b. 1769, d. 1837). Painter; nephew of Thomas Daniell, whom he accompanied to India 1784, and helped in the publication of 'Oriental Scenery' on their return; exhibited many Indian scenes, and later views in England and Scotland; elected A.R.A. 1807, R.A. 1822; published several works, the chief being 'A Voyage round Great Britain' (1814).

1. ON THE GANGES. Stairs of a temple, l., on a jutting shore, round which the river flows into the foreground, under mountains r., with a few boats sailing down it; a few natives on the stairs, and a palm above; by the water, l., a girl with a pitcher.

Bistre wash and pen sketch on grey paper; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Presented by John Henderson, Esq., January, 1863.

2. ON THE THAMES, NEAR CLIVEDEN. The river flows from the r. foreground to the l., broken l. by a wooded island; on the near bank, l., some trees and a ferry bell; on the further bank woods bounded by a paling, and wooded hills beyond, with a tower showing above; a boat on the stream r.
Water colours over Indian ink; roy.,  $5 \times 10\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Purchased May, 1872.
3. AT CHELOW. Low shores, with water in the foreground, and a few huts under a grove of palms; near the shore some smaller trees and some figures and boats under them. Inscribed Chelow.
Slight pencil sketch; roy.,  $5 \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Presented by J. Deffett Francis, Esq., February, 1875.
4. THE HARBOUR MOUTH, BOSCASTLE, CORNWALL. The entrance to the harbour, with a cutter sailing in, seen from the cliff at the eastern side; a signal station at the top of the opposite cliff, beyond which the rocky coast stretches r.; cormorants and gulls on a rock in the foreground. Signed with monogram, and dated Boscastle, 19 Augt., and inscribed with memoranda.
Pencil and black chalk on brownish paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Different from the view of Boscastle in the 'Voyage round Great Britain.'
5. HARBOUR AT HARTLAND, DEVON. A cove, bounded on the further side by rocky cliffs; l., a schooner lying beached at low tide behind a stone jetty, and some men and a horse in the foreground.

DOYLE, John, known as "H. B." (b. 1797, d. 1868). Painter, lithographer, and caricaturist; born at Dublin; studied drawing there under Gabrielli and Comerford; from 1821 to his death worked in London, first as a portrait painter, then as a lithographer; famous for the long series of lithographed Political Sketches (1821–1851), which, with a certain loss of force, introduced a new spirit into English satiric art, supplanting Gillray's ferocity and extravagance by the tradition of urbanity and good humour, which was continued by 'Punch.' After 1851 Doyle produced no more.

1. Ob. THE APPARITION. The ghost of Canning r., appearing to the members of the Cabinet, Lord Lyndhurst, Lord Ellesborough, Mr. Peel, Lord Bathurst, and the Duke of Wellington, who recoil in confusion and terror while Canning points to the Roman Catholic Emancipation Bill, for which he had vainly worked, and which the Ministry had just passed (1829).

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 1.

Rev. PRESENT STATE OF PUBLIC OPINION PARTIALLY ILLUSTRATED. Two politicians, two tradesmen, a fop, a farmer, and a young lady meditating on the news of George IV.'s serious illness, and on the various ways in which his death would affect them. Inscribed as in the lithograph. (Published 1830, the year of George IV.'s death.)

Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 64.

2. Ob. THE PROPHECY. The Duke of Cumberland, r., as Macbeth, hailed future king by Lord Redesdale, Lord Eldon, and Lord Manners, as the three witches.

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 2.

The Duke of Cumberland, the most able and the most obnoxious of the brothers of George IV., intrigued very actively against Wellington's ministry in their endeavour to pass the Catholic Emancipation Bill. Lord Eldon, with his supporters, joined him in these intrigues, and was supposed to countenance his designs on the throne, to which he stood third in succession. Cf. No. 4 (rev.) and No. 10 (ob.).

Rev. A JOINDER IN THE PLEAS. Sir R. Sugden and Sir James Scarlett, the newly appointed Solicitor-General and Attorney-General, shaking hands. Sir N. Tindal, the old Solicitor-General, seen behind in the centre, Sir Charles Wetherell, the old Attorney-General, l., and Brougham going away r. Another figure, not in the lithograph, is talking with Wetherell.

Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 12.

These new appointments were occasioned by the dismissal of Wetherell from his office, for opposing the Catholic Emancipation Bill. Tindal was made Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.

3. Ob. THE OLD WHITE LION. The Duke of Wellington visiting Lord Eldon, the 'Old White Lion,' to conciliate him on his defeat over the Emancipation Bill. Lord Lyndhurst, who succeeded Eldon as Lord Chancellor in 1827, looking in at the door.

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 3.

Rev. AN UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. A waggon with a long train of horses attached to each end, and pulling different ways; Brougham standing near and talking to a man with a whip, and the Duke of Wellington l.

Pencil.

4. Ob. THE BATTLE OF THE PAMPHLETEERS. Sir R. J. Wilmet Horton, r., mounted on a rocking-horse (inscribed Emigration in the lithograph), and discharging a blunderbuss at Mr. Sadler, who fires a pistol in his face.

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 4.

Wilmet Horton, member for Newcastle-under-Lyme, published in 1829 'The Causes of Pauperism Considered . . . A Defence of the Emigration Committee against the charges of Mr. Sadler.' Michael Sadler, afterwards prominent as a leader of social reform, was elected member for Newark this same year.

Rev. DAMON AND PYTHIAS. Lord Eldon and the Duke of Cumberland walking arm-in-arm, an allusion to their association in resistance of the Catholic Emancipation Bill. A slight sketch of a group below.

Pencil.

Political sketches, No. 7.

5. Ob. A MYSTERIOUS VISIT. Lord Eldon visiting George IV., who sits on a sofa, the Duke of Cumberland standing by r.; Peel and Lord Lyndhurst whispering together behind, l.

Pencil; roy. (r. lower corner cut off),  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 9.

The allusion is to the pressure put upon the King by Lord Eldon and the Duke of Cumberland to veto the Catholic Emancipation Bill. Eldon had two interviews with the King just before the Bill was passed.

Rev. 'THE MAN WOT PREFERS HIS CHARACTER TO HIS PLACE.' Portrait of Sir Charles Wetherell, who attacked the Catholic Emancipation Bill, and therefore lost his post of Attorney-General; a slight sketch of his successor in the robes of office, r.

Pencil.

Political sketches, No. 15; somewhat modified in the lithograph.

6. Ob. A MYSTERIOUS VISIT; ANOTHER SKETCH. The King is seen here in front, Lord Eldon from behind.

Pencil; roy. (r. top corner cut off),  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{8}$  in.

Rev. REPOSE. The Duke of Wellington asleep, his feet on a chair.

Black chalk.

7. Ob. 'THE MAN WOT PREFERS HIS CHARACTER TO HIS PLACE.' As in the lithograph.

Pencil; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 15.

Rev. A BROAD HINT. Lord Lyndhurst, the Chancellor, introducing Brougham to Wellington, as anxious to 'enroll himself among the Duke's political friends.'

Political sketches, No. 13.

Brougham was at this period (1829) the most brilliant figure among the Whigs; both parties coveted his talents, but distrusted his character. Never fully accepted by his own side, he continually coquetted with the Tories, and drifted at last into a bitter isolation, admired and feared, but not respected, attacking all alike, but chiefly his old friends.

8. Ob. A CABINET CURIOSITY. Lord Ellenborough (chief of the Protestant party in the Cabinet).

Pencil and red chalk; roy.,  $13\frac{5}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 16.

Rev. JOHN BULL AND HIS DOCTORS. John Bull sending away his doctors, and congratulated by the Duke of Wellington on the strength of his right arm. Lords Sidmouth and Eldon among the doctors, r.

Pencil.

9. Ob. A SMALL PARTY OF SUPERANNUATED POLITICIANS. Lord Manners announced by a footman, l., to Miss Vansittart, who sits at a round table, with her back towards the spectator; Lord Redesdale talking to Lord Eldon, near whom stands Lord Bexley (Nicholas Vansittart), and Lord Sidmouth sits r.

Pen over pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  in.

Political sketches, No. 17.

The party consists of retired politicians who were opposed to Catholic emancipation.

Rev. A JOCKEY. A jockey on a horse.

Black chalk.

10. Ob. THE JOCKEY. The Duke of Cumberland as 'the jockey wot hopes in the long run to distance the Colonel [the Duke of York] and Old Shiver-my-Timbers [the Duke of Clarence], give Kentina [Princess Victoria] the "go-by" and win the Crown Stakes.'

Pencil; roy.,  $13\frac{3}{4} \times 8$  in.

Political sketches, No. 18.

See note on No. 2 (Ob.).

Rev. Various slight studies, including one for 'Political Harmonics.'

Pencil.

11. Ob. SHEET OF SKETCHES. Our Worthy Magistrate, Sir Rich<sup>d</sup> Birnie; Two Personages of Great Weight on the Turf; and Townsend, the Bow Street Officer.

Pencil and black chalk; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{4} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, Nos. 19, 20 and 41.

Sir Richard Birnie, police magistrate at Bow Street, had distinguished himself in the apprehension of the Cato Street conspirators (1820), and was much esteemed by ministers. He died 1832.

Rev. REPOSE. The r. half of the sketch described above, No. 6 (Rev.).

Political Sketches, No. 14.

12. Ob. TWO PERSONAGES OF GREAT WEIGHT ON THE TURF. Mr. Thornhill, a man of huge bulk, and Sam Chifney, the famous jockey, who trained Thornhill's horses at Newmarket, and to whom Thornhill at his death in 1843 left his house and stables. With studies for 'The Frog and the Bull,' and others of the Political Sketches.

Pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 20.

Rev. SHEET OF STUDIES. Studies for 'The Frog and the Bull,' 'Political Harmonics,' etc.

Pencil.

13. Ob. THE AFFIDAVIT. Lady Lyndhurst taking the oath before Lord Tenterden; Lord Lyndhurst standing before her r.

Black chalk; rough sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 13$  in.

Political sketches, No. 22.

Rev. A POLITICAL RIDDLE. Donna Maria, the young Queen of Portugal, received with an embrace by George IV., who sits on a sofa remonstrating with the Duke of Wellington, behind whom, r., stand Lord Aberdeen and Lord Beresford. With a sketch of a man in a carriage.

Pencil and black chalk sketch.

Political sketches, No. 21.

The throne of Portugal was usurped 1828 by Dom Miguel, uncle of the child Queen, who came to England and quite won over the English public. The King was enchanted with her. Wellington's Government, in which Aberdeen was Foreign Secretary and Beresford Master-General of the Ordnance, became unpopular on account of the support which, without acknowledging him, they had given Dom Miguel, especially in the affair of Terceira.

14. Ob. POLITICAL HARMONICS. Peel playing the piano and Wellington fiddling; Goulburn (Chancellor of the Exchequer) turns over the pages for Peel; at the r., the Duke of Cumberland and Lord Eldon are looking through the window, and near them the Duke of Richmond (not in the lithograph).
Pencil, with pen study of Wellington's head; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 23.
The allusion is apparently to the state of affairs in 1829, when Wellington's Administration was still nominally in power, but was no longer supported by the old Tory party, who were more anxious for its downfall than the Whigs. Peel was especially hated.
- Rev.* A SHEET OF ROUGH STUDIES, including a sketch of Prince Esterhazy, Lord Ellenborough (?), etc.
Black chalk and pen.
15. POLITICAL HARMONICS. As lithographed.
Red chalk outline; roy.,  $10 \times 12$  in.
16. Ob. EMBARKATION OF A FRENCH CARGO IN AN ENGLISH BOTTOM. Prince Polignac in a boat glumly expressing his apprehensions after surveying the horizon, while Wellington shoves off the boat and tells Polignac to follow his directions and all will be well.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 24.
Polignac, French Ambassador to England, left London for Paris in 1829, and was made Prime Minister by Charles X. Polignac accepted office on the understanding that there was no chance of Wellington retiring, and he was looked on as Wellington's nominee. The appointment was violently unpopular in France, and Polignac fell in July, 1830, at the Revolution.
- Rev.* A SCENE IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY. Mr. Long Pole Wellesley appealing to Lord Lyndhurst, who presides r.; behind Wellesley, Mr. Bligh; Sir E. Sugden and Mr. Denman l.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 14\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 27.
The case was Wellesley v. the Duke of Beaufort. Mr. Wellesley petitioned against an order made by Lord Eldon that his intercourse with his children should be severely restricted. He conducted his own case, and was opposed by the Solicitor-General, Sugden. Lord Lyndhurst upheld Lord Eldon's order, 31 July, 1829.
17. EMBARKATION OF A FRENCH CARGO IN AN ENGLISH BOTTOM.
Red chalk outline (r. top corner cut off); roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
18. Ob. THE FROG AND THE BULL. Polignac the Frog trying to swell himself to the dimensions of Wellington the Bull.
Pen and pencil, rough sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 25. See above, No. 16 (Ob.).
- Rev.* THE MODERN QUIXOTE. This unpublished sketch represents Sir Francis Burdett (the 'Modern Quixote') leading in a lady (Lady Conyngham?), whose train is held by a satyr, to a reception of George IV.'s. Wellington, Eldon and others are also present.
Pen and pencil.
19. Ob. A SCENE IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY. The same composition as No. 16 (Rev.) reversed, with added figures.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $9 \times 14\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Rev. THE SAME SUBJECT.
Slight pen sketch.
20. THE SAME SUBJECT. As lithographed.
Red chalk outline; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{7}{8}$  in.
21. Ob. NEWCASTLE VERSUS NEWARK. The Duke of Newcastle turning away a tenant and his family for not voting in his interest; the tenant reproaches Michael Sadler, the member for Newark, who stands by the Duke, l.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{8} \times 14$  in.
Political sketches, No. 28.

The Duke of Newcastle's open assertion that the franchises of Newark were his property, and his saying, 'May I not do what I like with my own?' gave a great stimulus to the agitation for Parliamentary Reform.

Rev. SHEET OF STUDIES. Small sketch of the last subject; and Lord Sidmouth comforting the Duke of Cumberland, r.

22. RUSSIAN DIPLOMACY. The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, sword in hand, offering the Treaty of Adrianople to the trembling Sultan for signature (September, 1829).

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 29.

See note on No. 24 (Rev.).

23. Ob. THE VINDICATION. George IV. leaning on Wellington's arm, and putting up his glasses to scrutinise the Duke of Cumberland, who was falsely reported to have cut off his moustaches; Lord Strathaven and Lord Mountcharles stand l., and a third figure behind Wellington.

Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 31. Modified in the lithograph, where the King is seated, holding II. B.'s caricature, 'The Goat wot Lost his Beard,' and Wellington is absent.

Rev. THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON. And a slight study of George IV.

Pencil.

24. Ob. THE VINDICATION. As lithographed. (A hole cut in the paper at the l.)

Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Rev. THE COUP DE GRACE. The Russian eagle fastening its claws on the defeated Turkey; at the l. Wellington remonstrates indignantly with Polignac, who says his hands are tied by French opinion; at the r. the Russian minister telling Austria not to interfere, and the Prussian minister looking on in excitement.

Political sketches, No. 35.

The Peace of Adrianople was forced on Turkey, September, 1829, by the successes of the Russian arms under Diebitsch. Wellington was strongly opposed to the conditions imposed, but found it hopeless to fight against the treaty.

25. Ob. CONSOLATION; OR, OTIUM CUM DIGNITATE. Lord Eldon sitting in a chair with an enormous glass of beer in his hand, and a gigantic cheese on the table beside him.

Pencil and pen; roy.,  $9 \times 9$  in.

Rev. SHEET OF SKETCHES. A steam carriage; and a sketch of George IV.

Pencil and black chalk.

26. Ob. JOHN BULL'S COMPLAINT TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLMASTER. John Bull complaining to Mr. Brougham of Wellington's undignified conduct in paying attention to the attacks made upon him in the Press. Inscribed with speeches to the same effect as in the lithograph, but differently worded.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 14\frac{1}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 34.

Wellington's prosecution early in 1830 of the 'Morning Journal' for libels (partly written by the Duke of Cumberland's chaplain) injured him more in the eyes of the nation than any other act of his career. His reputation had already suffered from his challenging Lord Winchelsea to a duel.

Rev. REPULSED, BUT NOT DISCOURAGED. Wellington and Peel shutting the door on a Jew, who pleads hopefully to get in; Brougham and O'Connell expostulate; behind, a man winks as he takes the oath; at the l., among others, the Rev. Edward Irving.

Political sketches, No. 63.

After the passing of Catholic Emancipation the cause of the Jews was strongly advocated, and a bill was brought in for their relief in 1830, but was thrown out in the second reading.

[1830.]

27. SIR ROBERT PEEL AS A KNIGHT. Peel, in full armour, advancing with calm smile through a lurid stormy landscape, attacked on all sides by shrieking demons and vampires, towards the distant temple of Fame.

Pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 36.

Peel, who succeeded his father in the baronetcy in 1830, was the one minister in the Commons who inspired respect or interest. Though bitterly assailed in the press, especially the 'Morning Journal' and the 'Standard' (represented by demons in this sketch), he went his way and took no notice of detractors. His conduct shone by contrast with that of Wellington.

28. Ob. 'HAWTHORN.' The Duke of Cumberland as Hawthorn, with dog and gun, singing.

Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 38.

Rev. GEORGE IV. DRIVING.

Pencil.

29. Ob. BOMBARDMENT EXTRAORDINARY. The 'Morning Journal's' Punch and Judy show bombarded by a cannon made of the bulky form of the Attorney-General Scarlett, pushed forward by Sugden and Brougham, and fired by the Duke of Wellington, who is supported by Lyndhurst with his mace. Lord Holland, with his gouty feet in bandages, lifts his crutch in protest; and the Duke of Cumberland, and Lord Eldon, who has been playing the Pan's pipe before the show, hurry frightened off. Above, the forms of Canning, Fox, and other dead Whig ministers look down in horror.

Pencil and pen; roy. (torn at l. upper corner),  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 39.

For Wellington's press prosecutions, cf. No. 26 (Ob.).

Lord Holland was one of the most prominent Whig peers of the day, and a strong vindicator of civil and religious freedom.

Rev. A PAIR OF VERY RIOTOUS FELLOWS. Lord Stanhope and Lord Eldon arm-in-arm, refusing to be quiet at the bidding of policeman Wellington.

Rough pencil sketch.

Political sketches, No. 56.

Lord Stanhope moved an amendment to the address at the opening of the session of 1830, expressing the hostility of extreme Tories to Wellington's policy.

30. Ob. A BRIGHT THOUGHT. Mr. Long Pole Wellesley sitting at a writing-table and exclaiming that he will write a faithful history of the Court of Chancery. A female figure, not in the lithograph, lightly sketched in r.

Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 11\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 42. See note to No. 16 (Rev.).

Rev. STUDY FOR THE SAME SUBJECT.

Rough pencil sketch.

31. Ob. EFFECTS OF THE MARCH OF THE RUSSIANS AMONG THE TURKS. The Sultan and members of his suite dancing with ladies of the European Embassies. A conjectured effect of the Russian ascendancy at Constantinople. See note on No. 24 (Rev.).

Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Rev. A WILD ELEPHANT LED AWAY BETWEEN TWO TAME ONES.

Described below, No. 36 (Ob.).

Rough pencil sketch.

32. NEW POLICE ACTIVITY. George IV., as a magistrate, telling Wellington and Peel, dressed as policemen, to take away the disbanded watchmen, who have been robbing the hen roosts, to a house of correction; farmers appear to complain of the robberies; Lord Eldon pleads the cause of the 'Charleys.'

Pencil;  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 16$  in.

Political sketches, No. 45.

The Metropolitan Police Force was instituted in 1829 by Peel, to take the place of the feeble and incompetent body of watchmen.

33. Ob. THE SAME SUBJECT. Rough pencil sketch; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Rev. SHEET OF SKETCHES. Various notabilities of the day, two on horseback. Pencil.
34. GEORGE IV. Study for 'New Police Activity.' Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.
35. MAKE WAY FOR THE SPEAKER. Manners Sutton, the Speaker, preceded by Mr. Ball and by Mr. Seymour, bearing the mace, entering the House of Commons. Pencil and black chalk; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
36. Ob. A WILD ELEPHANT LED AWAY BETWEEN TWO TAME ONES. Wellington and Peel trying to calm Lord Ellenborough, who tears his hair in desperate agitation. Inscribed with speeches to the same effect as in the lithograph. Pencil; roy.,  $11 \times 9$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 47.
 Lord Ellenborough, appointed to the presidency of the Board of Control in 1828, had busted himself with Indian affairs, and in 1829 wrote to the Governor of Bombay advising that two Puisne judges should sit with the Chief Justice Grant, to check him, 'like a wild elephant between two tame ones.' The letter, though private, was published by mistake, and in 1830 it appeared in the Times. The indiscretion brought on Ellenborough a violent attack.
- Rev.* EXTREMES MEET IN A RADICAL EMBRACE. The Marquis of Blandford and Daniel O'Connell embracing. Inscribed as in the lithograph. Pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 53.
 The Marquis of Blandford, an extreme Tory, in his anger at the Government for passing the Catholic Relief Bill, made common cause with the extreme Radicals on the question of Parliamentary Reform, and thus found himself in unexpected and incongruous alliance with O'Connell, who also supported Reform to gain his Irish ends.
37. Ob. A POLITICAL RUSE. Mr. George Banks in the House of Commons, explaining to an amused Opposition that 'most opportunely a copy of the letter has come to light, and proves my conjecture to have been singularly correct, the word is not renew, but review.' (This speech is given in the lithograph.) Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 48.
- Rev.* A REFLECTION UPON THE FUTURE PROSPECTS OF GREECE. Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg regarding himself in a mirror. (A corner of the paper, with the head of the Prince, torn off.) Pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 51.
 At the peace of Adrianople it was decided that Greece should become an independent monarchy. The crown was offered to Prince John of Saxony, who refused it, and then to Leopold, who hesitated and made conditions, and after some months finally rejected it.
38. Ob. THE ALTERATION OF THE CURRENCY. The Manufacturer, the Agriculturist, and the Fundholder; the first two in dejection at the news of the alteration, the third in high spirits. Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 49.
- Rev.* DANGEROUS EFFECTS OF IDLENESS. Lord Eldon telling the Duke of Richmond, one of Wellington's Tory opponents, that he doesn't know what to do with himself, and proposing to have 'a dash at the great captain, just for the fun of the thing.' Pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 62.
39. THE ALTERATION OF THE CURRENCY. Rough sketch. Black chalk; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{3}{8}$  in.

40. A NEW FARCE, CALLED A COUNTY MEETING. Magistrates and landowners of Derby bringing a petition to the Duke of Wellington, who is astonished at the power with which they credit him.
Red chalk outline; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{8} \times 13\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 50.
Probably an allusion to the opposition of magistrates and landowners to the repeal of the beer tax, proposed by the Government in 1830.
41. Ob. THE ABATEMENT. Goulburn, at Wellington's suggestion, giving John Bull back a shilling of his rent.
Pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
The Budget brought in by Goulburn, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in 1830, proposed to apply part of the surplus to remission of the taxes on leather, beer, and cider. The savings effected by the measure conciliated moderate men in the Commons, but seemed insufficient to the Radical economists and futile to the distressed classes throughout the country.
Rev. A NEW FARCE CALLED A COUNTY MEETING.
Rough pencil sketch.
42. Ob. A VERY IMPERTINENT QUESTION. Paul Pry (Liston) calling on Wellington and Peel to suggest that their first step in retrenchment might be the reduction of their own salaries.
Pencil and red chalk; roy.,  $9 \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 54.
Sir James Graham moved, February 12, 1830, for a reduction of the salaries of public servants, but withdrew his motion on the Government plodging itself in general terms to all retrenchment possible. Paul Pry, first acted by Liston in 1825, had become the most famous and popular part of that comedian.
Rev. RUSSIAN DIPLOMACY. A rough study. See above, No. 22.
Black chalk.
43. COBBETT'S LECTURE. William Cobbett addressing a meeting, and asking why they don't send him, the only man capable of solving all difficulties, to Parliament. (Cut at the l. and at the top, so that only part of Cobbett's head appears.)
Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 55.
Cobbett, after many adventures and vicissitudes as a soldier, bookseller, and pamphleteer in England and America, had ardently espoused the popular cause about 1804, and in 1830 was the most prominent journalist in England on the side of reform, but had not yet attained his ambition of a seat in Parliament.
44. A PAIR OF VERY RIOTOUS FELLOWS. See above, No. 29 (Rev.).
Red chalk; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{4}$  in.
45. AUCTION EXTRAORDINARY. The Marquis of Chandos put up to auction as an automaton deserving a place in the King's Cabinet of Curiosities. Lord Nugent, l., expresses distaste; Wellington, r., remarks to Peel that they may as well have him.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $12 \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 58.
On the transference of Herries to the Presidency of the Board of Trade from the Mastership of the Mint, Wellington offered the latter post to the Marquis of Chandos, who, however, refused it.
46. A TOUCH OF THE PALPABLE OBSCURE. Peel and Wellington standing back to back, and each reading from scrolls in the clouds the counsel given by the shade of Lord Liverpool, which stands above, in favour of 'a revision of the Banking System,' and 'Further reduction in all the expenses of the State.'
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8 \times 12\frac{1}{4}$  in. (Liverpool's head drawn on a separate piece of paper,  $2 \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  in.)
Political sketches, No. 59.
47. THE WOOLSACK; A SKETCH FROM NATURE. Lord Lyndhurst, sitting with sphinx-like expression between the Duke of Cumberland, the most detested and most Tory, and the Duke of Sussex, the most popular and most Liberal of the brothers of George IV.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 60.

48. Ob. THE WOOLSACK. Study for the same subject.

Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. THE ABTRUSE JOKE; A SCENE OFF TERCEIRA. On board of a man-of-war. Dom Miguel thrusting back George IV., who attempts to interfere, while he reads intercepted despatches. At the r. John Bull is with difficulty held back by Wellington and Aberdeen.

Rough black-chalk sketch.

Political sketches, No. 10.

See above, note on No. 13 (Rev.). An army of Portuguese Loyalists, defeated by Dom Miguel, took refuge in England. From Plymouth they sailed to Terceira, the chief of the Azores Islands, which were loyal, and which Dom Miguel had decided to reduce. Wellington sent a man-of-war to prevent these Loyalists from landing, and they were driven to France. This caused great indignation in England, where both king and people espoused the cause of Donna Maria.

49. Ob. A HINT TO DUELLISTS. Wellington brought up before Chief Justice Bailey, who tells the jury that duelling is murder.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 6.

On March 21, 1829, Wellington challenged Lord Winchilsea, who had slandered him in a letter to the 'Standard,' to a duel; they fought with pistols in Battersea fields, but neither was touched.

Rev. THE COUP DE GRACE. Described above, No. 24 (Rev.).

Pencil.

50. Ob. ALAS, POOR YORICK. Lord Eldon and the Duke of Cumberland standing in mourning dress before the doors of the 'Morning Journal.'

Pencil; roy.,  $12 \times 9$  ins.

Political sketches, No. 65.

See note on No. 26 (Ob.).

The 'Morning Journal' ceased to exist on the 13th of May.

Rev. UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. Two gentlemen meeting and shaking hands.

Pencil.

51. Ob. THE MAGIC MIRROR, OR A PEEP INTO FUTURITY. Time showing John Bull a mirror in which appear the Duke of Cumberland and the Duke of Wellington dragging Princess Victoria one way and the Duchess of Kent and Prince Leopold dragging her another.

Red chalk; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 68.

Rev. GUY FAWKES, OR THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE POLISH PLOT. Wellington burnt in effigy by the ultra Tories, the Duke of Cumberland, Lords Eldon, Sidmouth, Stanhope, etc.

Rough pencil sketch.

Political sketches, No. 88.

- 51*. THE MAGIC MIRROR.

Red chalk; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

52. Ob. THE GREEK PAPERS. Lord Holland in Greek costume demanding to see one of the papers on Greek affairs which Lord Aberdeen, the Foreign Secretary, insists on keeping back. Lord Londonderry, dressed as a Turk, thinks there can be no harm in showing it to a philo-Turk like himself. Wellington in the background advises giving as little information as possible.

Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 70.

Rev. UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. An old gentleman inspecting two horses.

Pencil.

53. THE GHEBER WORSHIPPING THE RISING SUN. Brengham on the sea shore, worshipping the sun of the new king as it rises from the waves.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 71.
George IV. died June 26, 1830, when William IV. succeeded to the throne.
54. A ROYAL COMMISSION. Lord Rosslyn, Lord Lyndhurst and Lord Shaftesbury sitting in a row.
Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 73.
55. Ob. THE LORD CHANCELLOR WOT IS TO BE. The Duke of Wellington in the Chancellor's robes.
Pencil; roy.,  $15\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 98.
The Duke had differed from the Chancellor on a point of law; the Duke proved to be right.
- Rev. A SKETCH AT BRIGHTON. William IV., Queen Adelaide, and their suite riding at Brighton.
Pencil and chalk.

[1831.]

56. Ob. A HANDSOME AND PROMISING PUPIL; STUDIES FOR THE LITHOGRAPH. Two studies of Orator Hunt in the House of Commons. In the lithograph he is represented as a boy sitting on the knee of Sir Joseph Yorke.
Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 109.
Henry Hunt, the Radical agitator and hero of the 'Peterloo massacre' of 1819, was elected member for Preston 1830, and took his seat February 3, 1831; he was an active and multifarious speaker, but pleased no party and found no following.
- Rev. AN UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. The royal coach, and spectators.
Pencil.

[1832.]

57. THE MOUNTAIN IN LABOUR. The Duke of Buckingham as a mother in bed, attended by Lord Eldon and Lord Sidmouth, and newly delivered of a mouse, which Wellington, Aberdeen, Lyndhurst, and Londonderry, dressed as nurses, are examining on a cushion.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  in.
Political sketches, No. 192.
The Duke of Buckingham, a man of huge proportions, had proposed a 'moderate' scheme of reform, so moderate, indeed, as to be scarcely perceptible at all.
58. Ob. SWEARING OF THE HORATIL. Lord Grey swearing Lords Harrowby, Wharncliffe and Haddington on their swords.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 191.
These three lords were the chiefs of the moderate Tories among the Peers, called 'The Waverers,' who exerted themselves to arrange a compromise on the Reform Bill of 1832; and it was owing to them that the second reading was carried in the Lords on April 14th by a majority of nine.
- Rev. DESIGN FOR A NEW COINAGE. 'The reverse of a sovereign, a little magnified.' Wellington as a knight, overcome by the dragon Grey. Beneath, 1834 (in the lithograph 1833).
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 193.

59. Ob. DESIGN FOR A NEW COINAGE.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 11$  in.
- Rev. THE JUDGMENT OF MIDAS. A very rough sketch; John Bull seated in the centre, Grey as Midas, l., Wellington as Apollo, r.
Pencil.

60. Ob. A MELANCHOLY CONSOLATION. Grey and Durham sitting gloomily at a table, while Brougham at once consoles and disappoints them by announcing that public anger at the fate of the Reform Bill has not broken out in acts of violence. Inscribed with plainer speeches than the lithograph. Ungrateful people! says Durham. Most provoking, says Brougham.
Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 196.
Lord Grey's Ministry, unable to persuade the King to create new peers enough to carry through the Reform Bill, resigned May 9, 1832.
- Rev.* A LATE SCENE AT HOUNSLOW. Grey and Brougham eating chops at an inn, the sign of which, the Red Lion, perturbs Lord Grey as a bad omen.
Pen and pencil.
61. CORONER'S INQUEST UPON THE LATE ADMINISTRATION. A party of politicians, in groups, including 'the Waverers' (Harrowby and Wharnccliffe), O'Connell, Hunt, Wellington and Lyndhurst, discussing Grey's fall; at the r., Ellenborough letting a cat out of a bag; John Bull at the l. suspects foul play somewhere.
Rough pen and red chalk sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 197.
62. Ob. UP AND DOWN, OR THE POLITICAL SEE-SAW. Grey and Wellington on a see-saw balanced by William IV. in the middle; John Bull gets under the plank at Grey's end and prevents his going down again. Wellington warns the King that he'll be down if he does-n't mind.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 199.
On Grey's resignation the King sent for Wellington, who tried in vain to form a Government, and public feeling was so strong that Grey had to be recalled to power.
- Rev.* DON QUIXOTE ATTENDED BY SANCHO PANZA. Grey as Don Quixote sallying forth attended by John Bull, on their expedition for the reform of abuses.
Rough pencil sketch.
63. A SCENE FROM CINDERELLA. Cinderella (Queen Adelaide) asking the Fairy (William IV.) what they shall do for a coachman, as the fine lackeys already provided cannot drive; the Fairy tells a servant (Lyndhurst) to bring a caged rat (Wellington), which she will change by her magic into a coachman.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $18\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 200.
An allusion to the negotiations between the King and Lyndhurst, who was first sent for on Grey's resignation, and who persuaded Wellington to attempt to form a Government.
64. Ob. WHO ARE 'WE'? Lord Ellenborough explaining in the House of Lords what the Tory plan of Reform would have been; his colleagues, sitting in front, express astonishment at the scheme. Ellenborough professed to speak for his party, but apparently his ideas were all his own.
In the lithograph the Duke of Buckingham is introduced.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $9 \times 13$  in.
Political sketches, No. 203.
- Rev.* A CONSTITUTIONAL TILT; OR WHICH IS BEST? Lord Holland and Lord Wynford (Sir W. D. Best) tilting at each other with their crutches. Both were lame with gout. Best was made a peer and Deputy-Speaker of the House of Lords in 1829.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 204.
65. Ob. SCENE FROM THE FARCE OF 'I'LL BE YOUR SECOND!' Lord Grey and Lord Keaton fighting with swords; the Duke of Cumberland parting them. Lord Keaton was a close adherent of the Duke of Cumberland.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  in.
Political sketches, No. 202.
- Rev.* AN UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. Brougham as Lord Chancellor in the House of Lords. Slight and unfinished.
Pencil.

66. Ob. A MOST EXTRAORDINARY RAT. The Duke of Wellington as an enormous rat, with the Tory chiefs on his back, rushing headlong down a slope; Grey and Brougham, as terriers, leap after them through a fence, over which John Bull is looking. (Cut at r. lower corner.)
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 201.
 An allusion to Wellington's withdrawal from Parliament, followed by others of his party, during the final stages of the passing of the Reform Bill.
- Rev.* LINEAL DESCENT OF THE CROWN. Grey, astride of an inn-sign, the Crown, hacking at it with a bill-hook and cheered on from below by the Radical agitators, Hunt, O'Connell and Cobbett.
 Pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 209.
67. Ob. THE NEW REFORM COACH. A coach going down hill, driven by Grey, with the Reform leaders on the top and William IV. inside; Wellington calls out to them that they have thrown away their drag chain, and is answered with derision. Inscribed with speeches of the same purport as in the lithograph.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 18$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 207.
- Rev.* THE FATE OF MARSYAS. A rough sketch for a subject not lithographed. Lord Grey as Apollo, Wellington as Marsyas.
 Pencil.
68. Ob. STUDY FOR A PICTURE OF OLIVER CROMWELL DISSOLVING THE LONG PARLIAMENT. Colonel L. G. Grove (well-known by his letters to the Times, signed 'Radical') telling Cobbett to 'take away this banble.'
 Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 210.
- Rev.* LORD GRANVILLE SOMERSET ON HORSEBACK.
 Pencil.
69. A BATTLE ROYAL, OR A SET-TO FOR A CROWN. Dom Miguel and Dom Pedro about to fight for the crown of Portugal, the English ministers and politicians looking on, Wellington and Aberdeen backing Miguel against his brother. John Bull, who appears in the lithograph l., is not introduced.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 211.
70. Ob. UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. Grey and other Reform leaders on the edge of the precipice of anarchy, lured on by the Radical agitators beneath.
 Pen and pencil; roy. (a double sheet folded),  $14\frac{3}{4} \times 19\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- Rev.* THE RIVAL ARTISTES. Wellington and Grey as ballet dancers; the former defies anyone to turn round more quickly than he does; the latter plumes himself on standing on one leg. Inscribed as in the lithograph.
 Pen and pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 213.
71. Ob. A PARLIAMENTARY GROUP. Grey, Lansdowne, Melbourne, Godrich, Holland, and the Duke of Richmond drowsing in the House of Lords during a prosy speech.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 212.
- Rev.* AN IMPORTANT PETITION. Lord Holland presenting one of H. B.'s sketches ('A Constitutional Tilt,' described above, No. 64 Rev.) as a petition to the House of Lords. Inscribed with speech as in the lithograph, and with other memoranda, &c.
 Rough pen and pencil sketch.
 Political sketches, No. 218.
- [Between the foregoing sketch and the next there is a considerable gap in the series—from 1832 to 1837.]

[1837.]

72. Ob. AN OLD SONG TO A NEW TUNE. ('Row, brothers, row.') John Bull and William IV., the latter looking sea-sick, in a boat desperately rowed by Lords Palmerston, Duncannon and Melbourne, and steered by Lord John Russell.

Black chalk on drab paper; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 488.

Since 1835 Lord Melbourne's administration had been in office; but the Whig government had never been strong, and by the spring of 1837 was reduced to impotence, opposed alike by Tories and by Radicals.

Rev. REMINISCENCES OF THALBERG. Three portrait profile studies of the pianist playing.

Black chalk and pencil.

Sigismund Thalberg, born at Geneva, 1812, was not successful as a composer, but won a brilliant reputation as a pianist in Vienna and Paris and in London, where he gave concerts in 1835. He died 1871.

73. Ob. BIRD-CATCHING EXTRAORDINARY. Lord John Russell trying to catch a cock sparrow (Mr. Roebuck) by putting salt on its tail. In the lithograph Mr. Wakley as a magpie, and Mr. Hume as a jackdaw, are also introduced.

Black chalk on drab paper; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.

Political sketches, No. 490.

Mr. Roebuck, himself an ardent Reformer, was at this time, 1837, one of the bitterest opponents of the Whigs.

Rev. WE, THE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND. Mr. Hume, Mr. Roebuck, and Mr. Wakley sitting cross-legged, tailoring; Dr. Bowring approaching r. (The last is omitted in the lithograph.)

Black chalk and pencil.

Political sketches, No. 491.

Hume, Wakley, and Roebuck were leaders of the Independent Radical Party, who claimed to represent the people. Dr., afterwards Sir John, Bowring was at this time member for the Clyde Burghs; he was already well known as a linguist, traveller, and economic reformer, and in politics belonged also to the philosophical Radicals.

[1838.]

74. La BELLE ALLIANCE. Marshal Soult introduced to Lord Hill by the Duke of Wellington.

Black chalk on drab paper; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  in.

Political sketches, No. 549.

Soult and Hill, who had fought so many brilliant and determined battles against each other in the Peninsula, met, as friends, in 1838, when Soult was sent as Ambassador Extraordinary to the Coronation of Queen Victoria.

75. Ob. JONAH THROWN OVERBOARD; AND ANOTHER SUBJECT. Lord Minto thrown overboard by the Government, a slight sketch; and a bishop (?) as a bird perched on a spade.

Political sketches, No. 550.

Black chalk and pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.

Black chalk.

76. NONE BUT THE BRAVE DESERVE THE FAIR. A parody of Landseer's picture; Lord John Russell and Peel as the two stags fighting in the foreground; the Queen, Wellington, and others as the deer, looking on.

Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 553.

Peel and Lord John Russell were at this period in prominent antagonism, as Pitt and Fox earlier, Gladstone and Disraeli later.

77. Ob. A TRAP-IST ON RETREAT. Three studies of O'Connell as a monk, praying, digging, and wheeling a barrow. The first study was adopted in the lithograph, where he is praying to a skull and cross-bones.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 11$  in.
Political sketches, No. 554.
The allusion is to O'Connell's new project of agitation, started in the autumn of 1838, through a society called the Precursor Society.
- Rev.* THE SAME SUBJECT, DIFFERENTLY TREATED. Small rough study.
Black chalk.
78. Ob. A SCENE FROM DON GIOVANNI. The Duke of Rutland as Don Giovanni; Sir Frederick Trench as Leporello, startled at the signs of life given by the statue of the Commendatore (Wellington).
Black chalk and Indian ink; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{4} \times 12\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 555.
A committee was formed in 1838 for erecting a Wellington memorial; the Duke of Rutland was chairman, and Sir Frederick Trench took an active part in determining the form which the memorial was to take, the statue, taken down in 1883, placed on the top of the arch in front of Apsley House.
Greville ('Memoirs,' Vol. iv., p. 110) calls it 'a gross job of Sir Frederick Trench's.'
- Rev.* THE DUKE OF HAMILTON ON HORSEBACK.
Black chalk.
79. THE BROKEN HONG MERCHANT. The Duke of Sussex in Chinese dress, seated cross-legged, and showing an empty tea-chest.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{7}{8} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.
The Duke of Sussex quarrelled with the Government, July, 1838, on account of their refusal to apply to Parliament for an increased allowance. His claim was moved in the House of Commons, but rejected, and the Duke was greatly mortified.
80. A CONTRAST. Lord Melbourne asleep on the Treasury box; Brougham, l., trying to upset him with the lever of faction; Wellington, r., refraining from using the lever in his hand; Brougham would if he could, Wellington could if he would.
Black chalk and Indian ink; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 560.
Brougham, now out of office, was a powerful opponent of Lord Melbourne, whose studied affectation of careless indifference further weakened in the eyes of the country his weak Government.
81. Ob. VAN AMBURGH OUTDONE. O'Connell as Van Amburgh (the famous lion-tamer), with his foot on Melbourne's head, surrounded by the fawning or frightened forms of the other ministers.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 561.
- Rev.* A METAMORPHOSIS, OR JOHN BULL TURNED INTO A MILCH COW. Spring-Rice, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, trying to milk John Bull. Peel and O'Connell, with empty pails, r., and Mr. Shiel, l., are only slightly indicated.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 552.
There was at this time a series of deficits on the Budget.
82. A SCENE FROM MACBETH. Lord Durham (Banquo) appearing to Melbourne (Macbeth), the other ministers and the Queen.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 13\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 562.
Lord Durham, appointed Governor-General of Canada early in 1838, arrived there in May, and issued an ordinance dealing with the captive rebels in June. This ordinance was disallowed by the Government, and Durham resigned, landing at Plymouth December 1, two days before this sketch was published.

83. A ROW IN THE PLAYGROUND. Lord Durham complaining to the other boys (Melbourne and the Whig ministers) that they have allowed Brougham to give him such a blow. Sir William Molesworth offers a copy of 'The Westminster Review' as a plaster. Wellington looks on, l. Lithographed with additional figures, and with modifications.
 Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 563.
 Lord Brougham attacked Lord Durham's ordinance in the House of Lords in August, and carried his motion. John Stuart Mill eloquently defended Durham in 'The Westminster Review,' and the article helped to cause a strong feeling in his favour among the public.
84. Ob. DEMOSTHENES ON THE SEA-SHORE GIVING A LESSON TO A NEW DISCIPLE. Brougham describing his speech against Durham to Wellington on the sea-shore at Walmer.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 564.
Rev. THE DUENNA. The Duenna (Melbourne) pushing the Queen away from the window, lest she should listen to Durham's serenade.
 Pen and pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 565.
85. ANOTHER PEEP INTO THE PLAYGROUND: 'YOU'RE NONE OF MY CHILD.' Durham hustled and pushed away by the other boys (politicians of all parties).
 Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $9 \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 566.
86. COACH DINNER, CASTLE INN, WINDSOR. The Whig Ministry seated at dinner; John Bull announcing that they must make room for the Opposition passengers, Wellington and Peel; and Melbourne replying that they will be ready soon, when they have taken a little more 'salary.'
 Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 567.
87. Ob. A DESERTER. Durham, handcuffed and led between two grenadiers (Melbourne and Wellington), with Brougham bringing up the rear.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 568.
Rev. THE DIS-ORGANIST. Lord Durham playing discords of rage and despair on an organ, of which Mr. Roebuck blows the bellows; Brougham looking on in malicious triumph; and Melbourne and the Queen stopping their cars.
 Rough pen sketch.
 Political sketches, No. 571.
88. A COACHMAN WANTED; CANDIDATES FOR THE PLACE. John Bull explaining to Brougham that his missus doesn't want an Omnibus man; Melbourne asking Wellington to take the job, as he is tired of it; Wellington unwilling, and Durham sullenly defiant. Modified in the lithograph.
 Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 14$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 570.
89. Ob. COMIC PANTOMIME, A CURIOUS METAMORPHOSIS. Melbourne as Harlequin, Palmerston as Pantaloon, Lord John Russell as Polichinelle, and Lord Morpeth as Clown exclaiming at the sudden transformation of Windsor Castle into the Crown Tavern.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 572.
Rev. THE DISOWNED. The Beadle (John Bull) showing Brougham a baby which has been left at his door, but which he disowns. Two women r.
 Rough pen and pencil sketch.
 Political sketches, No. 569.
 In December, 1838, Brougham issued a pamphlet letter to the Queen, a bitter brilliant satire, which he did not openly acknowledge, though everybody recognised the authorship.

[1839.]

90. FEEDING THE ANIMALS—CHANGE OF DIET. O'Connell as the lion tamer feeding the ministers with the corn-law question and cheap bread; the Queen looking on. Modified in the lithograph.
Black chalk, rough sketch; roy.,  $9 \times 11\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 573.
In 1839 the distress caused by successive bad harvests had reached an acute state, and the question of the repeal of the Corn Laws had become one of the most urgent problems of the day.
91. THE RIVAL QUIXOTES. Brougham and Durham mounted on donkeys and tilting at each other with poles; Durham, hit in the stomach, falls off his donkey backward.
Black chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 574.
92. OLIVER INTRODUCED TO THE RESPECTABLE OLD GENTLEMAN. Lord Normanby (the Artful Dodger) introducing Lord Morpeth (Oliver Twist) to O'Connell (Fagin); Melbourne and other ministers at a table. A parody of Cruikshank's illustration to 'Oliver Twist.'
Pen and black chalk; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 576.
Lord Morpeth was Irish Secretary, Lord Normanby Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. The latter provoked violent opposition amongst the Orangemen and Protestants by his friendliness with O'Connell, by his overriding of harsh and partisan judgments, and by his appointments of Catholics.
93. PLAYING OFF A PRACTICAL JOKE UPON AN OLD FRIEND. Melbourne robbing Lord Glenelg, who is asleep in his chair, of the Colonial Seals, while Lord Duncannon puts the Privy Seals on the table instead; Lords Normanby and Morpeth come in r.
Black chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 577.
Lord Glenelg had approved of Lord Durham's ordinance, and was dismissed in consequence by the Government from the Colonial Office, in which Lord Normanby succeeded him. He was offered the Privy Seal, but refused it.
94. Ob. A TRIANGULAR DUEL (NOT) FROM MR. MIDSHIPMAN EASY. Brougham, Melbourne, and Durham; the last firing in the air.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  in.
Political sketches, No. 578.
- Rev.* A JOCKEY ON HORSEBACK.
Black chalk.
95. Ob. A COUNCIL OF WAR. O'Connell sitting at a table, on which is a large 'Plan of Attack,' explaining it to Lords Morpeth, Fortescue, and Normanby.
Black chalk; roy. (cut at l. lower corner),  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 579.
See above, note to No. 92. Lord Fortescue succeeded Lord Normanby, March, 1839.
- Rev.* DENTATUS. Lord Normanby (Dentatus) defending himself against the onslaught of Lord Roden, Lord Charleville, and Lord Westmeath; while Brougham hurls a stone at him from above.
Black chalk.
Political sketches, No. 583.
On March 21, 1839, Lord Roden, leader of the Orangemen, carried a motion in the House of Lords for a Committee of Inquiry into Lord Normanby's Irish Administration. In April, however, the House of Commons approved by vote the Irish policy of the Government.

96. JACK FROST IN DOWNING STREET; OR, A SECRETARY OF STATE BADLY MAULED. Lord John Russell sitting in his office, with an imp on his shoulder tearing at his hair; Mr. Fox-Maule, his secretary, enters in astonishment.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 580.
John Frost, a magistrate and a well-known Chartist, was called to account, in February, by Russell, the Home Secretary, for seditious speeches, and though his answer was insolent, he was not removed from the magistracy for some time.
97. II. B. DISCOVERED IN HIS STUDIO. Brougham painting a portrait of Lord Fortescue; Lyndhurst, grinding his colours, complains that the likeness is too flattering. 'Not in your usual style.'
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 581.
98. Ob. A LEAF OUT OF NICHOLAS NICKLEBY. O'Connell and Lord Normanby, Morgan O'Connell and Lord Morpeth embracing each other at parting on the Dublin steamboat pier.
Black chalk; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  in.
Political sketches, No. 582.
Rev. A DESIGN FOR A NELSON MONUMENT. Nelson on a chariot, with Neptune and Britannia looking up to him. With two other slight studies for the same subject.
Black chalk and pen.
The Nelson Column in Trafalgar Square was being projected at this time, and was begun in 1840.
99. Ob. WHO IS TO HAVE THE STICK? Wellington and Lord John Russell as two dogs fighting for a stick, representing a Parliamentary Committee on Ireland.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 585
See above, note on No. 95 (Rev.).
Rev. DON GIOVANNI IN LONDON. Melbourne falling in terror on his knees, surrounded by an 'infernal chorus' of Radicals—Brougham, Durham, Grote, and Sir W. Molesworth.
Black chalk.
Political sketches, No. 586.
100. Ob. WHO IS TO HAVE THE STICK? A study for No. 99 (Ob.).
Rev. A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.
Pen and pencil.
101. Ob. WHIST. Melbourne and the Queen playing whist against Peel and Wellington. Peel reproaches the Queen with having reveked, and Wellington asks to see the last trick.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9 \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 590.
On May 7th, 1839, the Whig Ministry resigned. The Queen sent for Peel, but insisted on retaining the ladies of the household, most of whom were near relatives of the Whig ministers. Peel objected, the negotiation fell to the ground, and Melbourne returned to power.
Rev. THE SOMNAMBULIST. Lord Glenelg holding a candle and walking out of the Colonial Office in his sleep.
Black chalk.
Political sketches, No. 575.
See above, note to No. 93.
102. A SCENE FROM THE FARCE OF 'THE INVINCIBLES.' The ladies of the household, cheered on by the Queen, putting Wellington and Peel to rout at the point of the bayonet.
Black chalk and pen; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 591.

103. THE THIMBLE RIO. Melbourne, surrounded by ministers and ladies of the household, performing the thimble trick, by which he has just cheated Peel and Wellington out of a sovereign.
Black chalk and pen; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{8} \times 15\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 593.
104. Ob. ANOTHER SCENE FROM DON GIOVANNI. Don Giovanni (Melbourne) vainly trying to wrest his hand from the grasp of the Commendatore (Brougham).
Black chalk; roy.,  $9 \times 11\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 594.
Brougham made a violent and powerful attack on Melbourne in the House of Lords for the part played by the Government in the affair of the ladies of the household.
Rev. A LADY ON HORSEBACK.
Black chalk.
105. GULLIVER AND HIS NURSE. Gulliver (Melbourne) floundering in the cow-dung (the Jamaica question); his nurse (Wellington) stoops to rescue him. The Queen looks on, r., in great concern.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 595.
The Jamaica question was that which brought about the resignation of the Whigs.
106. Ob. CHILD'S PLAY. The ladies of the household making a ring round the Queen, and crying, 'Can't get out!'
Pencil and red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Rev. THALBERG AT THE PIANO. With other figures looking on.
See above, No. 72 (Rev.).
Pencil.
107. CURIOUS INSTANCE OF (MINISTERIAL) RESUSCITATION. Melbourne lying in bed, with the ladies of the household attending on him, and the Queen offering him smelling salts. Study for part of the lithographed composition.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 599.
108. Ob. A NEW VERSION OF 'CAN'T GET OUT.' A ring of Tory leaders, including Peel, Goulburn, Sir R. Inglis, Sir James Graham, and Lord Ashley, surrounding Mr. Wyse.
Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 15$  in.
Rev. AN UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. The 'Radical' and the 'Old Tory' omnibuses.
Slight black chalk sketch.
109. A PRESSURE FROM WITHOUT. Mr. Spring-Rice on horseback, met by John Bull with a demand for Uniform Penny Postage.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $12 \times 10$  in.
Political sketches, No. 603.
Uniform Penny Postage was forced on the Government by public opinion, through the efforts of Rowland Hill, whose bill was brought in by Spring-Rice, July, 1839, and became law in 1840.
110. WHAT IN PARLIAMENTARY PHRASE MAY BE TERMED 'A PAIR.' Mr. Disraeli, seen from behind, and Sir E. Bulwer-Lytton.
Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 6$  in.
Political sketches, No. 604.
Disraeli had been in Parliament since 1837, and was already looked on as likely to rise high; Bulwer-Lytton, who entered Parliament six years earlier, had made less mark in politics than in literature; the two were close friends and rival fops.

111. MEN OF FEELING. Mr. Spring-Rice, Chancellor of the Exchequer, handing the Whig ministers their quarterly cheques; Melbourne saying that 'Men of feeling could not desert their sovereign under such circumstances,' and the others heartily assenting.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 606.
112. SYMPTOMS OF INSUBORDINATION. Melbourne as a boy in a temper reproved by his nurse (Wellington); Peel carrying Lord J. Russell in his arms l., Brougham and Lyndhurst looking on r.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 607.
113. THE FALL OF ACHILLES. Achilles (Wellington) following Polyxena and the priest of Minerva (the Queen and Melbourne) into the temple, while Paris (Lord John Russell) aims a dart at his vulnerable heel. Above, a sketch of Brougham.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 609.
114. THE ROAD TO RUIN. The Queen and her ministers driving down hill, Russell and Spring-Rice as postillions, trying to restrain the horses (O'Connell, Whittle, Harvey, and Hume); the Queen and Melbourne a little alarmed at the pace.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 610.
115. PRACTISING FOR THE TOURNAMENT. Lords and Commons tilting at each other over the question of Ireland; at the r., Brougham riding at a ring, and Lord Londonderry at the dummy of Lord Durham. Without the figures of O'Connell and Russell, inserted in the lithograph.
Black chalk; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 16$  in.
Political sketches, No. 611.
A reference to the attack made by Brougham in the Lords on the Irish policy of the Government, on August 6th.
- Rev.* AN IRISH SUBJECT. The Queen and her principal Ministers on an Irish car, with Spring-Rice as driver. The horse (O'Connell) has just shied at the Bill for Renewal of the Bank of Ireland Charter, and greatly alarms the Queen and Russell.
Rough pencil sketch.
Political sketches, No. 608.
116. A TRIP TO DOVER. Wellington being driven to Dover, Sir Francis Burdett riding postillion, Lyndhurst sitting at the back, and Brougham hanging on behind.
Black chalk and pen; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 15\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 612.
On August 30 a great dinner was given at Dover to the Duke as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports. Brougham made a speech of exaggerated eulogy at the dinner.
117. ALTERED CIRCUMSTANCES OF MR. MANTALINI. Nicholas and Kate Nickleby (Melbourne and the Queen) coming upon Mr. and Mrs. Mantalini (Lord Normanby and O'Connell) busy mangling and quarrelling over their work.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $13 \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 616.
See above, note on No. 92.
Lord Normanby, after a brief occupation of the Colonial Office, exchanged posts with Lord John Russell and became Home Secretary.
118. DOING PENANCE IN A WHITE SHEET. Lord Londonderry doing penance in a sheet for his duel with Henry Grattan, who had made an absurd charge against the Tories. Peel and Wellington (who had formerly countenanced duelling themselves) looking on, l.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 617.

119. AN IRISH WAKE. Brougham lying in bed, pretending to be dead, Mr. Leader telling him to keep quiet, and the chief men of both parties engaged in a funeral wake.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 618.
In November of this year Brougham wrote a letter, purporting to be from someone else, describing his own death. For twenty-four hours this was believed.
120. Ob. FRIAR TUCK AND THE SACRISTAN. Friar Tuck (O'Connell) and the Sacristan (Melbourne) holding a 'devils' mass' on the supposed death of Athelstane (Brougham), who is pushing open the door.
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{4} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 619.
- Rev.* A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.
Black chalk.
121. A DISTINGUISHED TEETOTALIST. Sir John Campbell, the Attorney-General, who had declared at a public breakfast in Edinburgh that 'Chartism was extinct,' sipping tea and uncomfortably reflecting on the account in the morning's newspaper of the Chartist riots at Newport on November 3, headed by Frost.
Slight black chalk sketch; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 621.

[1840.]

122. POWER ON ITS LAST LEGS (Power in 'His Last Legs.') Prince Albert lying on his back on a sofa, one leg up in the air, Melbourne standing over him on a chair, and John Bull looking on in astonishment.
Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{8} \times 13\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 623.
On 16 January the Queen opened Parliament and announced her intended marriage with Prince Albert. 'His Last Legs' was a popular piece, in which Tyrone Power (b. 1797, d. 1841) was then acting.
123. THE SAME SUBJECT, but with the composition reversed.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  in.
124. BEAUTY AND THE BEAST. O'Connell, as a bear, kneeling before the Queen, who looks at him in horror, and offering 500,000 fighting Irishmen, to keep down the Tories.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 624.
125. Ob. A SHERIFF'S SALE; OR AUCTION EXTRAORDINARY. Lord John Russell knocking down the Law of Libel, Bill of Rights, etc., without reserve, Peel acting as his clerk, Melbourne carrying the bundle to be sold, and O'Connell applauding. Without the figures of other Whig leaders inserted in the lithograph.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $16\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 625.
This refers to what was called the Privilege Question. A Mr. Stockdale prosecuted Messrs. Hansard for a libel published in the Parliamentary Debates, and judgment was given for the prosecution. The House of Commons defended their printers, and committed the Sheriffs for levying damages on Hansard. In this matter Peel warmly supported Russell, though he afterwards acknowledged that he had gone too far.
- Rev.* PORTRAIT OF SIR ROBERT PEEL.
Pencil.
126. SCENE FROM FAUST, FREELY TRANSLATED. Faust (Peel) following Mephistopheles (Russell) up the Brocken, lured by the Will o' the Wisp Privilege.
Pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 626.

127. THE NEW LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION. Colonel Sibthorp, carrying in his hand his amendment reducing the vote to Prince Albert from £50,000 to £30,000 a year.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 627.
 Colonel Sibthorp was member for Lincoln, an eccentric and violent Tory; he proposed on Jan. 27 the amendment in question, which was carried against the Government.
128. Ob. MUSCIPULA. A parody of Reynolds' picture of a child showing a caged mouse to a cat; Russell is the child, Peel the cat, and the Sheriff of Middlesex the mouse.
 Pencil; roy.,  $15\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 629.
 See note to No. 125 (Ob.).
- Rev. THE LITTLE TRYING TO WALK IN THE STEPS OF THE GREAT. Lord John Russell trying to walk in the steps of Pitt, with other sketches, including one of Russell in hat and boots much too big for him.
 Pen and black chalk.
 Political sketches, No. 692.
129. Ob. TABLEAU FROM THE NEW PLAY OF MARY STUART. The Queen (as Mary) holding Melbourne's hand, as he kneels beside her, startled at the entry of Wellington in armour, holding a huge sword and followed by Peel and Lyndhurst.
 Slight pencil sketch; roy.,  $10\frac{7}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 630.
- Rev. A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.
 Pen and pencil.
130. Ob. COMUS AND THE LADY. The Queen surrounded by revellers, who offer wines and fruit: Melbourne, 'war'; O'Connell, 'repeal'; Muntz, 'Chartism,' etc. Wellington and Peel (as the Lady's brothers) come to the rescue l.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 16$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 632.
- Rev. LORD NUGENT ON HORSEBACK.
 Pen and pencil.
131. Ob. THE OMNIBUS RACE. The Tory coach, with John Bull inside, leaving the Whigs, with the Queen and Prince Consort, in spite of the furious whipping of the horses (Morpeth and Russell) by O'Connell.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 15\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 633.
- Rev. THE BEGGAR'S PETITION. O'Connell as an Irishwoman, carrying a baby, and with a number of starving children in his train, presenting a Beggar's Petition to Lord Morpeth, who drops his Bill for the Suppression of Mendicancy in Ireland in horror; Shiel, the second great Irish agitator, squats at O'Connell's feet.
 Pencil and pen.
 Political sketches, No. 631.
132. Ob. CUPID TAMING THE ELEMENTS; AFTER WEST. Palmerston as Cupid, driving a chariot drawn by the lion and the unicorn, among the astonished Powers. Russia laughs, but China is horrified.
 Pencil; roy.,  $11 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 634.
 Lord Palmerston's confident and daring foreign policy, over which his colleagues exercised no control, was now beginning to be conspicuous. England had been plunged into hostility with China over the opium question, in 1839, and the war was now progressing.
- Rev. PRINCE LOUIS NAPOLEON ON HORSEBACK.
 Pencil.

133. Ob. AFOLLO AND THE TUNEFUL NINE. A frieze, with O'Connell in the centre as Apollo, and the Whig ministers on either side as the Muses. Inscribed below, A bas relief, modern antique, in rather a dilapidated condition.
Pencil; roy., 10 × 15½ in.
Political sketches, No. 636.
- Rev.* CHINESE JUGGLERS. Sir James Graham pulling yards of paper out of Palmerston's mouth. The figure of John Bull, introduced in the lithograph, is absent.
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 637.
On April 7 Sir James Graham moved a vote of censure on ministers for the policy which had led to war with China. Palmerston produced in justification a long series of papers on China.
134. Ob. THE 'DILLY' LOOKING UP. The Tory coach, driven by Stanley, and carrying Peel and his followers, waiting to start. Mr. Wood and Lord Howick, arriving late, are told by Sir F. Burdett, who holds the horses, to get up behind, as there is no room in front, much to their disgust.
Pen and pencil; roy., 10¼ × 15½ in.
Political sketches, No. 642.
Lord Howick, son of Earl Grey, and Charles Wood, afterwards Lord Halifax, seceded from the Government on the Irish Registration Bill, and were supposed to be inclined to enter the Conservative ranks for good.
- Rev.* VACATION AMUSEMENTS: SWING SWONG. Lord Howick swinging Mr. Wood on a swing slung between the trees of Conservatism and Radicalism.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 652.
135. Ob. A BRUMMAGEM M.P. Two portraits of Mr. G. F. Muntz, a burly figure with a great black beard, elected member for Birmingham May, 1840, and prominent among the extreme Radicals.
Pencil and pen over pencil; roy., 15½ × 10½ in.
Political sketches, No. 643.
- Rev.* VACATION AMUSEMENTS: PHEASANT SHOOTING. Normanby and Melbourne about to shoot a pair of pheasants (the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort).
Rough pen sketch.
Political sketches, No. 651.
The Duke of Beaufort was offered the post of Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and the Duchess that of Mistress of the Robes.
136. Ob. NEW GAME OF SNAP-APPLE. Lord Grey looking over a wall, and holding in a string an apple (Lord Howick and Mr. Wood), which Russell and Morpeth, Stanley and Graham, are biting at alternately; O'Connell and Peel (very roughly indicated) looking on.
Pencil; roy., 15½ × 10½ in.
Political sketches, No. 646.
See above, note on No. 134 (Ob.).
- Rev.* TAM O' SHANTER. Tam (Lord John Russell) mounted on Meg (O'Connell), who springs across the bridge, leaving her tail in the hands of the witch (Lord Stanley).
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 644.
Lord Stanley's Irish Registration Bill was carried against the Government, and made great progress, but was eventually abandoned by Lord Stanley.
137. CHES; A PERPETUAL CHECK—GAME DRAWN. Stanley and Russell playing chess; Stanley, after perpetually checking his opponent, is unable to win, and challenges him to another game (next session). Peel and Sir James Graham and another figure, not in the lithograph, look on.
Rough pencil sketch; roy., 10¼ × 15½ in.
Political sketches, No. 647.
- Rev.* ROBINSON CRUSOE AND HIS MAN FRIDAY. Crusoe (Lord Howick) telling Friday (Mr. Wood) to follow him. With a sketch of a gentleman driving.
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 641.

138. Ob. THE SHUTTLECOCK MINISTRY. O'Connell and Peel playing battledore and shuttlecock with the Whig Ministry.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 14\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Rev. THE MARQUIS OF ANGLESEA ON HORSEBACK.
Pen and pencil.

139. Ob. BREAKING UP FOR THE VACATION. Queen Victoria saying good-bye to her ministers as they leave for the holidays on the coach, which O'Connell drives; Wellington as an old housekeeper standing behind the Queen, and Brougham holding out his hat by the door; Howick and Wood look sulkily on.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 650.

Rev. PLAYING AT NINE PINS. Sir James Graham and Lord Stanley playing at nine pins; Graham has just knocked over Palmerston with his China resolutions; Stanley has his Irish Registration Bill ready to bowl at Russell. Stanley's figure is sketched in twice; and above is a sketch for 'Vacation Amusements, No. 4.'
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 635.

140. Ob. VACATION AMUSEMENTS, No. 3; CRICKET, A LONG INNINGS. A game of cricket; Morpeth and Russell in, the Tories fielding, Wellington and O'Connell umpires. Stanley is bowling, and Morpeth about to bat.
Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 653.

Rev. THE DUKE OF NEWCASTLE RIDING. With a small sketch of the Earl of Wilton, also on horseback.
Pencil.

141. Ob. VACATION AMUSEMENTS, No. 4; CULTIVATING THE FINE ARTS. Melbourne and the Queen drawing, and Prince Albert painting. Mr. (afterwards Sir George) Hayter stands over Melbourne, who is drawing a portrait of John Bull. The Queen remarks that 'he is a good subject, if well treated.'
Pencil and pen; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 654.

Rev. DESIGN FOR THE NEW POSTAL ENVELOPES. A parody of the design on Mulready's well-known envelope, representing Britannia scattering letters over either hemisphere; Palmerston is substituted for Britannia; Wellington and Peel are introduced r., and at the l. Spring-Rice's secretary reading out to him the Post Office deficiency for the year.

Pen and pencil.

A design by Mulready appeared on the first penny postal envelope issued by Rowland Hill in 1840. There were many caricatures of it besides this by H. B.; the best known, by Leech, appeared in Punch.

142. Ob. VACATION AMUSEMENTS, No. 5; ANGLING. Palmerston and Russell fishing in Conservative waters, without getting a bite; Peel and Wellington look on from the further bank.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 655.

Rev. THE QUEEN AND PRINCE CONSORT, in an open carriage and pair; the Prince driving.

143. Ob. DIVES AND LAZARUS. The Bishop of London (Blomfield) and Archbishop of Canterbury dining together, and sending a servant down to Sydney Smith, who receives the crumbs brought him in his lap.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $13 \times 9\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Rev. A GENTLEMAN RIDING. With a slight sketch for No. 142 (Rev.).
Pencil.

144. Ob. NEWEST EDITION OF DAME PARTINGTON AND HER MOP. Lord Ebrington, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, as Dame Partington, vainly struggling to drive back with a mop the wave of O'Connell's agitation for Repeal.
Pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. LORD CARDIGAN ON HORSEBACK.
Pencil.

145. Ob. A JOCUATOR; OR TEACHER OF WONDERFUL ANIMALS. Palmerston piping and playing on a drum inscribed Treaty of July, 1840, while the Russian bear stands on his head, the Gallic cock struts on stilts, and two dogs (Austria and Prussia) dance on their hind legs.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 658.
The Treaty of July 15th, 1840, signed by England, Russia, Austria and Prussia, was intended to settle the affairs of the East by compelling the Pasha of Egypt to relinquish Syria. France had refused to follow the policy adopted under Palmerston's leadership by the four Powers; and the treaty was signed without her knowledge.

Rev. A PAIR OF 'WOOD'-BE CONSERVATIVES. Lord Howick and Mr. Charles Wood. See above, note on No. 134 (Ob.)
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 638.

146. Ob. GUY FAWKES. O'Connell as Fawkes, discovered by Stanley and Peel.
Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $10 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 660.

Rev. PANDORA. Palmerston as Pandora letting out War from her box.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 661.

Palmerston's Eastern policy threatened to bring England into war with France, but was persisted in by that minister with entire disregard of opinion and of the apprehensions of his colleagues. Success soon justified his confidence.

147. Ob. STUDY FOR THE LAST SUBJECT, ETC. With two portrait studies (one in full face, one in profile) of Liszt at the piano; and a slight sketch for the Great Moth (Political sketches, No. 645), representing Sir Frederick Trench allured by the Bude Light (patented 1839-41).
Pencil; roy.,  $16\frac{3}{4} \times 14$  in.

Rev. LORD DUNCANON ON HORSEBACK.
Pencil and pen.

148. Ob. POLITICAL SHOW-BOX. O'Connell picking John Bull's pocket while his attention is engaged in looking at the British successes in Syria and China, shown him in a peep-show by Palmerston. Melbourne as policeman walks away in the Queen's train, paying no attention. (In the lithograph Normanby is introduced with Melbourne.)
Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 662.

Rev. THE WANDERING MINSTREL, OR A SOLO ON THE UNION PIPES. Lord Ebrington playing the bag-pipes, with Lord Morpeth holding the hat by his side to a group of boys (including the Recorder of Dublin, Mr. Shaw), while O'Connell from a window shouts to him to go away.

Also, a sketch for 'The Three Secretaries' (Political sketches, No. 693): Palmerston 'Sticking Plaister,' Russell 'Corn Plaister,' and Normanby 'Court Plaister.'

Pencil, and pen over pencil.
Political sketches, No. 664.

149. Ob. A NEW ILLUSTRATION OF THE FABLE OF THE BULL AND THE FROG. The French Frog demanding an explanation from the English Bull for his insulting size; the Russian bear looking on and whispering with the Austrian and Prussian eagles. Modified and reversed in the lithograph.

Pencil; roy., 10 × 13 in.
Political sketches, No. 665.

Rev. ST. GEORGE AND THE DRAGON. Stanley, as St. George, mounted and about to strike the already wounded dragon (O'Connell) with his sword. In a medallion.

Pencil.
An allusion to Stanley's Irish Registration Bill.

150. A BROWN (BRUEN) STUDY. O'Connell sitting in gloomy contemplation of the news of Colonel Bruen's election for Carlow.

Pencil; roy., 10½ × 14½ in.
Political sketches, No. 666.

Rev. THE NEW PASHA OF EGYPT. Palmerston as a turbaned Pasha on an Arab horse, under a palm-tree, attended by Lord Ponsoby.

Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 663.
Ponsoby, the English ambassador at Constantinople, had powerfully seconded Palmerston's policy, which ended in the bombardment and capture of Beyrout, and the deposition of the Pasha, Mahomet Ali.

151. Ob. THE TAKING OF CHUSAN. The Conservative leaders in a man-of-war's boat, with Wellington standing up in the bows, approaching a fort, over the wall of which Melbourne, dressed as a Chinaman, hangs a board inscribed Spare us for the sake of our women.

Pen and pencil; roy., 9½ × 15¼ in.

Rev. UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. Three lawyers consulting together.

Pencil.

152. Ob. THE WAITS. The Conservative chiefs, Peel, Wellington, Stanley, Lyndhurst, and Graham, muffled up and patiently playing their various instruments in the cold.

Pen and pencil; roy., 10½ × 13¼ in.
Political sketches, No. 668.

Rev. THE EARL OF WILTON ON HORSEBACK.

Pen and pencil.

[1841.]

153. Ob. THE PROCESSION OF THE FLITCH OF BACON. A parody of the picture by Stothard. The procession moves l.; Duncannon, Morpeth, Brougham, and Sir F. Burdett playing instruments in front; then Lord Cottenham, the Lord Chancellor, on horseback, carrying the flitch; next, two women scattering flowers before the Queen and Prince Consort, who ride together on the same horse, attended on each side by Wellington and Palmerston, and followed by Melbourne. The composition as lithographed is completed by the sketch described below, No. 154 (Ob.).

Pen and pencil; roy., 9½ × 15½ in.

Rev. THE DUKE OF BEAUFORT ON HORSEBACK.

Pencil.

154. Ob. THE PROCESSION OF THE FLITCH OF BACON. The rest of the composition just described. Following the Queen and Prince ride Russell, the Duchess of Kent and Stanley, and the Duke of Sussex on foot; the Archbishop of Canterbury lightly indicated beyond, and Howick and Wood looking down from a garden wall.

Rough pencil sketch; roy., 10½ × 14½ in.
Political sketches, Nos. 669 and 670.

Rev. START FOR THE GREAT WESTMINSTER TRIAL STAKES. Lord Granville Somerset riding Stanley, and Russell riding Morpeth, about to start on their race; O'Connell cracks his whip at Morpeth; Mr. Tennant stands by Stanley's head, and Lord George Bentinck by him.

Pencil.

Political sketches, No. 671.

The early part of this session was occupied by the contest between the rival Irish Registration Bills of Stanley and Morpeth.

155. Ob. CRIMINAL IN CUSTODY. QUERY, 'WHICH BE THE MALEFACTOR?' Lord Cardigan, preceded by Black Red, going to his trial before the House of Lords for his duel with Captain Tuckett; Wellington, Winchelsea, Peel, Londonderry, and other peers who had fought duels themselves are looking on.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. NICHOLAS NICKLEBY'S INTRODUCTION TO SQUEERS. Peel (Nickleby) asking Brougham (Squeers) if he had not advertised for an assistant; Morpeth and Russell as two small boys sitting disconsolate on a box.

Pencil.

Political sketches, No. 672.

156. Ob. A NEW TALE (TAIL) OF A TUB: THE CLIMAX—A KNOTTY POINT. Taken from an illustrated poem founded on a ludicrous Indian adventure. O'Connell as a tiger caught in a barrel, with his tail coming through the bung-hole, and assailed with a brick by Lord Stanley and two bottles by Lord Granville Somerset.

The tub represents the Irish Registration Bill.

Pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. LORD PALMERSTON ON HORSEBACK.

Pen and pencil.

157. Ob. CICERO IN CATILINAM. Peel in the House of Commons denouncing O'Connell, who sits with Morpeth and Russell in the Front Bench.

Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $10\frac{5}{8} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Rev. MELBOURNE ON HORSEBACK.

Pencil.

158. Ob. SCENE FROM 'THE HYPOCRITE.' Morpeth as Maw-Worm pointing to O'Connell (Dr. Cantwell) as a saint; Lord Ebrington (Old Lady Lambert) looking on. A scene from Isaac Bickerstaffe's adaptation of Molière's 'Tartuffe.'

Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 678.

Rev. A PERAMBULATORY ADVERTISEMENT. Peel and Stanley attracted by the advertisement of 'w(h)igs on improved principles' on a cart driven by Lord Hewick and Charles Wood. Inscribed as in the lithograph.

Pen and pencil.

Political sketches, No. 682.

Lord Hewick and Mr. Wood were at this time detached from the Whigs (see above, note to No. 134, Ob.), and Peel was thought to be making overtures to them on the part of the Tories.

159. Ob. AN AGRICULTURAL SUBJECT. Russell and Morpeth ploughing up the constitution, and O'Connell sowing sedition.

Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $9 \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 679.

Political sketches, No. 681.
162. STEERING BETWEEN SCYLLA AND CHARYBDIS. Lord Howick and Mr. Wood steering nervously between the Scylla of Radicalism and the Charybdis of Conservatism.
Pen over pencil; roy., 7½ × 9 in.
Political sketches, No. 685.
163. A SCENE FROM 'DER FREISCHUTZ.' Melbourne as Casper, surrounded by the skulls of lost measures, asking a respite from Zamiel (O'Connell), and promising new sacrifices, but in vain.
Pen and pencil; roy., 9¾ × 14 in.
Political sketches, No. 686.
164. Ob. AN UNHAPPY ANGLER FISHING FOR A BUDGET. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir F. T. Baring, in a punt, fishing the Tory preserves; John Bull on the bank warning him off. Inscribed as in the lithograph.
Black chalk and pencil; roy., 9½ × 15½ in.
Political sketches, No. 687.
The Budget was introduced April 30th; but the ministers were unable to carry it, and their defeat led directly to their final fall.
Rev. SCENE FROM BOMBASTES FURIOSO. Mr. Robert Gordon as Bombastes, hanging his boots (Sugar Duties and Corn Laws) to the tree in defiance.
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 683.
Reduction of the Sugar Duties and of the Duties on Corn was proposed by the Government. Gordon, Secretary to the Treasury, resigned May 2, on account of the latter proposal.
165. A GOOD MAN STRUGGLING WITH DIFFICULTIES. Sir F. T. Baring, Chancellor of the Exchequer, sitting between Macaulay and More O'Ferral, one with the Army and the other with the Navy Estimates in his hand.
Black chalk and pen; roy., 8½ × 10½ in.
Political sketches, No. 691.
166. Ob. A PIT-IABLE SITUATION. Russell and Merpeth crouching under the statue of Pitt, and Peel as a policeman coming to drive them from their shelter. With a slight pencil sketch for the next subject.
Pen; roy., 16 × 11 in.
Rev. DON QUIXOTE ATTACKING THE WINDMILL. Thiers (Don Quixote) attacking the windmill (Palmerston's Treaty of July, 1840); Louis Philippe (Sancho Panza) looking on in dismay.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 659.
167. ANOTHER CURTIUS; A PICTURESQUE FINALE. Lord John Russell leaping on horseback into the abyss of the Corn Laws; the Whig ministers looking on in consternation.
Pen and pencil; roy., 8¾ × 14½ in.
Political sketches, No. 697.
The elections gave the Conservatives a majority of over eighty.

168. ILLUSTRATION OF THE DOG IN THE MANGER. Melbourne as the dog, Peel as the ox, John Bull looking over a partition. Modified in the lithograph.
Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 702.
169. Ob. STUDY FOR THE SAME SUBJECT.
Rev. BARNABY RUDGE AND HIS RAVEN. O'Connell and John Russell.
Rough pencil study.

170. Ob. BEGINNING IN GOOD OLD ENGLISH STYLE. Peel and Russell shaking hands before their boxing-match on the question of the Corn Laws; Melbourne and Palmerston despondently backing Russell l.; John Bull and Wellington r.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Rev. TWO SUBJECTS ON ONE SHEET. A PAIR OF LONG-HEADED FELLOWS, Peel and Wellington; and THE FOX AND THE CROW. Russell, the fox, persuading Peel, the crow, by taunts to open his mouth and declare his Corn-Law policy.
Pen and pencil; and pencil.
Political sketches, Nos. 704 and 706.
Russell advocated a fixed duty, Peel a sliding scale.
171. THE FOX AND THE CROW.
Rough pencil study; roy.,  $11\frac{5}{8} \times 6\frac{5}{8}$  in.
172. Ob. A PAIR OF SAD DOGS. Melbourne and Russell arm-in-arm, jeered at by a butcher's boy, who cries, 'Does your mother know you're out?'
Pen; roy.,  $10 \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 707.
Rev. UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. The English Bull led by the nose by Peel (?).
Rough pen sketch.
173. A SOLILOQUY. Melbourne meditating on the cleverness of the 'boy Jones,' who had found his way a third time into the Palace, and wishing he knew the secret. Inscribed as in the lithograph.
Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 708.
On 15 March a boy called Jones got into Buckingham Palace at night for the third time.
174. SIMPLE ARITHMETIC. Peel, as a schoolmaster, asking Melbourne and Russell to add one to ninety. They appear puzzled, and Brougham, looking in at the door, smiles at the slowness of his old pupils. Inscribed as in the lithograph.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  ins.
Political sketches, No. 709.
The Whig Government was defeated on the address in the Commons by a majority of 91, and at last resigned.
175. A NEW READING OF THE POLITICAL PHRASE FINALITY. Peel putting a Conservative extinguisher on the dying candle of Whiggery.
Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 710.
Russell had been nicknamed 'Finality Jack' on account of a speech made in November, 1837, in which he said he could advocate no further measures in electoral reform.
176. NEW OMNIBUS. John Bull getting into the Conservative omnibus, Wellington, as conductor, helping him in, and Mr. Wakley, as crossing-sweeper, holding his hat for a penny; Russell, as a rival conductor, trying to dissuade John Bull from getting in.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 711.

177. Ob. A GREAT DIPLOMATIST DISCOVERING A NEW-MARKET FOR HIS TALENTS. Palmerston at Newmarket giving instructions to John Day, the jockey, to force the pace and tire out the rival horses.

Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $11\frac{7}{8} \times 15$  in.

Rev. TWO SKETCHES ON ONE SHEET. (a) RACE BETWEEN THE HARE AND THE TONTOISE. Peel, the tortoise, arriving at Free Trade before Russell, the hare.
Pen and ink.

(b) A PROBLEM NOT TO BE FOUND IN EUCLID. The Bishop of Exeter (H. Phillpotts) revolving the chances of his being moved to L[ondon] if L[ondon] moves to C[anterbury]. At the time when this was published (1843) Howley was Archbishop of Canterbury, Blomfield Bishop of London. Howley was succeeded by Sumner, and Phillpotts died Bishop of Exeter.

Black chalk.

Political sketches, Nos. 765 and 766.

178. A CAUTIOUS GAME. Peel and Wellington playing Melbourne and Russell at whist. Peel complains that Russell looks into his hand, and Wellington asks them all to talk less and act more. Inscribed as in the lithograph, in which the composition is reversed.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 713.

Peel had not yet declared his policy on the Corn Laws, and each party was watching the other carefully.

179. EXCHEQUER BILL AFFAIR; A DARK TRANSACTION. Lord Monteagle (Spring-Rice) standing by a window and examining his own signature on a bill. The Chancellor of the Exchequer (Goulburn), sitting in his chair, offers a candle, as the weather is foggy, but Monteagle prefers daylight. The clerk who brings the bills is removed in the lithograph to the background.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{5}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 715.

This refers to a great forgery of Exchequer bills, through which the Treasury lost large sums. Lord Monteagle was Controller of the Exchequer at the time.

[1842.]

180. BREAKING-UP OF THE ICE: A SAD DISASTER. Morpeth disappearing through the ice, in spite of O'Connell's efforts to rescue him.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 716.

Morpeth, who had been rejected by the West Riding of Yorkshire at the General Election, July, 1841, was nominated in his absence for Dublin, January, 1842, but defeated in spite of O'Connell's support.

181. Ob. A CABINET PUDDING. Melbourne and Palmerston looking on Peel and his followers, who are about to cut up their cabinet pudding; Wellington asks them to join.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Rev. A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.

Pencil.

182. A SUICIDAL PLUNGE. Russell plunging into a pond (a motion for correspondence regarding recent appointments of judges in Scotland and Ireland.)

Black chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 718.

On Feb. 10, Lord John Russell made an attack on two judges, and 'exposed himself miserably and unaccountably' (Greville).

183. Ob. LATE ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE. Peel and Graham bringing Russell up before Alderman Lawrie, charged with suicide; the magistrate thinks it is a case for the treadmill; Mr. Wakley protests.
Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Rev. A NEW READING OF THE POLITICAL PHRASE FINALITY. Described above, No. 175. This sketch is in reverse.
Pencil.
184. Ob. THROWING THE LASSO. Peel catching the Duke of Buckingham with the ribbon of the Garter.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 14\frac{5}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 720.
The Duke of Buckingham was Lord Privy Seal in Peel's Cabinet, but resigned in February, when Peel proposed to deal with the Corn Laws. In April he was made a Knight of the Garter.
Rev. REVIVAL OF THE GOOD OLD CONSTITUTIONAL PRACTICE OF BURNING A PRIME MINISTER IN EFFIGY. Melbourne, Russell, and the other Whig leaders, cheered on by O'Connell, carrying Peel's effigy to a bonfire.
Rough pen and pencil sketch.
Political sketches, No. 721.
Peel's modification of the Corn Law, establishing a sliding scale of duties, was introduced by him in February. The Opposition derided him for adopting their own measures.
185. Ob. AN M.P. OF RATHER LOOSE HABITS. Profile portrait of the Earl of Euston, in loose and shabby dress, walking l. (Also a rough pen sketch for 'Cutting the Gordian Knot,' described below, No. 187.)
Pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Rev. A GENTLEMAN ON HORSEBACK.
Pencil.
186. GOOD TRAINING. Peel training Mr. Leader, Sir R. Inglis and Mr. Muntz to sit up on their hind legs and beg for information. O'Connell sulks in a corner.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 724.
At the opening of the session, Radical members were urgent to know how the Government proposed to relieve the prevalent distress. Peel was at first extremely cautious and reserved in his replies.
187. Ob. CUTTING THE GORDIAN KNOT. Peel, as Alexander, cutting the knot which the Whigs had failed to untie. Melbourne, Russell, and Francis Baring look on with astonishment.
Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $10\frac{5}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 726.
For several years past the Budget had shown a deficiency, which the Whigs had been unable to remove. Peel determined to impose an income tax and thus achieve a surplus.
Rev. THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE ON HORSEBACK.
Pencil.
188. A BITTER DRAUGHT. John Bull in a big chair pulling a wry face at having to drink the bitter medicine (income-tax) prepared for him by Peel and Wellington.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 727.
189. EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF NIGHTMARE. Francis Baring, the late Chancellor of the Exchequer, sleeping in bed; Peel as a goblin with a great bag of gold sitting on his chest, and a number of asses braying round.
Rough pen and black chalk sketch; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 728.
The objection to the income-tax, raised by the Opposition, was that foreign countries would suppose the resources of England to be exhausted.

190. Ob. A KNOCK-DOWN BLOW. Peel knocking Russell over with a volume of Hansard, while Baring comes to Russell's support. Palmerston is added in the lithograph.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 729.
 Russell quoted from Hansard former speeches of Peel's against the income-tax. Peel vindicated his consistency with vigour and success.
- Rev.* STUDY FOR THE SAME SUBJECT.
 Pencil.
191. JASON SOWING THE DRAGON'S TEETH. Peel sowing his new financial proposals and raising the armed Opposition. The figures of the latter do not appear in this study.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 730.
192. Ob. A SUGGESTED TRANSFORMATION, OR, REFORM OF THE REFORMED HOUSE. Mr. Roebuck in the Speaker's chair, with the Speaker below him, and Peel asking questions. A rough study for the subject treated differently in the lithograph. (See below, No. 193.) Also a portrait of a gentleman on horseback.
 Pen and black chalk; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 18\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 732.
- Rev.* THE FROGS AND KING STORK. Peel as King Stork coming to reign over the frogs (Radicals) in place of Russell (King Log), about to devour Mr. Roebuck, and with an eye on Mr. Wakley. Also a pen and pencil portrait of the Duke of Wellington on horseback.
 Rough pen sketch.
 Political sketches, No. 731.
193. A SUGGESTED TRANSFORMATION. As lithographed; Roebuck as 'Interrogator' walking into the House; the Speaker (Shaw-Lefevre) holding up his train, and Russell and Peel following.
 Rough black chalk sketch; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 14\frac{5}{8}$  in.
194. THE POLITICAL McADAM. Peel breaking stones (the various political parties) with the hammer of his new tariff; Stanley and Graham stand by, having nothing left to do.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 733.
 Peel's financial measure, especially the tariff, was well received by all parties, and made the way smooth for the Government.
195. A SLIGHT SKETCH OF A TRULY NOBLE SUBJECT. Profile portrait of Lord Ashley (afterwards seventh Earl of Shaftesbury), carrying in his hand his Mines Bill, passed in 1842, which abolished the system of apprenticeship and other abuses in mines.
 Pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 735.
196. Ob. ACIS AND GALATEA. Peel as Acis, singing to Galatea (Wellington), while Polyphemus (John Bull) prepares to hurl a huge stone (hatred of the income-tax) on Peel's head.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 736.
- Rev.* CURIOUS SIGN OF 'THE TIMES'; OR, THE NEW PARLIAMENTARY CRIMINAL VAN. Roebuck driving and Peel guarding a prisoners' van.
 Pencil.
 Political sketches, No. 734.
 At the General Election of 1841 some scandalous cases of bribery occurred, and facts beginning to come out next year, Mr. Roebuck roused an agitation in Parliament, which led to a Bill being passed.

197. Ob. MERCURY HAVING LULLED ARGUS TO SLEEP, CARRIES OFF THE BEAUTIFUL MILCH COW Io. Peel lulling John Bull with the music of his new tariff, carries off the income-tax.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $13 \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 737.
 The country was reconciled in a great measure to the income-tax through the new tariff, by which the duties on 750 out of 1,200 articles were reduced.
- Rev.* PORTRAIT OF SIR ROBERT PEEL. Head, in full face, looking a little r.
 Black chalk.
198. Ob. CONSOLATIONS OF TRAVEL. Lord Morpeth driving the 'Now England' omnibus.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 738.
 After his defeat at the General Election, Lord Morpeth spent a year in North America and Canada.
- Rev.* THE SAME SUBJECT.
 Pen and pencil.
199. Ob. THE SAME SUBJECT.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- Rev.* THE CONFESSIONAL. Sir J. C. Hobhouse and Mr. Duncombe kneeling and confessing to Mr. Roebuck. In the lithograph Mr. Walten is introduced, and Mr. Duncombe is standing up.
 Pencil, unfinished.
 Political sketches, No. 739.
 Owing to the disclosures of bribery and corruption at the election, Mr. Roebuck moved for and obtained a committee of investigation, which conducted its inquiry with closed doors.
200. A SCENE FROM SECOND PART OF HENRY IV. Blomfield, Bishop of London, visiting Howley, the aged Archbishop of Canterbury, who reclines on a couch. In the lithograph Blomfield uses Prince Hal's words to his father, I never thought to hear you speak again, and Howley answers, Thy wish, 'Charles James,' was father to that thought, etc.
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 742.
 See note to No. 177 (Rev.) (b).
201. A PLEASANT SITUATION. Peel between the Protectionist lion and the Anti-Corn Law crocodile—the agricultural and the manufacturing interests, neither of which his sliding-scale had satisfied.
 Pencil and pen; roy.,  $8 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 746.
202. CURIOUS INS AND OUTS; OR, THE DISPUTED THUNDER. The Government cart driven by Peel, with Graham blowing a trumpet, and Stanley pointing to a placard announcing Peace to China and Re-conquest of Afghanistan; the Liberals drive up in their donkey cart, and Palmerston claims the Tory thunder.
 Rough pen sketch; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 752.
 Palmerston and his friends endeavoured to show that the credit of the Chinese and Indian successes were due entirely to Palmerston.

[1843.]

203. THE MODERN SAMSON CARRYING OFF THE GATES (OF SOMNAUTH!). Lord Ellenborough with the Somnauth gates on his back. (Half of the lower part of the design, containing in the lithograph a group of astonished Hindus, has been cut off.)
 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 754.
 In 1839 a British army invaded Afghanistan, and a force was left behind in Cabul, which in 1841 was entirely destroyed while endeavouring to retreat towards India. Lord Ellenborough arrived as the new Governor-General of India in February, 1842, and during the year Afghanistan was again conquered; whereupon Lord Ellenborough issued a bombastic proclamation, glorying in the recovery of the gates of the Temple of Somnauth from the Afghans—a proclamation which exasperated the Mahommedans.

204. Ob. A TOUCHING VIEW OF SOME OF THE INS AND OUTS OF THIS WORLD. Palmerston, Melbourne, Morpeth, and Russell hungrily standing by an eating-house, inside which Peel is serving out helpings of soup to Aberdeen. With a small sketch for the next subject (No. 205).
Pen and pencil; roy. (irregularly cut),  $12\frac{5}{8} \times 15\frac{5}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 755.
- Rev.* THE MODERN SAMSON CARRYING OFF THE GATES.
Pen and pencil.
205. BELLEROPHON IN DANGER. Peel, as Bellerophon on Pegasus, soaring to the sun, when Jupiter (John Bull) sends an insect (opposition to the income-tax) to sting the horse and overthrow the rider. The design is reversed in the lithograph.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy.,  $10 \times 13$  in.
206. Ob. BELLEROPHON IN DANGER. As lithographed.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy.,  $9 \times 11$  in.
- Rev.* AWFUL SCENE FROM TOM THUMB. The King of Hanover throwing a pillow at the ghost of the Constitution.
Pencil and black chalk.
Political sketches, No. 498.
The first act of the Duke of Cumberland, on his accession to the throne of Hanover, was to suspend the Constitution granted it in 1833.
207. NEW VERSION OF THE TWO KINGS OF BRENTFORD SMELLING AT ONE ROSE. Lord Brougham holding up an olive branch, which the Queen and Louis Philippe are smelling.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 759.
Lord Brougham, in the debate on the address, had said, 'I hold up the olive branch to France and England.'
208. THE SAME SUBJECT.
209. THE SAME SUBJECT; STUDY FOR THE FIGURE OF LORD BROUGHAM.
Pencil; roy. (torn at l. side),  $10 \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
210. CUTTER FOR SALE. Stanley pointing out to Peel and Wellington a cutter, with a broom at the masthead and Brougham's face as figure-head, for sale on easy terms.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 767.
Brougham was now on the worst of terms with his old friends, and unceasing in his flattery of Wellington and praise of Peel.
211. CUTTER FOR SALE. Slight sketch, in reverse; without Stanley's figure.
Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{5}{8}$  in.
212. A SONG OF TRIUMPH. Wellington, Peel, and other ministers leading Lord Ellenborough in triumph, Brougham playing a double pipe in front; a parody of Rubens' Triumph of Silenus, in Sir Robert Peel's Collection, now in the National Gallery.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 768.
Ellenborough was successfully vindicated by ministers in Parliament. Wellington defended him with particular ability.

213. A SWEEPING INSINUATION. Wellington sweeping the road for Palmerston, who passes by with a jaunty air, and complaining of the dirt which Palmerston has left him to clear away.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy., 10 × 12½ in.
Political sketches, No. 769.
214. CUPID BLOWING BUBBLES. Palmerston as Cupid blowing bubbles from the Opposition suds.
Black chalk on drab paper, heightened with white; roy., 10¾ × 12¾ in.
Political sketches, No. 770.
Palmerston vehemently attacked the foreign policy of the Government, especially Lord Ellenborough's conduct in India, and the treaty by which Lord Ashburton settled the dispute with America over the boundary of Canada and Maine.
215. THE FATE OF ACTÆON. Palmerston as Actæon, attacked by his own hounds (Hume, Brougham, and Roebuck); an unharmed stag (Ellenborough) runs off triumphantly in the background.
Black chalk on drab paper, heightened with white; roy., 14¾ × 10¾ in.
Political sketches, No. 771.
Palmerston having attacked Lord Ashburton and his treaty, Brougham in the Lords and Hume in the Commons gave notices of motions for votes of thanks to Lord Ashburton.
216. THREE UNITED-STATES-MEN. Brougham, Wellington and Ashburton walking arm-in-arm down Piccadilly.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy., 12¾ × 9½ in.
Political sketches, No. 772.
The objection made to the Ashburton treaty was that it conceded too much to the United States.
217. Ob. A NEW ILLUSTRATION OF FRANKENSTEIN. O'Connell defied and threatened by the monster of agitation and anarchy, which he himself created.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy., 9½ × 14½ in.
Political sketches, No. 773.
Rev. WHERE THERE'S SMOKE THERE'S FIRE. Ministers gathered watching a bomb, which O'Connell has placed by the pillar of the Union; he is moving off at the r. Lord Elliot fills a squirt (the Arms Bill) to put it out, and Sugden prepares to stifle it with a sheet of paper.
Slight black chalk sketch.
Political sketches, No. 776.
This year, 1843, was to be, O'Connell said, 'the Repeal year.' Irish affairs monopolised attention, and the agitation for Repeal reached its climax.
218. Ob. A DUTI-FUL SUBJECT AND NO MISTAKE. Wellington writing in his office, surrounded by papers; a servant brings him in fresh dispatch-boxes.
Pen and black chalk on drab paper; roy., 9½ × 12¾ in.
Political sketches, No. 777.
Wellington at this time held no ministerial office, but exercised considerable control over several departments, especially foreign affairs; he was also Chancellor of Oxford University and Warden of the Cinque Ports.
Rev. A NEW ILLUSTRATION OF FRANKENSTEIN.
Black chalk sketch.
219. Ob. A SCENE FROM 'THE CRITIC.' Whiskerandos (O'Connell) attacking and attacked by two nieces (Orangeism and the Law) and by Hatton and Raleigh (Wellington and Roden); the Beefeater with his halberd (Lord Elliot with his Arms Bill) interposes to part them.
Black chalk on drab paper; roy., 10 × 14 in.
Political sketches, No. 778.
Rev. SUPPOSED COLLOQUY BETWEEN A TOPSAWYER AND HIS BROTHER LABOURER. O'Connell and the Devil sawing with little effect at the Union, and complaining of the tough Saxon timber.
Black chalk, slight sketch.
Political sketches, No. 775.

220. Ob. A SCENE FROM 'THE CRITIC.'
Pen and pencil study; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Rev. STUDY OF COSTUME, for the figure of Lord Roden.
Pen.
221. Ob. DESIGN FOR THE NEW VANE OR WEATHERCOCK LATELY ERECTED OVER THE HORSE GUARDS. Lord Londonderry (Stewart Vane) on horseback as a weather-cock. (Appointed to the 2nd Life Guards June 21).

 Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.
 Political sketches, No. 875.
 Palmerston returned to the Foreign Office with the change of Government, and almost immediately two disturbing incidents occurred. The first was the simultaneous marriage, on Oct. 10, 1846, of the Spanish Queen to the Duke of Cadiz, and the Infanta to the Duc de Montpensier, brought about by French intrigues, against the pledges given by Louis Philippe (see note on No. 288); the second was the handing over of Cracow to Austria by the Northern Powers, in violation of the Treaty of Vienna, by which its independence had been secured. These events caused great indignation in England, and the first estranged us from France.

Political sketches, No. 890.
287. UNHAPPY GHOSTS WANDERING ON THE BANKS OF STYX. Macaulay, Sir John Hobhouse, Mr. Hawes, Mr. Wyse, and Colonel Fox, walking disconsolately on the banks of Styx, followed by Roebuck, tearing his hair, while Charon (John Bull) shoves off for Elysium with John Russell and his colleagues.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 891.
These 'ghosts' were members rejected at the dissolution of Parliament in 1847.

288. 'THE MASK OF COMUS,' AS NOW BEING PERFORMED AT THE THEATRE ROYAL, MADRID. Comus (Louis Philippe) pressing a cup of wine on the unwilling Queen of Spain, behind whom cowers her husband in the form of an ass; Narvaez, the Duke and Duchess of Montpensier, and Queen Christina are gathered round with heads like those of various beasts; at some distance, Palmerston and Mr. Bulwer, the English Envoy.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 892.
The Queen of Spain had been forced by France to marry the Duke of Cadiz, in expectation that the marriage would have no issue, and that the succession would devolve on her sister, who had been married to Louis Philippe's son, the Duc de Montpensier, thus making Spain an appanage of France. The Queen was also forced to take Narvaez for her minister; she was allowed no personal freedom; and it was suspected that her mother, Queen Christina, was bent on her destruction.
289. A BRUMMAGEN DON QUIXOTE. Mr. Muntz, member for Birmingham, preparing to tilt at the 'Times'; Mr. Spooner, as Sancho Panza, aghast at his leader.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 15\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 893.
290. ANOTHER ST. SEBASTIAN, SHOT AT BY CRUEL ARCHERS. John Russell tied to the Treasury tree and shot at by Mr. Muntz and his followers.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  in.
Political sketches, No. 894.

[1818.]

291. Ob. ROWING IN THE SAME BOAT. John Russell, Wood, Lord Grey, and Sir George Grey rowing in stormy weather a boat, steered by Peel, while Goulbourn bails out the water.
Pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 895.
The Government proposed an addition of 2 per cent. to the Income-tax, which had been instituted by Peel.
Rev. UNHAPPY GHOSTS WANDERING ON THE BANKS OF STYX. An unpublished second version of the subject described above (No. 287). Charon is here putting back to take in Mr. Hawes, while the others regard him with grief and envy.
Pencil.
292. Ob. AN OLD COASTGUARD, LOOKING OUT. Wellington on the edge of a sea-cliff, scanning the horizon through a glass, and pointing out a strange sail, at which Lord Ellesmere exhibits great alarm.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10 \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 897.
The inadequate state of the national defences was a subject to which the Duke of Wellington had recently called public attention.
Rev. THE OLD DONKEY TURNED RESTIVE AT LAST. John Russell telling Sir Charles Wood to clap the extra bale on the back of the donkey (John Bull), already restive under his burdens.
Pencil.
Political sketches, No. 896.
Another allusion to the proposed extra income tax.
293. AN OLD COASTGUARD. Small study for the subject described above.
Pencil; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 6$  in.
294. Ob. COMMON SENSE VERSUS PRECEDENT. Francis Baring attacking John Russell, who takes refuge behind the statue of Pitt. John Bull chders on Baring.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 898.
Russell pleaded Pitt's example for imposing the income tax. Baring's speech in the debate was a serious blow to the Government.

- Rev.* MATERIALS FOR A STRONG AND ADHESIVE GOVERNMENT. Groups of members of the Opposition in the lobby, differing and discordant on everything but their antagonism to the Government. Bentinck, Muntz, and Cobden are prominent at the l., Bright, Disraeli, and Sibthorp at the r.
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 899.
295. A SCENE FROM THE FARCE OF 'THE CRITIC.' Cobden as Sir Christopher Hatton asking Sir Walter Raleigh (Wellington), 'What mean these mighty armaments?' Lord Ellesmere as Puff, Russell as Dangle, and Disraeli as Sneer, looking on; John Bull behind as the eavesdropping Beefeater.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 900.
Early in 1848 Cobden made a speech at Manchester, ridiculing and attacking Wellington's effort to draw attention to the state of the country's defences.
296. THE SAME SUBJECT. Slightly modified.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
297. THE SAME SUBJECT. Small study, with Peel substituted for Russell.
Pencil; roy.,  $4\frac{3}{8} \times 6\frac{1}{8}$  in.
298. THE MODERN DELUGE; AFTER RAPHAEL. The crowned heads of Europe struggling in the rising waters of Revolution, while the Ark of the British Constitution rides safe.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 901.
In February Louis Philippe was suddenly put to flight by a revolution, and a Republic proclaimed. This proved the signal for similar insurrections in Austria, Italy, Germany, Hungary, and other countries; England, almost alone, being unshaken and undisturbed, except by the Chartist and Irish risings, both abortive.
299. THE RIVALS: 'EXTREMES MEET.' Feargus O'Connor sitting in the House of Commons with his hand on the Charter; Henry Drummond sitting next him and regarding him with intense suspicion.
Pencil; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 902.
Feargus O'Connor presided at the great Chartist meeting on Kennington Common, April 10, and presented the Charter to the Commons in the evening. Drummond was an independent Tory of the extreme kind, attacking the Government from precisely the opposite standpoint.
300. THE HARPIES ATTACKING THE DAUGHTERS OF PANDARUS. (After Flaxman.) Bentinck, Disraeli, and Stanley, as Harpies, attacking John Russell, Lord Grey, and Mr. Hawes, who stand in a close embrace.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 903.
During the debate on the Sugar Duties, a ferocious attack was made by Bentinck and Disraeli in the Commons, and by Stanley in the Lords, on Russell, Grey, and Hawes, who were accused of suppressing documents.
301. A STRONG CASE FOR SHORTENING THE HOURS OF LABOUR. John Russell heading a deputation of ministers to Lord Ashley, asking for a fourteen or even fifteen hours' Bill for them.
Rough pen and pencil sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 904.
The session ending September 5 was the longest and most tedious on record, and all night sittings were frequent.
502. THE SAME SUBJECT. Small study.
Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

[1849.]

303. A PARLIAMENTARY SOUVENIR, No. 2. Whole length profile portrait of Charles Buller, who died 29 November, 1848, in his forty-first year.
Pencil; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 906.
304. THE SAME SUBJECT. Two studies.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{8} \times 14\frac{1}{4}$  in.
305. Ob. THE FINANCIAL BOBADIL. Cobden explaining how easily ten millions could be produced by cutting down the Army and the Navy; Joseph Hume follows the calculations on his fingers, and Bright and others take notes at a table.
Pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 907.
Cobden had worked up a great agitation in favour of economy, and the Government in consequence felt obliged to make reductions.
- Rev.* THE SAME SUBJECT.
Pen and pencil.
306. Ob. THE SAME SUBJECT.
Pencil; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  in.
- Rev.* STUDIES OF COSTUME. Two figures of nuns, and other studies.
Pencil.
307. Ob. THE FABLE OF THE HORSE AND THE ASS. The horso (Ulster), with a light burden, objecting to taking some of the heavy burden carried by the ass (Connaught); the countryman (John Russell) threatens the horse with a stick. (Also a pen sketch of Sir Charles Napier.)
Slight pencil sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12$  in.
Political sketches, No. 908.
In February the Government decided to revise local taxation in Ireland, and proposed a rate applicable to all Ireland.
- Rev.* AN OLD SO'GER, IN MARCHING ORDER. Sir Charles Napier marching off with his sword over his shoulder and a bundle slung on it. (With a study of the Duke of Wellington.)
Pen and pencil.
Political sketches, No. 909.
The battle of Chillianwallah, in which the British losses were very severe, took place on Jan. 13, and greatly discredited the Commander-in-Chief, Lord Gough. It was therefore decided to send out Sir Charles Napier.
308. Ob. CINCINNATUS AGAIN, OR THE PROPHECY FULFILLED. Sir Charles Napier as Cincinnatus at the plough, and Wellington, with the East India Company's Directors, as Senators come to ask him to fight again.
Pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 911.
Napier took a day to consider the offer made him.
- Rev.* THE SAME SUBJECT.
Pen.
309. Ob. THE SIBYL PRESENTING THE MYSTERIOUS WRITINGS TO TARQUIN. Disraeli as the Sibyl, presenting his resolutions to Tarquin (John Russell, surrounded by ministers), who rejects them cheerfully.
Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Political sketches, No. 910.
On July 2 Disraeli moved for a Select Committee to inquire into the state of the nation, and augured from present distresses a disastrous future. It was a last effort for the bringing back of Protection, and was negatived by a large majority.

Rev. THE IRISH PROBLEM. Peel and Russell standing on the bank of a stream of misery and turbulence which threatens to swamp them. Peel proposes that they should boldly ford it.

Pencil.

Political sketches, No. 912.

In March Peel made a great speech, elaborating his views of Irish relief, and afterwards had a conference with Lord Clarendon, the Lord Lieutenant.

310. Ob. CONCERT MONSTRE, OR MUSICAL CONGRESS EXTRAORDINARY. (AFTER HOGARTH, 100 YEARS.) John Bull at his window, trying to play a Free Trade fantasia, but deafened by the uproar and quarrelling in the street, where republicans of France, Italy, and Germany are beating drums, blowing trumpets, and flourishing weapons.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 14\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Rev. A SCENE FROM MACBETH; UNPUBLISHED SKETCH. John Russell as Macbeth holding the daggers; Disraeli as Lady Macbeth.

Pen and pencil.

311. Ob. BREAKING COVER; A DESPERATE STRUGGLE FOR THE LEAD. Lord Grey riding after the hounds; Stanley's horse goes lame and Grey rides off. (In the lithograph they are jumping a ditch, and Stanley leaps short; Disraeli appears behind.)

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9 \times 13$  in.

Rev. A SCENE FROM MACBETH. The subject described above, No. 310 (Rev.).

[1851.]

313. Ob. NEW ILLUSTRATION OF 'HUDIBRAS' (AFTER HOGARTH). John Russell (Hudibras) and Dr. Cumming (Ralpho) setting forth on their campaign against Popery. John Bull bows to Russell, and in so doing upsets Ireland's apple-stall.

Pen and pencil; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Political sketches, No. 917.

In 1850 the Pope appointed Roman Catholic bishops in England, and on Nov. 4 Lord John Russell wrote a letter to the Bishop of Durham vehemently condemning the Pope's action. This letter further inflamed the Protestants.

Rev. THE SAME SUBJECT.

Pen and pencil.

314. THE SAME SUBJECT.

DOYLE, Richard (b. 1824, d. 1883). Water-colour painter, caricaturist, and book illustrator; born in London; pupil of his father, John Doyle; remarkable for the precocity of his very original gift; contributed 1843-1850 to 'Punch,' for which he designed the cover; from 1850 occupied with book-illustrations and water colours, chiefly fairy and romantic subjects, in which his charming fancy and frolicsome invention specially excelled.

1. THE KNIGHT AND THE SPECTRE. The shores of a lake. A knight in armour, riding from the r., pulls up in terror and averts his face from an apparition in floating robes rising before him in pallid moonshine from the reedy water; a dog hides trembling between the horse's legs, another bounds away; the horned moon is setting over the mountains l.
Water colours; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
2. THE DRAGON OF WANTLEY. A boulder-strewn hillside, along which, among ash-trees, the winged monster drags its enormous length, rearing its crest angrily at the r., as a knight appears with sword and shield at the top of the ridge l.
Water colours; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  in.
3. THE STOLEN KISS. A lady sleeping on a sofa by a window, through which appear a lawn and lake and trees; a boy stealing up l. bends over to kiss the lady's forehead.
Water colours; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

4. ON THE WAY TO WAR. A high bridge of a single arch spanning a stream which flows into the foreground; from a castle on the heights r., an army comes down a winding path through a village and crossing the bridge enters a wood l.; the pale flush from the dawn bathes the hill-side, and strikes on the armour and pennoned lances.
Water colours; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{4}$  in.
5. FOUR ON ONE MOUNT, imp., viz. :—
- (a) (b) VIEW AT ARDICHIE, SCOTLAND. Two sheets of a sketch-book, forming a continuous view of purple mountains at evening seen across the waters of a lake. Inscribed Ardichie, after dinner effect.

- (c) (d) LOCH QUOICH, INVERNESSSHIRE. A continuous view in two sheets of the waters of the loch shut in on all sides by purple hills, backed with white clouds; in the foreground r., a garden bordering the loch and herons on the beach. Inscribed Loch Quoich, from drawing-room window.
Water colours; imp., (each)  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.
6. UNDER THE DOCK LEAVES; AN AUTUMNAL EVENING'S DREAM. The sloping banks of a small stream, thickly grown with willows; between tree-stems on the further bank l., the sunset light comes scattered through the foliage and plays on a great bed of dock plants in the foreground; in and out of the tall stalks and under the luminous or shady leaves, a whirling dance of elves and fairies, winged and clothed in radiant colours, with joined hands and laughing faces, comes floating from the blue haze over the stream: a kingfisher flies startled from the bank. Signed with monogram and dated 1878.
Water colours; ant.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 30\frac{3}{8}$  in.
7. A SHEET OF SKETCHES; FAIRY TALE DESIGNS. An elf afloat in a water-lily; a fairy prince making love to a fairy princess, seated on a toadstool, and the same subject differently treated; a fairy combing her hair before a mirror; girl-fairies dressing baby-elves; elves marching to battle; fairies riding on birds; and other slight sketches and fancies.

Sepia, with pen shading; oval;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{7}{8}$  in.

Presented by the artist, April, 1846, with the following explanatory note:—

In the year 1806 I was acquainted and always well received by that eminent sculptor Jos<sup>ph</sup>. Nollekens, who gave me free liberty to take the profile outlines from any of his busts of celebrated characters. He took the Cast from the Face of the late William Pitt and also of Charles James Fox; that of Mr. P. required his utmost study and attention before it was permitted (by a Committee of Taste) to come before the World, the agonies of Death were so strongly developed in the expression. Two busts were made, the first broken up and the second approved of. He told me at that time he had an order in the House to execute 80 in Marble at 100 guineas apiece. I took a Profile and reduced it from life-size and submitted it to Lady Hester Stanhope, then living at 2, Montague Square, Cumberland Place. I was kindly received by her, and upon stating the purport of my Visit to her she said how sorry she was that I had not applied to her that I should have taken Mr. Pitt's profile. She further said she did not approve of any of the likenesses done of him, the one enclosed from Mr. Nollekens' bust she received from me, and placing it on the Table before her, took up her penknife and in a few seconds returned it to me in its present scratched state, saying at the same time, 'There, that is more like what he was, but don't show it to anyone.' Just at that time Mr. Canning came in on a visit to her, and seated himself on a square Ottoman. I made my obediencce and retired. The Profile is precisely in the same state I received it from her hand, which I have ever since preserved. J. Field, Profilist, 2, Strand.

FIELDING, Anthony Vandyke Copley (b. 1787, d. 1855). Painter; second son and pupil of Nathan Theodore Fielding; assisted also by John Varley; painted a few oil pictures, but is best known by his very numerous water colours of British mountain scenery, stormy seas and, in especial, effects of light and mist on the Sussex Downs, in the neighbourhood of which he passed much of the last few years of his life; elected Associate of the Old Water Colour Society, 1810, Member 1812, and was President from 1831 till his death. Admirable at his best, Fielding weakened his style by facile repetition, the result of his extreme popularity as a drawing master.

1. BUCKINGHAM HOUSE; FROM A SKETCH BY J. BURNET. A view of the house from St. James's Park, with the pond in the foreground frozen over, and men and boys skating and sliding; at the l., under some trees, a tent and a fire on the ice in front of it; further away, Queen Charlotte's carriage, escorted by horse-guards, approaches the house from the r.

Water colours, with pen outlines; roy.,  $7\frac{7}{8} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Burnet's sketch, from which this was done, was engraved by himself for The Beauties of England and Wales, 1810, and the print is mounted with the drawing; the royal carriage and many of the figures have been added by Fielding. Buckingham House was built in 1705 for the Duke of Buckingham; purchased by George III. 1762; settled on Queen Charlotte 1775, and pulled down 1825, when Buckingham Palace was built for George IV. on its site.

Purchased at the Dawson Turner sale, May, 1859.

60. THE MARRIAGE PROCESSION ('Iliad,' XVIII., 491–496). The procession issues from a door at the l., where women stand gazing; preceding the bride and bridegroom are musicians and boys bearing torches, and in front, a circle of young men dancing. Above, on a high bank, young women and men drinking wine.
Pen, with slight sepia wash; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 14$  in.
61. THE BATTLE ('Iliad,' XVIII., 516). The men of the city, led by Pallas and Ares, attacking from the r. the besiegers, whose slaughtered cattle and herdsmen are seen r. in the background; beneath the floating forms of Pallas and Ares are Strife and Havoc, and Fate dragging a dead man by the hair.
Above, l., rise the city walls, and women watching the battle.
Pen, with slight sepia wash; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Pen over pencil, with slight sepia wash;  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.

64. THE VINTAGERS. Young men and maidens approaching with baskets of grapes on their heads, preceded by a boy playing a lyre under a vine which grows r.
At the l., two heralds dressing a slain ox.
Pen over pencil with slight sepia wash; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  in.

65. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DANCERS AND TUMBLERS ('Iliad,' XVIII., 605). Young men and women holding hands and dancing; two men tumbling before them.
Pen sketch;  $4\frac{3}{8} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.

- (b) PLOUGHMAN AND REAPERS. At the l., two men ploughing with oxen, and a man with a cup of wine waiting at the end of the furrow; at the r., a man reaping corn, boys binding the sheaves, and the King standing and looking on.

Pen sketch;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 9$  in.

Nos. 62-65 were presented by Henry Vaughan, Esq., April, 1894.

[66-93.] Designs for Wedgwood ware, monuments, etc.

66. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR WEDGWOOD WARE; MEDALLIONS OF CUPID AND PSYCHE. A group of four medallions, in three of which Cupid is playing with the butterfly, while on the uppermost Psyche, in human shape, is embraced by him; all attached to a tablet, ornamented with roses, Cupid's bow and Psyche's lamp.

Pen and ink, with slight Indian-ink shading;  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 5\frac{3}{8}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR WEDGWOOD WARE; MEDALLIONS OF JUPITER AND ATTRIBUTES. Four medallions; a head of Jupiter with a garland of oak leaves about the medallion; profile of Jupiter, with eagle's head and thunderbolts on separate medallions at either side; and below, a bust of Jupiter grasping the lightning.

Pen and Indian-ink wash;  $7\frac{7}{8} \times 5\frac{5}{8}$  in.

These designs belong to the earliest period of Flaxman's activity (1775-1785).

Purchased July, 1886.

67. DESIGN FOR THE MONUMENT TO WILLIAM COLLINS IN CHICHESTER CATHEDRAL. The poet in profile seated and reading in the Bible, on a medallion let into a tablet; with a frieze below supported on corbels, representing the Passions, in illustration of Collins' Ode; Revenge blowing the war-denouncing trumpet at the l., surrounded by Fear, Anger and Despair; Music in the centre; Joy, Hope, Pity, and their companions at the r.

Marked above A and priced £225.

Beneath, two alternative designs on a much smaller scale; at the l., one similar to the central design, but with the frieze reduced in size, marked B and priced £190. At the r., one with the medallion alone and no frieze, marked C and priced £90. At the l. side of the drawing a section of the monument marked D, and along the r. side of the drawing, a scale in feet.

Pen and Indian-ink wash;  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

68. DESIGN FOR THE SAME MONUMENT. Design for the frieze just described; the same composition more elaborately finished on a much larger scale. Marked E. Above, a small sketch design for the monument, in which the frieze is the principal feature, marked F and priced £225.

Pen and Indian-ink wash, very slightly tinted;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.

69. Ob. DESIGN FOR THE SAME MONUMENT. A frieze representing the Passions, but illustrating an earlier passage of Collins' Ode, 'But thou, O Hope, with eyes so fair,' etc. Hope, Joy, and Love at the r., Despair, etc., flying l. Marked No. 1. Below, a sketch design for the whole monument with the other frieze, described No. 67, surmounting an inscription. Marked No. 2. Inscribed And Hope, enchanted, smil'd and wav'd her golden hair, Revenge, Anger, Fear, Despair etc., retiring on one side; on the other Joy and Mirth led on by Love, heads of Exercise, Sport, etc., amongst the trees.

No. 2 would be the design for the Monument in which the bas-reliefs [sic] No. 1 or No. 4 might be introduced. No. 2 with the bas-relief No. 1 might be executed with the figures about 2 feet high, low relief, the length of the whole about 5 feet and the whole height [sic] about 4 feet 6 inches, for about £70—but the bas-relief being the principal object of the Monument would not be sufficiently large and distinct to produce a good effect; on the contrary the figures in No. 6 forming only a kind of framework to the inscription could not fail I think of exciting the spectator's attention to observe and decypher the former whilst he read the latter.

This drawing and note are on half of the outside sheet of a letter to William Hayley, whose son was a pupil of Flaxman. The other half contains the latter part of the letter, transcribed below.

Pen and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in

REV. DESIGN FOR THE SAME MONUMENT. A relief with Music and Painting placing a garland on the altar of Pity. Marked No. 3 and inscribed at the side Music and Painting decorating the altar of pity—in high relief—extreme dimensions of the square 4 feet. Price from £60–65.

Below begins the letter to Hayley, continued on the other side. It runs as follows:

Rome, July 4, 1792.

Dear Sir, I thus trouble you with your own thoughts for the Honored Burd. I am solicitous that my work may not degrade his memory and I disclaim profit on the present occasion, my first desire is to act with such caution respecting you, that you may not incur any additional expence in carr[riage] or custom house-duty, for which reason I have confined the price of those designs which I think likely that the subscribers will choose between £60 and £70, the overplus I leave for the extra expences, among which I reckon the cutting the inscription, which it would be impossible for me to have done here by an Italian, without the hazard of some enormous blunder which might ruin the work. To get the inscription cut, I advise the following method: let some friend of yours in London enquire of M<sup>r</sup>. Bacon or M<sup>r</sup>. Banks where M<sup>r</sup>. Chapple lives who cuts inscriptions for all the best Sculptors in and about London. He or his son will come down to Chichester, do that business and set up the Monument at a reasonable expence; they are men of the worthiest character and of great ability in their way: in the designs I have sent I have done my best and I may say I have given them thrice the consideration which I ever gave to a similar work; it will occur to you and other Gentlemen of the Committee, that any of these designs would derive great advantage from being executed on a more extensive scale, but you may rest assured of my utmost endeavours for the price fixed.

[The rest of the letter is concerned with the commission given Flaxman by Romney to form a collection of casts from the antique.]

The designs sent with this letter were rejected in favour of the medallion containing the figure of Collins, described No. 67, with two figures embracing on a pediment above, but without the frieze of the Passions. The monument was engraved on wood in the 'Art Journal,' 1868, p. 146.

Nos. 67–69 were purchased May, 1885.

70. CLOTHE THE NAKED; ONE OF THE ACTS OF MERCY. A figure distributing clothing to naked people; a man crouching l., and a woman with two children and an old man r.

Pen with Indian-ink and sepia wash; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 11\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Engraved in facsimile by F. C. Lewis. A quite different design for the same subject is at University College.

Purchased at the Russell sale, May, 1885.

Pen with Indian-ink and sepia wash; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 13$  in.

Engraved in facsimile by F. C. Lewis.

72. INSTRUCT THE IGNORANT; ONE OF THE ACTS OF MERCY. An old man seated with a book on his knee, expounding it to a young man and woman seated on each side of him.

Pen and indigo; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved from a sepia version of the same design by F. C. Lewis.

The last three drawings form part of the series of Acts of Mercy, sculptured in relief for a memorial to E. Balme.

Nos. 70–72 were purchased May, 1885.

73. DESIGN FOR MONUMENT TO A SCHOOLMASTER. A mural monument with a bas-relief, representing a teacher sitting by a bust of Aristotle and expounding a book to his boys; the relief resting on a pedestal with a tripod on each side, and surmounted by a pediment having a lyre in the centre, and masks of Antigone and Electra at the corners. On the wall l., a medallion portrait, at the r., a medallion with the heads of a youth and a philosopher.
Pen and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (a) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A mural tablet, left vacant for an inscription, with Science, a female figure, at the l. side, and Genius, a male figure, at the r., both in profile.
Pen, with slight Indian-ink wash;  $8\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. Mural monument; Charity, holding two children in her arms and with another beside her, standing in the centre; Faith seated l., and Hope r.; all supported by a cornice above a tablet.
Pen, with slight Indian-ink wash;  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.
75. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—
- (a) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A pediment, with a mourning woman, her head bowed on her knees, in the centre; a tablet below.
Pen and slight sepia wash;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) 'THY WILL BE DONE.' Design for the central part of the Baring monument at Micheldever, Hants. A woman seated to the l. and looking up, clothed in a long robe, her hands clasped on her lap.
Pen and sepia wash;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Engraved in stipple by W. Bond.
The central part of the monument engraved on wood in the 'Art Journal,' 1868, p. 243.
76. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—
- (a) DESIGN FOR MONUMENT TO SIR ISAAC POCOCK AT COOKHAM. Sir Isaac Pocock dying in the arms of his niece in a punt on the Thames at Maidenhead.
Pencil with slight sepia wash;  $3\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Pen with slight Indian-ink wash;  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  in.
77. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—
- (a) MOURNING FIGURE, FOR A MONUMENT. A woman standing in an attitude of grief, her head bowed on her clasped hands: a relief.
Pen and sepia wash;  $4\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (b) FAITH; FOR A MONUMENT. A woman seated to the r., looking up from a book; relief in a niche, enclosed by a Gothic arch.
Pen and sepia wash;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7$  in.
- Nos. 73-77 were purchased July, 1860.
78. FAITH; FOR A MONUMENT. A figure almost identical with the last described, under a Gothic canopy.
Pen and sepia wash; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 7$  in.
Probably for the same monument as No. 78 (b); but Flaxman often very nearly repeated his designs in separate monuments. The figure on this drawing is almost precisely similar to that of Resignation, described above, No. 76 (b).
Purchased July, 1860.

79. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A woman seated to the l., on the step of a high door surmounted by a pediment and an urn.

Pencil, the figure in pen and sepia;  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT AT MAIDENHEAD, BERKS. Three reliefs: Hope, a woman holding a cross, in the centre; Charity l., with children; Faith r., two angels holding the Bible between them.

Pen and slight sepia wash;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

80. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR MONUMENT TO SIR WILLIAM JONES (?) He lies dying in bed, clasping the hand of an Indian Rajah, who is attended by two servants; four boys in a group at the foot of the bed, a chaplain at the head. A relief.

Pen with slight Indian-ink wash;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 5$  in.

- (b) CHARITY; DESIGN FOR PART OF THE YARBOROUGH MONUMENT IN CAMPSALL CHURCH, YORKSHIRE. A relief: two women l., giving alms to a group of poor persons, an old man, a mother and child, a lame youth, a boy and another woman.

Pen with slight Indian-ink wash;  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 7$  in.

This design differs from the actual monument (engraved in the 'Art Journal,' 1868, p. 3), the composition being reversed and the figures modified.

81. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR MONUMENT. A father l., placing his dead child at the feet of a statue of Religion, who holds the Bible in the l. hand, a cross and lily in the other.

Pencil and slight sepia wash;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  in.

- (b) LIBERTY FREEING A SLAVE; DESIGN FOR MONUMENT. Liberty, seated on a bank, placing the cap of freedom on the head of a slave who kneels l., with hands clasped in gratitude, the broken manacles at his feet. Relief in a pediment.

Pen and Indian-ink wash;  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{3}{4}$  in.

82. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DETAILS OF GOTHIC CANOPIES. Two studies for a Gothic canopy, with an angel at each corner.

Pen sketches;  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 4$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR A GOTHIC MONUMENT. Group of a young man dead bewailed by his family; two girls embracing the body, the parents kneeling r., a boy standing l., under one of two Gothic canopies at each end of the recess containing the monuments, over which is inscribed, The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, and blessed be the name of the Lord.

Pen and sepia wash;  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.

83. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR THE LOWER PART OF A MONUMENT. The lower part of a bas-relief; Hope with her anchor seated r., Faith with the Bible l.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR MONUMENT TO SIR WILLIAM JONES. Sir William Jones seated l., and making notes for his digest of Hindu and Mohammedan law from the dictation of a native doctor seated reading opposite, with four colleagues behind him. A sketch for the monument to Sir William Jones in University College, Oxford. In the sculptured design three natives only appear, and a palm-tree is introduced at the l.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{5}{8}$  in.

The monument engraved on wood in the 'Art Journal,' 1868, p. 2.

- (c) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A widow leaning in grief on the tomb of her husband, four children at her knee. With slight pencil studies for the same subject.
Pen and ink ;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Nos. 79-83 were purchased May, 1888.
84. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) A DEATH-BED ; DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A death-bed, with three women standing at the head, one of them supporting the dying figure, and a group of women and children kneeling and weeping at the foot.
Pen and ink ;  $2\frac{3}{4} \times 5$  in.
A cast of the monument is at University College, London.
Purchased March, 1862, at the Flaxman sale.
- (b) SKETCH FOR THE MONUMENT TO HOWE IN ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL. The Admiral, attended by Britannia, standing and looking to the front beside a memorial stone on which a female figure, guided by Fame, who stands over her, inscribes the 1st of June, the day of Howe's famous victory off Ushant, 1794.
Pen over pencil ;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$  in.
85. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) 'FIGHT THE GOOD FIGHT.' The Christian raising his sword to strike the Powers of Evil, who struggle to drag him downward ; a Genius from above rushes down to defend him from their attacks. Two studies (with slight pencil sketches for the same subject, and for another subject). Inscribed Fight the good fight.
Pen over pencil ;  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) THE SAME SUBJECT. Three studies ; apparently three different treatments of the same subject. In the principal one, the hero tramples two forms and raises his hand to slay them ; in another, he grasps them, one with each arm ; the third represents a form floating from above and binding a demon's hands behind his back.
Pen over pencil ;  $9 \times 11\frac{3}{8}$  in.
86. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) 'TO RAISE UP THEM THAT FALL.' Two angels raising a man who has fallen on his back. Inscribed To raise up them that fall, and signed and dated J. F. 1806.
Pen over pencil and sepia wash ;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) ANGELS FALLING FROM HEAVEN. A group of rebel angels falling headlong : two studies ; and a study for another subject. With several slight pencil sketches, nearly obliterated.
Pen over pencil, one study with sepia wash ;  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.
87. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) TWO WOMEN CLASPING EACH OTHER OVER A SEPULCHRAL URN.
Pen and Indian-ink wash ;  $3 \times 2$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. Two women seated, keeping watch l., at the head of a dead figure lying in bed. Inscribed A. C.
Pen and Indian-ink wash ;  $4 \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (c) SPIRITS RECEIVED IN HEAVEN ; DESIGN FOR A RELIEF. Two forms floating upwards towards a double circle of angels.
Pen and Indian-ink wash ;  $5 \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
88. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) A FIGURE CARRIED UPWARD BY ANGELS. Two rough studies for the next subject.
Pencil, and pen over pencil ;  $6\frac{3}{4} \times 6$  in.

- (b) ANGELS RECEIVING A SOUL. A figure r., with arms extended, welcomed from above; at the l., a seated figure with hands raised towards an angel looking down from above. The whole design forms a kind of frame, probably intended for a relief enclosing an inscription.
Pen and ink;  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Nos. 84 (b)-88 were purchased May, 1888.
89. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) DESIGN FOR A MONUMENT. A relief, with a figure reclining and looking up towards a ray of light.
Inscribed in pencil Something like this.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{7}{8}$  in.
- (b) THE ADORATION OF THE MAGI; AND ANOTHER SUBJECT. The three Magi bowing down before the child, seated l. on his mother's lap. Above, an angel appearing to a man sleeping on the ground.
Pen and Indian-ink wash;  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Casts from reliefs of both these subjects are at University College, London.
90. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) DESIGN FOR MONUMENT. An angel carrying a mother and her child up to heaven; for a bas-relief.
Sepia wash and pen;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 4\frac{5}{8}$  in.
This motive was a favourite one of Flaxman's; he made it the subject of several memorial reliefs, the best known being that erected to Mrs. Knight at Milton Church, near Cambridge.
- (b) MOTHER AND CHILDREN. A mother seated and bending r., to kiss her baby held in the arms of one of its sisters; an elder sister sits l., close by her mother, over whose shoulders looks another child, while a fifth kneels at her feet.
Sepia wash and pen;  $6\frac{5}{8} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.
One of many studies made from Mrs. Tuke and her children.
Nos. 89 and 90 were purchased March, 1862, at the Flaxman sale.
91. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) DESIGN FOR PILASTER OF A CHIMNEY-PIECE. A pilaster for a chimney-piece, with a canephora standing on a candelabrum.
Pen and ink;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A CANDLESTICK. A candlestick with a Cupid embracing the stem, an arrow in his hand. Inscribed, Cupid pointing his dart at Psyche, and below, Psyche companion. Drawn to scale.
Pen and Indian-ink wash;  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{3}{8}$  in.
92. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) MINERVA AND CUPID. Minerva armed, leaning on her spear and looking down r., on Cupid.
Pen over pencil;  $4 \times 2\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (b) A TROPHY. A shield (probably 'the shield of Achilles'), helmet, spears, and standards hung above an altar of Victory.
Pen and ink with sepia wash;  $6 \times 5$  in.
Nos. 91-92 were purchased May, 1888.
93. DESIGN FOR A CIRCULAR PLATEAU, IN THE POSSESSION OF H.M. THE QUEEN. In the centre, a circle enclosing a design of Venus enthroned on a shell supported by two Tritons, while two Cupids float above, one offering her a mirror; between this and a border of scallop-shell and other ornament, Nereus and Doris in their chariot, followed and preceded by Tritons and Nereids riding on sea monsters.
Sepia wash with pen outlines, highly finished; atl., circle, 19 in. diam.
Presented by Henry Vaughan, Esq., April, 1894.

2. ILLUSTRATION TO 'MACBETH,' ACT IV., SCENE 1. The three witches r., surrounding Macbeth, who looks down on the apparition of an armed head rising l.
Pen and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{4}$  in.
A picture of this subject was painted by Fuseli for the Shakespeare Gallery.
3. FORTUNE. A female figure floating with globe between her feet, a wand in one hand, and a cup and balls in the other.
Pen and ink sketch; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
4. SIN AND DEATH. Death, a skeleton, seizing Sin in his embrace and pressing her month with a lipless kiss; an illustration to the lines in 'Paradise Lost,' book II.
'Me overtook, his mother, all dismayed
And in embraces forcible and foul,' etc.
Pencil; roy.,  $5\frac{7}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
5. STUDY OF A YOUTH, PERHAPS AFTER VANDYCK. A youth in Vandyck costume, standing with one foot on a step, looking over his shoulder.
Pen and ink sketch; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in.
Nos 1-5 were purchased November, 1862.
6. EZZELIN BRACCIAFERRO MUSING OVER MEDUNA, SLAIN BY HIM FOR DISLOYALTY DURING HIS ABSENCE IN THE HOLY LAND. The warrior sits with head on hand at a table contemplating the body of his wife lying before him; on the table, l., a crucifix and hour-glass; a mirror behind. Dated Zurich, Feb., '79.
Red chalk and pen with sepia wash; roy.,  $13\frac{3}{4} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Study for a picture exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1780, engraved in mezzotint by J. R. Smith and in line by Holloway. The subject is of Fuseli's own invention.
Purchased March, 1892.
7. THE NIGHT MARE. A woman lying asleep on a bed with her head hanging down, and one hand clutching her dishevelled hair, while a goblin squats and grins upon her breast.
Black chalk on brown paper heightened with white; atl.,  $19 \times 25\frac{3}{8}$  in.
A favourite subject with Fuseli, who made several pictures of it, engraved in line by W. Raddon, and in stipple by T. Burne, and frequently caricatured.
Presented by Miss Julia Carriek-Moere, March, 1885.
8. THE DEATH OF BRUTUS; ILLUSTRATION TO JULIUS CAESAR, ACT V., SCENE V. BRUTUS runs upon the sword which Strato, averting his head, holds before him. Clitus and Dardanius stand behind, one looking on in horror, the other averting his face.
Black chalk; ant.,  $22 \times 26\frac{1}{2}$  in.
9. THE CAPTIVE. A naked man seated leaning backwards and chained by the foot; at the l. an old woman crouching. Between the legs of the man is a study on a much smaller scale of a nude male figure in profile.
Black chalk; ant.,  $21 \times 25\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Nos. 8 and 9 were purchased May, 1856.
10. THE NIGHT HAG. She flies with level wings across a night sky from r. to l., grasping her hair with both hands and crying out. An illustration to 'Paradise Lost,' book II.
'The night hag, when called
In secret, riding through the air she comes Lured by the smell of infant blood.'
Water colours with pen outlines; ant.,  $20 \times 30\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Fuseli painted a picture of this subject for the Milton Gallery.
11. PROMETHEUS RESCUED BY HERACLES. Prometheus prostrate, r., upon a rock with the eagle above him interrupted in his meal by the appearance of Heracles on the opposite crag, across a chasm. Inscribed 'Οργης Διους Κραων.
Indian ink and sepia wash with pen outlines; ant.,  $22\frac{1}{4} \times 26\frac{3}{8}$  in.

12. Album containing 96 compositions and studies made by Fuseli in Rome. Inscribed on first page, Daniel J. Moore, Purchased at Mr. Windus' sale. The subjects include 14 compositions from Shakespeare ('Hamlet,' 'Macbeth,' 'Merry Wives of Windsor,' 'Lear,' 'Henry VI,' 'King John,' 'Richard III.,' 'Coriolanus'), and a set of decorative designs for four plays ('The Tempest,' 'Macbeth,' 'Lear,' 'Twelfth Night'), containing several subjects from the respective plays; 2 from Milton ('Paradise Lost'); 4 from Dante ('Inferno'); 2 from Sophocles ('Edipus Tyrannus,' 'Edipus Coloneus'); 2 from Homer ('Iliad,' and 'Odyssey'); 3 from classical mythology ('Perseus and Andromeda,' 'Bellerophon,' 'Dædalus and Icarus'); 2 from the Bible ('Stoning of Stephen,' and 'Conversion of Saul'); 25 from sources not traced; 3 copies from figures by Michael Angelo on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel; 1 from Edelinck's print after Leonardo's Battle of the Standard; 6 from the Antique; a caricature (smoking a modern picture into an 'Old Master'); two slight sketches for portraits, and a number of figure studies. Three of the drawings are dated, 1777 du Fusely, Roma; One has the date Roma, Jul., '74.
75 ff. Pen and ink; pen and monochrome wash; or pencil.

Nos. 10-12 were presented by Miss Julia Carriek Moore, March, 1885.

Attributed to Fuseli.

STUDIES FOR A PICTURE. The figure of a woman crouching towards the l. and looking over her shoulder; at the r. two figures embracing, perhaps Paolo and Francesca.

Pencil and black chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This drawing has been attributed to Fuseli and to Cosway; probably it belongs to neither, but to some artist whom it would be difficult to name with certainty.

Acquired July, 1835.

GAINSBOROUGH, Thomas, R.A. (b. 1727, d. 1788). Painter; born at Sudbury, Suffolk; began very early to sketch and paint; at fourteen went to London, where he studied under Gravelot [q.v.], with Charles Grignion, who taught him etching, for fellow-pupil, and afterwards for three years under Hayman; worked at Ipswich, 1745-60, to which period belong his careful earlier landscapes; at Bath, 1760-74, sending portraits and landscapes to the Society of Artists and to the Royal Academy, of which he was a member from its foundation in 1768; in London, from 1774 till his death; the rival of Reynolds in portraiture, and the founder of the English School of Landscape.

[1-11.] Portrait and figure studies.

- I. THE MUSIC PARTY. Two ladies and two gentlemen grouped l. at a harpsichord by candle-light; one of the ladies plays the harpsichord, the other stands behind singing; on the near side, one of the men, noticeably shorter than the standing lady, plays the violin; on the further side, the other leans with one hand on the harpsichord, and turns over for the lady.

Red chalk sketch, cut at the corners; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Possibly Gainsborough and his two daughters with a musical friend, who has been identified as George Frederick Abel; but Abel was a tall, portly person, and his instrument was the viol di gamba. This is probably Felice Giardini, the violinist, b. 1716, who played with immense success in England from 1744, till he took over the management of the opera, which ruined him. He afterwards went to Moscow, and died there 1796. In 1774 he bought a piano for Gainsborough, then at Bath, who painted a half-length portrait of him engraved by C. Tomkins. This drawing belongs doubtless to the Bath period of the painter's career.

Purchased July, 1889.

2. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY PLAYING THE HARP. Whole-length figure of a lady seated towards the l., playing the harp.
Black chalk sketch on rough drab paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $14\frac{5}{8} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Reproduced in W. Armstrong's 'Gainsborough,' 1898, p. 180, and there conjectured to be a first idea for the portrait of Lady Clarges. See below, No. 7.
Purchased October, 1890.
3. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY WITH A GUITAR. Whole length figure of a lady seated on a sofa, turned somewhat r., the head resting on the l. hand and looking l., the face in three-quarters; a guitar on the lap held by the r. hand; in the foreground l., a dog; behind, a curtain, and l. a window looking on a park.
Pencil sketch, slightly washed in parts with water colours; cut at the corners; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Probably a study for the portrait of the artist's daughter, Mrs. Fischer.
Purchased June, 1894.
4. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Whole length figure of a lady standing towards the r., her face looking full, and her hands clasped before her holding a fan. Part of a stone balustrade and trees behind.
Pencil sketch; cut at the corners; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.
5. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Whole length figure of a lady seated, partly towards the l., the face nearly full; hands clasped on lap.
Pencil sketch; cut at the corners; roy.,  $14 \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
6. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Half length figure of a lady with high coiffure and cap seated towards the r., her arms crossed and leaning on a table before her; the face in three-quarters, eyes full.
Black chalk on stone-grey paper, heightened with white; cut at the corners; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{4}$  in.
7. STUDY FOR THE PORTRAIT OF LADY CLARGES. Three-quarter length, seated to the l., playing the harp, the face in three-quarters, looking l., with high coiffure. Behind the harp is seen a dog, which does not appear in the picture. The l. arm has been first drawn with the hand lower down, and then altered to its final position.
Black chalk on stone-grey paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $12\frac{5}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Reproduced in W. Armstrong's 'Gainsborough,' p. 176.
The picture, from which the dog was omitted, was sold at the Price sale, 1895, and at the Ruston sale, 1898, and belongs to Sir Charles Tennant, Bart. It is reproduced in the Price collection catalogue, and in Mrs. Bell's 'Gainsborough' (1897), p. 108.
Miss Shrine married Sir Thomas Clarges, Bart., who died 1783. Gainsborough also painted their daughter.
Nos. 4-7 were purchased July, 1895.
8. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Whole length, standing towards the l., the face in profile looking l.; broad sun-hat on head, a rose in r. hand, l. hand on hip; a garden walk suggested in the foreground.
Black chalk and stump on grey paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $18\frac{3}{8} \times 13$  in.
Reproduced in the 'Portfolio,' September, 1894, p. 42, and in Armstrong's 'Gainsborough,' p. 184.
Purchased July, 1855.
9. STUDY FOR PORTRAIT OF THE DUCHESS OF DEVONSHIRE. Whole length, standing towards the l. in a landscape, with background of trees; in large hat over long curls, the face turned nearly full, arms fo'ced.
Black chalk and stump on grey paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Lithographed by R. J. Lane, and reproduced in Armstrong's 'Gainsborough,' p. 168.

Georgiana, daughter of Earl Spencer, born 1757, married the fifth Duke of Devonshire at seventeen, and became the acknowledged queen of society; she brought in a simple style of dress; was an eager partisan of Fox and the Whigs; wrote poems, one of which inspired Coleridge with an ode; delighted in wit and talent, and revered Dr. Johnson. She 'effaced all without being a beauty.' Died 1806. Gainsborough painted more than one portrait of the Duchess. The present study was made for a now lost picture. Another study, with the figure facing the other way, is in Mr. Salting's collection.

Purchased April, 1897. Formerly in the collection of the Earl of Warwick.

10. THE SKETCHER. A young man seated on a bank beneath a tree, facing r., a sketch-book on his knees, holding a round mirror in l. hand.
Pencil sketch; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Reproduced in the 'Portfolio,' September, 1894, p. 49.
Bequeathed by Richard Payne-Knight, Esq., 1824.
11. THE BOY IN THE CART. A boy lying in a cart which is moving away, his back against the side and one foot hanging out behind; a clump of trees overhanging the road l.; in the distance r., a church spire.
Pen and sepia and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $7 \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Purchased May, 1896.

[12-30.] Landscapes.

12. COAST SCENE WITH CATTLE. Two oxen, one lying down, one standing, on a flat meadow, with a tree r.; at a little distance the sea with fishing boats in a bay, beyond which cliffs are visible to the r., under a bank of cloud.
Oil colours varnished, on paper; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{8}$  in.
13. LANDSCAPE WITH TRAVELLERS. A road from l. to r., with two figures on donkeys or mules coming towards the r., past a cottage among bushes l.; at the r., a woman sitting under a withered tree.
Monochrome sketch in oils on paper, varnished; roy.,  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.
14. CATTLE AT A POOL. Three cattle on the margin of a rushy pool, two standing, the third lying on a sloping bank, crowned by a willow stump, at the r., in the distance l., a plain, and remote hills.
Oil sketch on paper, varnished; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.
15. ROAD NEAR BATH. A road curving l. down a slope into the foreground, where a pond at the r. lies beneath a grass bank and a willow; further up the road at the l., trees and cottage.
Monochrome sketch slightly tinted with water colours; roy.,  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This little drawing is inscribed on the back Mr. Gainsborough; and Mr. Cracherode has added underneath, Given me by Mr. Saml. Collins, miniature painter, who had it of Mr. Gainsborough. Samuel Collins was working in Bath during the first year of Gainsborough's residence there, but removed to Dublin, 1763.

Nos. 12-15 were bequeathed by the Rev. C. M. Cracherode, 1799.

16. ROCKS AND TREES. A high mound with a rocky face on the further side of the road, with trees on either side of it. Inscribed Gainsborough.
Pen and sepia, Indian ink and indigo wash; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 13$  in.
Bequeathed by R. Payne-Knight, Esq., 1824.
17. A WOODLAND VALLEY. Two men on horseback, with a led horse behind and a dog, coming along a hollow to the l., between a high bank l. and a slope r., with feeding sheep under groups of trees. Signed T. G. on the margin, outside a border stamped in gold.
Charcoal and bistre wash; roy.,  $9\frac{7}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

18. A POOL AMONG THE HILLS. A pool in the foreground lying among grassy slopes, crowned l. by a clump of trees, and with cattle by a willow stump r.; in the distance a high hill rising beyond thick woods. Signed T. G. on the margin, outside a border stamped in gold.

Charcoal and bistre wash; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

The black outlines in these two drawings, as also in No. 19, were certainly produced by transference and not by direct touches. Probably, therefore, more than one copy of the design was produced at a time. The gilt border and signature on these two examples suggest that Gainsborough prepared them as presents for friends.

Nos. 17 and 18 were purchased August, 1859.

19. TRAVELLERS ON THE ROAD. Three women on horses, and a pack-horse, followed by a dog, coming into the foreground along a road past a bank and trees r.

Charcoal and bistre wash; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{4} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Purchased March, 1868.

20. THE WOODCUTTER. A woodcutter leaning on a staff and talking to a woman who is seated on a heap of faggots towards the r, in a lane which comes winding past a cottage l.; trees and bushes on a bank behind the figures, and at the r. and l.

Pencil and Indian ink, and slight water-colour wash; roy.,  $8 \times 9\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Purchased May, 1885, at the Cheney sale.

21. THE SKETCH. A lady seated sketching l. on the bank of a stream which flows into the r. foreground; beyond her, at the foot of a tree, a man seated and pointing out something in the meadows beyond the stream; at the r., on the other side of the stream, a birch tree.

Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 6$  in.

22. PEASANTS IN A WOOD. Two peasants leaning on a stack of logs r., and a girl sitting on the ground in front of them, by a young tree; a thicket and trees enclosing the glade, and a second stock of logs at the l.

Pencil; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Nos. 21-22 are examples of Gainsborough's early and somewhat formal landscapes with figures.

Both purchased March, 1868.

23. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) WILLOWS. A row of willows in full leaf near a gate; a withered stump at the r.

Pencil;  $6 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  in.

- (b) POOL AND TREES. A pool enclosed by palings, beyond which are trees upon a bank.

Pencil;  $5\frac{7}{8} \times 7\frac{5}{8}$  in.

24. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) A LANE. A man moving away down a lane bordered by pollard trees at the l.

Pencil;  $6 \times 7\frac{1}{8}$  in.

- (b) A POND. A pond bordered by thick woods, with a fence in the l. foreground.

Pencil;  $5\frac{7}{8} \times 7\frac{5}{8}$  in.

25. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) A BEND IN A ROAD. A road coming past a single elm into the foreground, with felled trees by the bank l.; woods in the distance r.

Pencil; cut at the corners;  $6 \times 7\frac{5}{8}$  in.

(b) A WAYSIDE COTTAGE. A cottage at a little distance, with a road coming beside it into the foreground, under an oak tree l. on a bank, beyond which are woods.

Pencil;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

26. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—

(a) STUDY OF A BEECH TREE. The branching stem of a beech, with the light glancing on its foliage and smooth bark.

Pencil;  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{3}{4}$  in.

(b) A LANE IN A WOOD. A lane through a wood, with a figure moving away l., and another driving two cows to the r.

Pencil, heightened with white (now gone black);  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.

27. Seven on one mount, roy., viz.:—

(a) TWILIGHT LANDSCAPE. Two figures on horseback coming along a road; a tree r.

Black chalk on grey paper, heightened with white (now gone black);  $2 \times 2\frac{5}{8}$  in.

(d) A WATERING-PLACE. Cattle descending a woody slope from the l. toward a river or pond.

Black chalk on blueish paper, heightened with white;  $2\frac{7}{8} \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  in.

(e) A BANK AND TREES. A high bank of broken ground, with trees and bushes.

Black chalk on blueish paper, heightened with white;  $2\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  in.

(f) THE MARKET WAGGON. A cart with several figures in it, moving away towards a house r.; a tree l.

Black chalk on blueish paper, heightened with white;  $2\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  in.

(g) TRAVELLERS. Two figures on horseback, followed by one on foot, moving r., along a moonlit road.

These small sketches are probably some of those made for the series of small landscapes on glass, painted in imitation of De Louthierbourg's 'Eidophusikon.'

Nos. 23–27 were bequeathed by R. Payne Knight, Esq., 1824.

28. TREES AND RIVER. A river flowing into the foreground, with trees on either side; a church tower in the distance.

Pencil sketch; roy.,  $7 \times 8\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Presented by J. Deffett Francis, Esq., April, 1878.

29. A ROADSIDE INN. A half-ruinous-looking old inn at a little distance l.; two saddled horses standing on a road r., and a man talking to a woman and child between them and the inn.

Drawings in imitation of Gainsborough.

PORTRAIT OF A BOY. Whole length figure of a boy standing, full face, r. hand on a sword, l. hand holding hat.

Pen sketch, washed with water colours; roy.,  $5\frac{7}{8} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Presented by J. Deffett Francis, Esq., March, 1879.

LANDSCAPE WITH A CHURCH. A hollow road winding from the foreground to the r., with high tree-crowned banks r. and l., between which is a view of a church with square tower and hills in the distance; at the bend of the road, two figures and a cow.

Black chalk on grey paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{8} \times 14\frac{1}{4}$  in.

An imitation of Gainsborough's landscapes, perhaps by Sir George Beaumont.

Presented by J. Deffett Francis, Esq., December, 1874.

GANDON, James, the younger (b. about 1773). Draughtsman; born in London; son of James Gandon, the architect, who worked chiefly in Ireland.

1. KIRKSTALL ABBEY. View of the ruined abbey from a short distance outside the West front; the façade rising in sunshine against a sky of thunder-clouds and rain; in the foreground a peasant standing, near two oxen, directing a lady and gentleman who are moving towards the ruin.

Indian ink and water-colour tint; roy.,  $14\frac{7}{8} \times 13$  in.

Purchased November, 1885.

GANDY, John Peter, afterwards DEERING, R.A. (b. 1787, d. 1850). Architect; brother of Joseph and Michael Gandy; studied at the Royal Academy; worked for the Dilettanti Society in Greece, 1811–13; published with Sir W. Gell 'Pompeiana,' a standard work on Pompeii; designed Exeter Hall and other buildings; elected A.R.A. 1826; R.A. 1838; took the name of Deering 1827, owing to the bequest of an estate, to which he devoted most of his later life.

[1-13.] Drawings from the reliefs of the temple of Apollo at Phigaleia, now in the British Museum. The drawings were made at Zante, where the marbles were sold; and as all the fragments had not been finally put together, the reliefs as here given are sometimes less complete than in the drawings by Henry Corbould from the same reliefs, which are described in this catalogue under H. Corbould, No. 5, and were engraved in 'Ancient Marbles in the British Museum,' Part IV. The Museum catalogue numbers of the reliefs are added to identify each subject.

All presented by the Dilettanti Society, March, 1885.

GANTZ, John (worked about 1810–1820). Water-colour painter; known by his views in India, though it is doubtful if he ever worked there, and may only have made the views from sketches by other hands.

1. HILL FORT OF GUTTI, MADRAS PRESIDENCY; THOMAS MUNRO RECEIVING INHABITANTS. Under a tent in the foreground Munro stands, with two English officers, surrounded by Indian chiefs, and receives one of the natives who prostrates himself outside the tent; at the l., servants holding horses near a banyan tree; at the r., an elephant near a cluster of palms, with fortified hills closing the view. Signed John Gantz, del.

Pen., with Indian ink and sepia wash; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Sir Thomas Munro, b. 1761, went to India as a servant of the East India Company, worked chiefly in Madras; was in England 1807–1814, when he returned to Madras on a special commission for revising the judicial system and police department. Probably the scene here represented occurred during the carrying out of the reforms by which the powers of native local officials were much extended, and the drawing may be dated about 1815. Munro was afterwards governor of Madras.

Purchased October, 1872.

2. TEMPLE NEAR MAHABALIFOORAM, INDIA. A temple, through the roof and wall of which a tree has grown, rising near the foreground, beyond a bank that slopes from the r.; around and beyond the temple a plain, covered with bushes and palms, stretching under a cloudy sky to distant hills.

Water colours and Indian ink; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{4}$  in.

3. THE MUNTAFOM, NEAR MAHABALIFOORAM. A half-ruined building with bushes growing on its walls, partly seen in shadow at the l.; a little further off, and more to the r., a pagoda supported on four tall pillars; two native women, with pitchers, approaching from a gate in the wall beyond, over which appears thick jungle.

Water colours and Indian ink; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{4} \times 17\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Nos. 2 and 3 were purchased July, 1878.

4. TEMPLE AT MAHADALIFOORAM. A rocky valley, filled with thick woods; at the r. a sheer face of rock casting a shadow over the foreground, where two natives stand talking among scattered boulders and bushes; beyond the dense woods in the hollow rise sheer cliffs in sunshine with a ruined temple at the edge of them.

Water colours and Indian ink; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{8}$  in.

Purchased June, 1879.

GARDINER, William Nelson (b. 1766, d. 1814). Engraver, painter and bookseller; born at Dublin, worked in London as portrait painter, scene painter, and with more success as an engraver in Bartolozzi's manner; afterwards became a bookseller; committed suicide.

1. PORTRAIT OF ROBERT SHIRLEY; AFTER VANDYCK. Whole length in Persian dress, standing before a curtain; the face full.

Water colours and body colours, highly finished; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.

2. PORTRAIT OF TERESIA SHIRLEY; AFTER VANDYCK. Whole length, seated towards the l. on cushions in Persian dress; the face in three-quarters, eyes full; a landscape with buildings behind r., curtain l.

Water colours and body colours, highly finished; roy.,  $12 \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Robert Shirley, called Sir Robert Shirley, b. about 1581, entered the service of the Shah of Persia 1599; married Teresia, a Circassian of noble birth, with whom he twice visited Italy, Spain, and England as Persian envoy; died 1628 in Persia. Vandyck painted him and his wife at Rome, 1622. The pictures are at Petworth.

Nos. 1 and 2 were purchased April, 1860.

3. VIEW OF ST. PAUL'S FROM SOUTHWARK. View of St. Paul's across the river from a road leading to the river bank; at the l. a coach stopping under a row of willows by some sheds; at the r. a row of houses, with a man and woman walking past them; in the centre, at the end of the road, a toll house and gate, and a chaise going down to the river

Body colours; oval; roy.,  $6\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

GASCAR, Henri (b. 1635, d. 1701). Portrait painter; born at Paris, came to England about 1674, was patronized by the Duchess of Portsmouth and for a few years enjoyed immense vogue; returned to Paris 1680, and died at Rome. Some of the earliest mezzotints are after his portraits.

1. CUPID HOLDING A DOVE. Half length figure of Cupid holding in his hands a dove which tries to escape. A dark background of trees.

Oils on paper; roy.,  $4\frac{3}{8} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased June, 1881.

GAYWOOD, Richard (worked about 1650–1680). Etcher, engraver and draughtsman; pupil of Hollar, in whose style he worked; produced many portraits and frontispieces to books; engraved a number of plates of birds and animals after his friend Francis Barlow.

1. PORTRAIT OF JOHN BROWNE, MAKER OF MATHEMATICAL INSTRUMENTS. Whole length figure of Browne, standing with his hat on in an archway, ornamented above by garlands; he holds a compass in one hand and square in the other; prisms on the ground and on a table by him.

Indian ink; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Etched by the artist. The etching is mounted with the drawing.

2. DESIGN FOR THE FRONTISPIECE OF A BOOK. A panel, left blank for the title, surrounded by compartments, two on each side, and one below; at the top a globe in a niche ornamented with garlands; at the l. Asia and America, at the r. Europe and Africa, each in a compartment, and represented by female figures, attended by animals, typical of the four continents, the elephant, camel, horse, and lion; below, a rhinoceros and elephant in a landscape with a palm tree.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

GEDDES, Andrew, A.R.A. (b. 1783, d. 1844). Painter and etcher; born and educated in Edinburgh, came to London 1806, and studied at the Royal Academy; worked at Edinburgh for a few years from 1810, but finally settled in London; elected A.R.A. 1832; painted subject pictures and excellent portraits, but is better known by his fine etchings and dry points.

1. PORTRAIT OF PIETER DE LAER AFTER THAT ARTIST. Head and shoulders, in full face. Inscribed P. de Laer. From the picture in the Florentine Gallery, and signed with monogram.

Black and red chalks, and stump, on drab paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $10\frac{5}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Purchased August, 1836, with the Sheepshanks Collection.

2. MOUNTAIN LANDSCAPE. View from a hill, sloping from the r. to a copse l., of a group of mountains, with lakes at their feet, the nearest and lowest crowned by a castle tower.

Water colours over Indian ink; roy.,  $5\frac{5}{8} \times 9$  in.

Purchased June, 1869.

GEIKIE, Walter (b. 1795, d. 1837). Painter, draughtsman and etcher; born in Edinburgh; deaf and dumb almost from his birth; pupil of Patrick Gibson, exhibited at the Royal Scottish Academy from 1827, chiefly landscape with figures, but is best known by his spirited and humorous sketches and etchings of daily life in the Lowlands; elected A.R.S.A. 1831, R.S.A. 1834.

1. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

GELL, Sir William (b. 1777, d. 1836). Classical archæologist; born in Derbyshire and educated at Cambridge; studied at the Royal Academy; visited the Troad 1801, and published, 1804, 'The Topography of Troy,' a volume followed by others on Ithaca, Greece, and the Morea; sent out to Greece and the Levant, 1811, by the Dilettanti Society; in Italy from 1820 till his death, publishing works on Pompeii and on the topography of Rome during this period.

The following large collection of topographical drawings was left by Gell to his friend the Hon. Keppel Craven, who bequeathed them to the Museum. The views are inscribed in nearly all cases with memoranda indicating landmarks and ancient sites. Gell's spelling of modern names, though intentionally not always consistent, has been retained.

PACKET containing about seventy views, mostly rough pencil sketches, a few in water colours, in Greece and Asia Minor. Nearly all of these appear to be by Gropius, English Consul at Athens, but belong to Gell's Collection, and are therefore retained with his drawings.

The whole of Gell's collection of topographical drawings were bequeathed by the Hon. Keppel Craven, March, 1853.

GENDALL, John (b. 1790, d. 1865). Painter; born in Devonshire; worked in London for Ackerman, the publisher; afterwards at Exeter, painting landscapes, chiefly in oils.

1. A DEVON STREAM. A stream coming down a wooded hill and breaking over a slope in a waterfall in the foreground; a fisherman on the r. bank above the fall. Indian-ink sketch on drab paper, heightened with white; cut at the top corners; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Presented by J. Deffett Francis, Esq., March, 1882.

GENT, G. W. (worked about 1804–1822). Landscape painter; biography unknown.

1. PART OF HIGH STREET, OXFORD, AND MAGDALEN COLLEGE TOWER. View looking down a street, towards the High Street, with the tower rising above the houses r.; trees l., figures on the r. pavement, an unharnessed carriage and two road-menders in the foreground. Signed G. W. Gent and inscribed High St. Oxford with Magdalen Coll. Tower.

Pencil, partly tinted in Indian ink and water colours; roy.,  $10\frac{7}{8} \times 9\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Purchased June, 1868.

GEORGE, Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV. (b. 1762, d. 1830). King of England; while Prince of Wales was identified with the Whig party, and opposed his father; became Regent 1811, and King 1820; distinguished among other things by his love of dress and the extent of his wardrobe.

1. SKETCH FOR A COSTUME. A whole-length figure in a yellow Hussar uniform, one hand resting on a jewelled sword, the other in a flowered blue sash.

Inscribed on the original mount Given to me August 1783 by J. Nevenham. A drawing made by the Prince of Wales as a pattern for a masquerade dress in which he intended to have appeared on his Birthday. The Prince came of age in August 1783.

Water colours and Indian ink; roy.,  $9\frac{5}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Purchased May, 1857, at the McIntosh sale.

GERBIER, Sir Balthasar (b. about 1591, d. 1667). Painter, architect, and courtier; born at Middelburg, son of a French Protestant; learnt drawing and architecture in Gascony; came to England 1618; drew portraits and designed fortifications and mines for the Duke of Buckingham; political agent for Buckingham and afterwards for Charles I.; opened an Academy at Bethnal Green, 1649; in Holland and America 1652 till 1661, when he returned to England and worked chiefly as an architect.

1. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—

d'Orange, etc., enclosed in a frame ornamented with garlands and military trophies. Above on a scroll, Vive de Nassou Anno 1616. Below, under the Prince's arms, a scroll with the verses:—

*Des plus preux qui de Mars ont conduit les cohortes
Nassou, Nassou, triomphe, invincible sans pair,
Il fait a son abort quitter villes et portes
Et paroist en bataille ainssi qu'un grand esclair.*

Signed B. Gerbier fecit.

Pen and ink highly finished;  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Maurice, Prince of Orange, b. 1567, son of William the Silent, was Stadtholder of the Netherlands, and continued his father's struggles against Spain throughout his life with varying success, but with a military ability which made him one of the most famous generals of his time. It was through him that Gerbier came to England in the year when this drawing was made.

Purchased February, 1862.

- (b) FREDERICK V., KING OF BOHEMIA. T.Q.L., standing by a table on which is his helmet; the face in three-quarters, turned r., and eyes full. In an oval enclosed by a frame of ornamental scroll work. Signed Gerbier fe.

Pen and ink, highly finished;  $6 \times 5$  in.

Frederick, b. 1596, succeeded his father 1610 as Elector Palatine; married, 1613, Elizabeth, daughter of James I.; chief of the Protestant union; became King of Bohemia 1619, but was driven from his kingdom 1620 by the Emperor Ferdinand, and, after many wanderings, died 1632. Prince Maurice of Orange was his uncle, Prince Rupert his son.

Purchased June, 1854.

2. DOOR AT HAMPSTEAD MARSHALL. A door with a window on either side. Inscribed at the top in a later hand, The doore of the Portico betwixt the stair-cases at Hamptid Marshal 1672.

Pen and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Hampstead Marshall was Lord Craven's house in Berkshire, for which Gerbier supplied the designs in 1662.

Purchased June, 1881.

GIBBONS, Grinling (b. 1648, d. 1720). Wood-carver and statuary; born at Rotterdam, of Dutch origin; worked at wood-carving in London, and later at Deptford, where John Evelyn discovered him 1671 and became his patron; from this time onward produced an immense quantity of work, much of it carried out by others under his directions; carved decorations for numerous noblemen's houses, and for many of Wren's buildings, including the choir stalls in St. Paul's; distinguished also for his portrait medallions and for his sculptures in marble and bronze; master-carver in wood to the crown from Charles II.'s to George I.'s time.

1. STUDIES FOR THE STATUE OF JAMES II. AT WHITEHALL. Two whole-length studies for the statue of James II. in Roman dress, holding a baton in the r. hand. The first study shows the figure as in the statue, the second shows it in a different attitude, with the l. hand extended and the other holding the baton a little behind. Signed G. G., but the signature appears doubtful.

Pen and sepia wash; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.

The statue, in bronze, was erected in the inner court behind the Banqueting Hall of Whitehall Palace, December 31, 1686. It was removed in 1897 to the garden south of the Banqueting Hall, facing the street.

Purchased June, 1889.

GIBBS, James (b. 1682, d. 1754). Architect; born and educated at Aberdeen; studied architecture at Rome, under Fontana; returned 1709 and worked chiefly in London, where his principal work is St. Martin's in the Fields, till his death; best known by the Radcliffe Library at Oxford; designed also many monuments, and published two books containing the drawings for his works; one of the finest of English architects since Wren.

1. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR A CHAIR. Side and back view of a carved armchair, the back carved in imitation of a scallop shell.
Pen with Indian-ink wash;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 7$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A LOOKING-GLASS FRAME. Design for carved frame and pedestal, with scallop ornament, for an oval looking-glass. With alternative design for the upper part, without glass.
Pen with Indian-ink wash;  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  in.
Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

After James Gibbs.

ST. MARTIN'S IN THE FIELDS. A near view of the church from the S.W. in Trafalgar Square. A few figures in the portico and in the street. Inscribed J. Gibbs, Arch<sup>t</sup>. MDCCXX.

Water colours and Indian ink; imp.,  $20\frac{1}{4} \times 14\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Purchased July, 1878.

The church was begun in 1722 and consecrated 1726.

This drawing was made about 1815–20, either from the church itself or from one of Gibbs's designs. There is a south-west view of the church in Gibbs's Book of Architecture, but taken from a rather different angle.

GIBSON, John, R.A. (b. 1790, d. 1866). Sculptor; born near Conway; learnt carving in wood and later in marble at Liverpool; exhibited at the Royal Academy, 1816–64; went to Rome 1817, and worked there till his death, except for brief periods in England, where he made a statue of the Queen, partly coloured; best known by his tinted statue of Venus; elected A.R.A. 1833, R.A. 1838.

1. PSYCHE BORNE BY ZEPHYRS. Borne towards the l., Psyche rests on the arms of the young Zephyrs, with her hands upon their shoulders. Signed J. Gibson invent., and inscribed in pencil above, Psyche carried by Zephyrus. With gliding motion thro' the yielding air To pleasure's blooming isle their lovely charge they bear. Mrs. Tighe's Psyche; and below, 2 feet 8 inches long, 2 feet 5 inches broad. It is meant to be like a picture to hang on the wall.

Pen and ink; roy.,  $10 \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

A relief of this subject was exhibited by Gibson at the Royal Academy in 1816; another Psyche and Zephyrs was executed 1821–22 for Sir George Beaumont. This is probably a drawing for the earlier work.

Purchased October, 1858.

2. A BACCHANAL; AFTER AN ANTIQUE RELIEF. Bacchus leaning on the shoulder of a Faun; two women, one on either side, playing on cymbals and pipe; a faun holding a great vase l.; a little satyr, a child and a panther among the other figures.

Sepia wash, with pen outlines; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{3}{4}$  in.

The original marble bas-relief is in the Naples Museum. There is an engraving of it in Musco Borbonico, III., pl. 40.

Purchased August, 1875.

3. CHRIST BLESSING LITTLE CHILDREN: DESIGN FOR A RELIEF. Christ, seated at the r., blesses a kneeling child, behind whom kneels its mother, with a baby in her arms; from the l. come a woman leading her boy, a man with a child on his shoulder, and a third woman holding a baby and followed by a girl. Enclosed in an outline border and signed on the margin, I. Gibson invt. Romæ.

Pencil and red chalk outline, with sepia wash; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 17\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Doubtless a design for the relief of this subject executed 1862 for Mr. Sandbach; Gibson's only attempt at a Scriptural subject.

Purchased May, 1885, at the Cheney sale.

4. MOTHER AND CHILD. A woman in diaphanous flowing robe, walking towards the r., and kissing, with head thrown back, the boy she holds on her shoulder. Signed, within a gold outline border, J. Gibson, Rome.

Pen outline and sepia wash; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 4$  in.

Purchased July, 1885.

5. PORTRAIT STUDY OF JOHN KEMBLE. Head in profile, looking l. Signed John Gibson.

Pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 9$  in.

6. STUDIES FOR A PORTRAIT OF JOHN KEMBLE. Three studies, one nearly in full face, looking up, the others in profile, looking l.

Pencil sketches; roy.,  $14\frac{3}{8} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.

John Kemble, born 1757, younger brother of Mrs. Siddons, was educated at Douay, but took early to the stage, and soon won reputation in the provinces; appeared first in London 1783, as Hamlet at Drury Lane, of which he was manager till 1802; from 1803 to 1817 played at Covent Garden; a stately rather than impassioned actor, he excelled in classical parts, especially Coriolanus; died 1823.

Nos. 5-6 were purchased May, 1894.

GIBSON, Patrick (b. about 1782, d. 1829). Landscape painter, etcher and writer on art; pupil of Alexander Nasmyth; worked in London and Edinburgh, painting landscapes in oil and water colours; foundation member of the Scottish Academy, 1826.

1. ALBUM containing views in the Farøe Islands, all in water colours, some with body colours added. These drawings were made by Gibson in 1812, when he visited the islands in the company of Sir G. S. Water colours and pen; roy.,  $4 \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

27. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) FLINT CASTLE. The coast of the Dee estuary stretching l. to the distant castle on its low headland; some fishermen, with a horse, on the beach; beyond, a group of fishing-boats.
Water colours;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.

(b) A VILLAGE STREET. View down a village street, which curves away to the r., the church tower showing beyond the houses.
Water colours;  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Nos. 26 and 27 were presented by John Henderson, Esq., January, 1863.

28. KNARESBOROUGH CASTLE, YORKSHIRE. A near view of the ruined keep on its rocky height, rising against a dappled sky.
Water colours; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$  in.

No. 28 bequeathed by John Henderson, Esq., December, 1878.

29. DR. MONRO'S HOUSE AT FETCHAM. View of the stone, two-gabled house-front from the garden lawn, on which a man is rolling the grass; trees at the sides of the house and behind it. Signed Girtin.

Water colours; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 14\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Dr. Monro, whose portrait by John Henderson is described below, had a country house at Bushey as well as at Fetcham, and a town house in Adelphi Terrace, where the young water-colour painters, Girtin, Turner, De Wint, Cotman, and others, were welcomed and encouraged. There is a duplicate or copy of this drawing in South Kensington Museum, formerly in Dr. Percy's collection.

Purchased August, 1890.

Pencil, partly washed with water colour; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Purchased December, 1859.

[31-36.] Studies for Girtin's panorama of London. The panorama is said to have been painted in 1797-8. It was taken, according to some accounts, from the top of the Albion Mills, part of which was represented in it; according to others, from the top of Sir Ashton Lever's Museum, which had been sold by lottery, and removed from Leicester House to the Rotunda, on the south side of Blackfriars Bridge. In any case the locality is the same. The horizon was semicircular. The panorama was exhibited at Spring Gardens, and after Girtin's death was taken to Russia.

The following six studies, which embrace the whole horizon of the work, are arranged according to Francia's rough print of the panorama, beginning at the l. or west. The print is mounted with the drawings.

31. WESTMINSTER AND LAMBETH. View over the roofs of Lambeth to Westminster Abbey, Hall, and bridge; Lambeth Palace and windmills further l., and the four pinnacles of St. John's Church between.
Water colours; imp.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{3}{4}$  in.
32. THE THAMES FROM WESTMINSTER TO SOMERSET HOUSE. View up the Thames to Charing Cross; Somerset House and St. Mary-le-Strand r., the Shot Tower and wharves on the Surrey side in the foreground l.
Water colours; imp.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 21\frac{1}{2}$  in.
33. THE THAMES FROM THE TEMPLE TO BLACKFRIARS. View across the river to Temple Gardens, with wharves and warehouses on either side.
Water colours; imp.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 19$  in.
34. BLACKFRIARS BRIDGE AND ST. PAUL'S. View of St. Paul's across Blackfriars bridge and the river.
Pen, pencil, and monochrome wash; imp.,  $14 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This drawing is squared out for enlargement, and there is other evidence of its having been used in painting the panorama, in spots of distemper dropped on the paper.
35. THE THAMES FROM BLACKFRIARS TO LONDON BRIDGE. The city with its rows of wharves, and its steeples shewing white against the smoke and turbid sky; London Bridge at the r.
Water colours; imp.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  in.
36. THE ALBION MILLS AFTER THE FIRE. The gutted shell of the Albion Mills, with a street in the foreground, and a view over houses r. to the green distant hills.
Water colours; imp.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
The Albion Flour Mills were destroyed by fire, 1791. Pen drawings of this view and of No. 3t are in Mr. George Girtin's collection.
37. GREAT HALL, CONWAY CASTLE. Interior of the moss-grown ruin, with roofless arches over head and a round turret seen above and beyond.
Water colours; imp.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
38. KIRKSTALL ABBEY, YORKSHIRE. View looking down on the Aire winding through its moorland valley; the ruins of the abbey at the r. a little above the river's bank, the roofs and smoke of Kirkstall village at its farthest bend; in the foreground a woman on a horse talking to another woman, other figures near a farm r., and two on horseback going down from the farm to a barn by the water's edge; heavy clouds moving away over the distant hills. Signed Girtin.
Water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.
39. NEAR BEDDGELEERT. A valley and stream winding away from the level foreground into the heart of the mountains; Snowdon rising l. from lower spurs, some in light, some in shadow, under heavy rolling clouds.
Water colours; imp.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 17$  in.
40. RICHMOND BRIDGE, YORKSHIRE. A near view of the bridge; two broad arches crossing the rocky stream of the Swale, which flows into the foreground, and framing a group of cottages and a water mill beyond; on the bank r., under the bridge, two women washing clothes; other figures further off, near the cottages.
Water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.
41. ABBEY OF LINDISFARNE. Interior of the sunlit ruin, looking W. from the choir, the arch connecting the central tower and the nave alone standing, a fragile remnant against the sky; the floor mounded up with earth, on the slope of which are two donkeys; nearer, a peasant going to drive the donkeys with a stick, and a cow coming down into the foreground.
Water colours; imp.,  $20\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{8}$  in.
42. EGGLESTON ABBEY, DURHAM. The ruined abbey l., standing in a golden ray of sunset, on the top of grassy, partly wooded heights, seen from the opposite bank of the river, which flows among rocks into the foreground; both shores thickly grown with trees, and two figures on a spit running into the stream from the l. Signed Girtin.
Water colours; imp.,  $11\frac{1}{4} \times 16\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Engraved by S. Middiman.

43. OLD OUSE BRIDGE, YORK. View of the bridge from the river, with chapel and houses built over its further arches r.; in the foreground a barge, lowering its mast to pass beneath the bridge.
Water colours; imp.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
44. OUSE BRIDGE, YORK. View looking across the river from one bank to the other, with the bridge l., and an open beach between the buildings at its further end and the houses at the r.; two washerwomen by the water in the foreground, and figures on the opposite bank, near which two boats are moored, and on the bridge.
Water colours; imp.,  $8 \times 18\frac{1}{2}$  in.
A much earlier drawing than the preceding, in a lighter and colder key of colour, more akin to Turner's early works.
No. 44 was bequeathed by John Hendersen, Esq., December, 1878.
45. KIRKBY PRIORY, NEAR MALHAM, YORKSHIRE. Two buildings, the remains of the priory, forming an angle, with a broad farmyard in front and a cottage adjoining l.; a cow and two calves at the angle of the buildings, and two boys and a woman carrying pitebers in the foreground; at the l. a path going up behind the cottage, past some trees, to a bare hill.
Water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
46. SAINT ANNE'S GATE, SALISBURY. The gate and buildings adjoining seen r. from the street, which curves away past the gate to the r., bordered l. by old houses; two carts in the road, and nearer, in the foreground, groups of country people and three pack horses.
Water colours, unfinished (the figures partly coloured); imp.,  $13 \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Said to be the last drawing made by Girtin, 1st November, 1802; he died on the 9th.
47. VIEW FROM THE WINDOW OF THE OLD TOY INN, HAMPTON COURT. View across the river to a row of old houses, lining the r. bank, with trees among them; at the l. a wooded islet.
Water colours; imp.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
48. TURNER'S FARM, NEAR SAFFRON WALDEN, ESSEX. A thatched, irregular, two-gabled house at the l., with trees on either side of it, facing a road, which comes into the foreground past a tree r.; a man seated r. by the roadside; two girls by the house, and a cow further off.
Water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This farm belonged to the Girtin family. Mr. G. Girtin has a similar drawing.
49. MANOR HOUSE, RICHMOND, YORKSHIRE. A Tudor house with two wings, connected by a gallery and arcade; in the foreground two cows and a man with a milk pail, a woman feeding chickens, and two pigs.
Water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{1}{2} \times 18$  in.
50. CONWAY CASTLE. The castle seen from the sea, backed by dark hills and distant mountains under a showery sky. Signed Girtin.
Water-colour sketch, unfinished; imp.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  in.
51. DURHAM CATHEDRAL. The cathedral on its height at the r. above trees, seen from the river below; beyond the cathedral l., part of the castle, and lower down a glimpse of the bridge; two men in a punt in the foreground.
Reproduced by the Art for Schools Association, 1894.
52. JEDBURGH ABBEY. A near view of the west front of the ruined abbey, with a thatched building abutting on it l., over which appears the central tower and the perspective of the nave; a man with a dog talking to a woman in the foreground r., two women and a child further off; a man chopping wood and a woman and a boy by the cottage l. Signed Girtin.
Water colours; imp.,  $18\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Nos. 31-52, with the exception of No. 44, were presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., February, 1855.

53. RYE, SUSSEX. The town on its hill, dominated by the church, rising dark against a fading sunset, seen from the flat meadows across the river.
Water colours; imp.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 18\frac{3}{4}$  in.
54. INTERIOR OF CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL. View looking up one of the aisles, with the nave r.; a few figures in the foreground.
Water colours; imp.,  $16 \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Nos. 53 and 54 were bequeathed by John Henderson, Esq., December, 1878.
55. CAYNE WATERFALL, NORTH WALES. A cascade pouring down a broken slope of rock into a pool at the r., whence the water comes foaming among great stones into the foreground; trees and bushes, lightly sketched with the pen, scattered about the slopes.
Water colours and reed pen, only partly coloured; atl.,  $19\frac{1}{2} \times 23\frac{1}{2}$  in.
What seems to be an elaborated copy of this drawing, by James Ward, R.A., is in the department. See under Ward.

56. BRIDGENORTH, SHROPSHIRE. A near view of the six-arched bridge with its toll-house built over one of the buttresses towards the r., and the town beyond rising l. on a hill, the church tower prominent against the growing dawn; the houses are bathed in the blue shadows of twilight and the smoke floats above the roofs; a one-masted boat lies l. below the bridge, moored to a ring in a buttress, and a small boat close to the nearer bank, from which in the immediate foreground a man brings buckets of water, followed by a dog; on the bridge are two figures, and a woman ascends to it r. by steps from the shore. Signed and dated Girtin, 1802.

Water colours; ant.,  $24\frac{1}{2} \times 37\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Etched by F. Short in the 'Portfolio,' 1888, vol. 19.

One of the most important and magnificent of Girtin's works. A pencil study is catalogued below, No. 65.

Presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., June, 1849.

[57-83.] Monochrome and pencil studies.

57. ST. GEORGE'S ROW, TYBURN. A row of houses, with a fence in front of it, seen from the road, along which a waggon goes l.; two figures on the steps r. leading to the Row.
Pen and bistre wash; roy.,  $4\frac{7}{8} \times 7\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Girtin took a house in St. George's Row on his marriage in October, 1800. The second house from the right was Paul Sandby's, from 1777 till his death in 1809, and was much resorted to by artists.
Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.
58. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) A SHADY ROAD. A road shaded by trees, leading up to a village; a man going up the road and two children near the cottages.
Sepia over pencil;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) OUTHOUSES. A wooden shed r., another building further off, and a cart upturned l.
Sepia over pencil;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.
59. Three on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) PARK SCENE. Trees in a park.
Sepia over pencil;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) THE WILLOW. A pollard willow, with a gable end behind, and a man in the foreground walking l.
Sepia over pencil;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (c) THE WINDMILL. A road at the top of a hill, with a windmill and barn at l.
Sepia;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.

60. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) THE STREAM. A stream with a small cottage near the further bank, woods and hills behind, and two figures by the water.

Indian ink over pencil;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.

(b) A WATER MILL. A water mill seen at a little distance across the mill pond.

Indian ink over pencil;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.

61. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) A FOLDING BED. A bed in which Girtin slept when in Devonshire, turned up on its hinges.

Pencil;  $5\frac{5}{8} \times 4$  in.

(b) BROUGH, WESTMORELAND. View over a valley filled with woods to a house on a hill sloping to a plain r.; a round castle rising on a wooded height in a valley. Inscribed The house and castle very in [word cut off], Brough [the rest illegible].

Pencil; roy.,  $5\frac{5}{8} \times 8$  in.

Nos. 58–61 were presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., February, 1855.

62. INN YARD, EDGWARE ROAD, PADDINGTON. The yard of an old inn, with palings and bushes r., and a man with a pitchfork working l. Signed and dated T. Girtin, 1801.

Pencil; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{4} \times 9$  in.

63. JEDBURGH. View from a height looking down a main street to the hill country beyond; the abbey in a hollow r. Signed and dated Jedborough, Scot<sup>d</sup>, T. Girtin 1796 x 11.

Pencil; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Nos. 61 and 62 were purchased June, 1889.

64. HATFIELD HOUSE. View of the house at some distance over undulating sweeps of park.

Pencil; imp.,  $12\frac{5}{8} \times 21\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., February, 1855.

65. BRIDGENORTH; SKETCH FOR NO. 56. The same composition as No. 56, but with a few slight differences; the man is in the nearer boat instead of on the shore, and the woman at the r. is on the top of the steps. Inscribed by Girtin Bridgenorth, and by Chambers Hall Trace from Bridgenorth in Shropsh., by Girtin, for the finished drawing in the British Museum. Presented to the Museum April, 1850, by C. H.

Pencil; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 21\frac{3}{8}$  in.

[66–83.] Views in Paris. These, with others, were etched in outline on soft ground by Girtin, who coloured a set of impressions (presumably the set which, having been acquired by the Earl of Essex, and by him presented to the Duke of Bedford, is now in the library at Woburn Abbey); and from them aquatint plates were prepared and published, 1803, by Girtin's brother John. Both the outline etchings and the aquatints are in the department. Two of the subjects were painted by Girtin on a large scale as scenes for the Covent Garden Theatre; these were the Conciergerie and the Rue Saint Denis.

66. VIEW OF THE CITY WITH THE LOUVRE, FROM THE PONT MARIE. View of the Seine from the Pont Marie, with the Louvre in the distance and the towers of Notre Dame above the houses l.

Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 18\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.

67. PONT ST. MICHEL, FROM THE PONT NEUF.

Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by J. B. Harraden.

68. THE SAME SUBJECT. A more elaborate drawing.

Pen and monochrome wash; imp.,  $7 \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  in.

No. 68 was bequeathed by John Henderson, Esq., December, 1878.

69. GENERAL VIEW OF PARIS, FROM CHAILLOT. Looking up the Seine, with the dome of the Invalides r.
Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{3}{4} \times 27\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by W. Pickett.
70. VIEW OF THE PONT NEUF AND NOTRE DAME. View from the Seine bank, of the Pont Neuf and Notre Dame beyond.
Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 23\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
71. VIEW OF THE PONT NEUF AND THE MINT. From the Seine bank, looking up the river, without the cuirassiers and other figures introduced in the etching.
Pencil; imp.,  $9 \times 23\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
72. THE PONT AU CHANGE, THÉÂTRE DE LA CITÉ, AND CONCIERGERIE PRISON. View looking down the Seine, with the Pont Neuf beyond the Pont au Change.
Pencil; imp.,  $9 \times 28\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
73. THE PONT DE LA TOURNELLE AND NOTRE DAME, FROM THE ARSENAL. Inscribed with notes of colour. The etching includes more at the r. and less at the l. than this view.
Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{3}{4} \times 18\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
74. THE PANTHEON, FROM THE ARSENAL, looking across the Seine. The etching includes considerably more at the r.
Pen and pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
75. THE LOUVRE AND BRIDGE OF THE TUILERIES, FROM THE PONT NEUF. The Pont des Arts and Pont du Carrousel now intervene between these two bridges.
Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{1}{2}$  in.
76. THE TUILERIES AND BRIDGE, FROM THE QUAI D'ORSAY.
Pencil; imp.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 17\frac{3}{8}$  in.
The last two views do not appear among the etchings.
77. THE PALACE AND VILLAGE OF CHOISY. From the opposite bank of the Seine. Inscribed below View of the pallace and village of Choisy from the banks of the Seine, and above The pallace now belongs to Mr. Didier, by whom it has been in part demolished, timber cut, etc. The palace has since entirely disappeared.
Pencil; imp.,  $5\frac{5}{8} \times 18$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
78. THE WATER WORKS AT MARLY. View looking down on the Seine, with St. Germain en Laye in the distance.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by J. B. Harraden.
79. VIEW FROM THE PALACE TERRACE AT ST. GERMAIN EN LAYE, with the Aqueduct of Marly in the distance. Inscribed View taken from pallace terrace at St. Germain en Laye.
Pencil; imp.,  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 17\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by J. C. Stadler.
80. ST. CLOUD AND MONT CALVAIRE, FROM THE PONT DE SÈVE. Inscribed View of St. Cloud and Mont Calvaire, taken from le pont de Sève.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
81. WATER MILL ABOVE THE BRIDGE AT CHARENTON. Inscribed View of the water mill above the bridge at Charenton.
Etched by Girtin; aquatinted by F. C. Lewis.
A larger drawing of this subject, in water colours, has been described above, No. 21.

82. ON THE BANKS OF THE MARNE, BELOW THE BRIDGE OF CHARENTON. Inscribed View on the banks of the Marne, below the bridge of Charenton, near Paris.
Pencil; imp.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{7}{8}$  in.

Pencil; imp.,  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 18\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Nos. 66-83, with the exception of No. 68, were presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., March, 1868.

[84-105.] Drawings after Hearne, Malton, Canaletto, Piranesi, and other masters. These were made about 1793 or earlier, for Mr. Henderson the elder, who lived near Dr. Monro in Adelphi Terrace, and like him encouraged young artists to copy from his collection. Both Girtin and Turner worked in his house, and each copied there the drawings of the other's teacher, Girtin copying Malton, and Turner Dayes. Girtin's earlier preference was for Canaletto and Piranesi; Turner was attracted more by Hearne. The copies made by Turner are very close; Girtin, on the contrary, could not conceal his own individual style.

After George Morland.

84. 'DOGS HESITATING ABOUT THE PLUCK.' Two dogs, one covering the pluck of a hare with his forefeet, the other standing over him.
Water colours; roy.,  $9\frac{5}{8} \times 12\frac{5}{8}$  in.

After Richard Wilson, R.A.

85. IN THE VILLA ADRIANA. A house l. built on the top of old brick arches; two figures r. by a stream, and trees beyond.
Water colours; roy.,  $8 \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.

After Thomas Hearne.

86. GATE OF ST. EDMUND'S BURY ABBEY, SUFFOLK, with trees l. and a man leading a horse in the foreground.

Nos. 2-9 were purchased February, 1880. Formerly in the Esdaile Collection.

10. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) A FARM HOUSE. A farm house, with a pond in front and trees on either side of the pond; in a border.
Black chalk and Indian-ink wash;  $5 \times 7\frac{7}{8}$  in.
- (b) LANDSCAPE WITH POOL. A pool shaded on each side by trees, with open country beyond; in a border. Inscribed S. Gribelin Da Rubens.
Black chalk and Indian-ink wash;  $4\frac{5}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased May, 1880, at the Yorke sale.

These two drawings have been attributed to Gribelin on the strength of the inscription, but they do not recall Gribelin's style, and are so closely in the manner of J. B. C. Chatelain (see Vol. I., p. 207) as to make it probable that they are his work.

GRIFFIER, Jan (b. 1645, d. 1718). Painter and etcher; born at Amsterdam; pupil of R. Rughman, influenced by Ruysdael, Saftleven and the other Dutch landscapists; came to England about 1666, and was noted for riverside London views taken from a yacht on which he lived; painted also landscape compositions, and made some etchings; after amassing wealth, sailed to Holland and was shipwrecked, but remained there ten years; returned to England and died at Millbank.

- I. LANDSCAPE WITH RIVER. A meadow bordering a stream, with a broken willow in the foreground r., and a fallen trunk lying along the bank; on the further shore, clumps of trees and a road winding up a hill to a village.
Black chalk on blueish grey paper; imp.,  $15\frac{3}{8} \times 22\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Purchased July, 1878.

GRIFFITH, Moses (worked about 1769-1809). Draughtsman and engraver; born in Carnarvonshire; employed by the antiquary Pennant on his tours, from about 1769, to make drawings and engravings; employed also by Francis Grose.

- I. KENILWORTH CHURCH IN 1776. View of the west end of the church from the churchyard; houses beyond the churchyard l.; in the foreground r. an old couple seated under a tree.
Indian ink tinted with water colours; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Engraved by T. Cook, without the tree or figures, and published in the Gentleman's Magazine, August, 1787, Vol. LVII., p. 657.
Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale. Formerly in Samuel Redgraves' collection.

GRIGNION, Charles, the Elder (b. 1717, d. 1810). Engraver; born in London, son of a Frenchman; pupil, with Gainsborough, of Gravelot in London, and of Le Bas in Paris; worked under Gravelot, then under Scotin, then (about 1738) on his own account; greatly employed for book illustrations, till superseded in old age by the younger generation of engravers; died in poverty. (See note on the portrait of Grignon by Uwins, described under Uwins' name.)

1. STUDY OF A GENTLEMAN, SEATED. A man, wearing a hat, seated on a chair, directed l., with r. hand held open before him as if conversing.

Black chalk and stump on blue-grey paper, heightened with white; roy., 12 × 10 in.

Apparently a study made at the same time, and from the same sitter, as the drawing by Gravelot (No. 1). This drawing was formerly ascribed to Gainsborough, but comparison with the following authenticated drawing and others in private hands shows it beyond doubt to belong to Grignon.

Presented by Chambers Hall, Esq., June, 1851.

2. PORTRAIT OF THOMAS GRIGNION. Whole length, standing directed to front, head nearly in profile, looking r.; wearing hat and sword; l. hand thrust in waistcoat. Inscribed on the back, Thos. Grignon of Great Russell St., Covent [Garden]. Drawn by Chas. Grignon, Senr, 1737, on Thomas's return from Paris, Aged 24 years.

Black chalk and stump on blue-grey paper, heightened with white; roy., 13½ × 7½ in.

Thomas Grignon was a well-known watchmaker in Covent Garden, brother of Charles Grignon the elder, and father of Charles Grignon the younger.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

3. PORTRAIT OF CAPTAIN RICHARD TYRRELL, R.N. Head and bust directed somewhat to the r., face turned nearly full, eyes full, wearing uniform, and with hat under l. arm.

Pencil; roy., 8½ × 6¾ in.

Richard Tyrrell is remembered by a naval action in which, with the Buckingham, of 65 guns, he fought the Florissant, of 74 guns, and two large frigates. He was made admiral, 1762; died at sea, 1766.

Purchased October, 1870.

If it were not for the dates, it would be mere natural to attribute this drawing to the younger Grignon; if by him, it must have been done after Tyrrell's death from another portrait; if it is by the elder Grignon, his style must have changed considerably from the early style of the two drawings first described.

GRIGNION, Charles, the Younger (b. 1754, d. 1804). Painter; born in Covent Garden; nephew of the preceding artist; pupil of Cipriani, and one of the earliest students at the Royal Academy; painted portraits and a few mythological pieces; worked in London till 1782, afterwards at Rome; died at Leghorn.

1. PORTRAIT OF CAPTAIN GEORGE FARMER, R.N. Half-length, directed to front, leaning with l. arm on rock, and with r. hand holding sword across the body, the face in three-quarters, looking r.

Black and white chalk and stump on drab paper; roy., 15¾ × 12¼ in.

Engraved in mezzotint by John Murphy. The picture was painted in 1778, and is now in the possession of Mr. Henry Taylor, of Curzon Park, Chester. George Farmer, b. 1732, served with distinction in the navy, and crowned his career, October, 1779, by dying in action after a memorable fight off Ushant with a French frigate, in which his own ship blew up. His son was made baronet in recognition of his services.

GRIMM, Samuel Hieronymus (b. 1734, d. 1794). Water-colour painter; born at Burgdorf, near Berne; son of a miniature painter; came to England and worked here till his death; exhibited at the Royal Academy from its foundation; painted figure subjects of all kinds, but is best known for his excellent topographical drawings, of which he made many for Sir R. Kaye in Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire, and for Sir W. Burrell in Sussex; these large collections are now in the Department of Manuscripts in the British Museum.

1. OLD BLACKFRIARS BRIDGE, 1768. View of the stone bridge, still uncompleted, from a landing stage near the Temple, St. Paul's rising above the houses at the l.; in the foreground, watermen banding two ladies and gentleman into a boat, other boats putting off, a barge on the river r., and a woman and child with a man on the stairs l. Signed and dated S. H. Grimm fecit, 1768.
Water colours and Indian ink; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Purchased June, 1865.
2. LANDSCAPE COMPOSITION. A cowherd piping to his wife and child, with a shepherd listening under trees on the shores of a lake l., his cows standing near in the water; beyond the trees, cliffs and a waterfall and a round temple. Signed and dated, on a monument in the foreground, S. H. Grimm fecit, 1768.
Water colours and Indian ink, with pen outlines; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 9\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Purchased March, 1867.
3. A PARK SCENE. A group of two ladies and a man seated on the grass, and another man standing and pointing out a row of great elms, which recedes into the distance l.
Water colours and Indian ink, with pen outlines; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Purchased March, 1868.
4. THE ENCHANTRESS' CAVE. View from within a cave, the enchantress standing at its mouth with an armed knight, to whom she points out a crowd of demons issuing from clefts in the rock above with weapons and furious gestures; the knight's horse, held by his page, r., outside, kicks wildly at the apparitions; beyond the cave's mouth, a stream, and on the further side groups of lovers on lawns, under groves, or in boats, with Cupids hovering over them, and temples rising on wooded slopes. Signed and dated S. H. Grimm fecit, 1765.
Indian ink, with sepia in foreground, and pen outlines; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This drawing has been called 'Scene from Orlando Furioso,' but does not seem to correspond with any actual passage in Ariosto's poem, though similar scenes occur in the magical abodes of Logistilla and Melissa.
Purchased at the Percy sale, May, 1890.
5. HAYMAKERS IN A VILLAGE. A stream flowing out into the foreground, which it divides; houses r. and l., and between them a view of old buildings backed by a church spire, and hilly, wooded country beyond; haymakers loading a cart l., while an old woman beats a lazy boy who lies on a bench by the house, frightening two pigs and two children who are near; at the r., a haycart being driven across a little bridge over a stream, followed by men and girls, at one of whom a woman throws a pail of water; other women at the doors of the houses r., and a man smoking in his porch. Signed and dated S. H. Grimm fecit, 1776.
Body colours; imp.,  $13\frac{1}{8} \times 19\frac{1}{4}$  in.
6. FRIAR BACON'S STUDY, OXFORD. The octagonal building associated by tradition with Roger Bacon, seen beyond a water-mill across the river, which flows from the l. foreground under Folly bridge r., a large lowering sail to pass under the bridge; two men with a clothes-basket in the r. foreground, two other figures on the bridge.
Water colours and body colours; imp.,  $13 \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.
The building has now entirely disappeared.

7. THE SOLDIER'S RETURN. In a village street, with the workhouse r., and an inn with the sign of the Chequers l., a one-legged soldier returned from the wars encounters his wife with a new mate and two strange children, while his own four boys and girls run ragged from the workhouse to greet him; a woman looks from the inn door, and a man is seen smoking in the window; and a pair of stag's horns set on a post painted with the chequers, symbolizes the situation.

Water colours and Indian ink with pen outlines; imp.,  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 20\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Nos. 5-7 were purchased October, 1862.

GRISSET, Ernest (living artist). Draughtsman and book-illustrator; of French extraction; came to London in the early sixties; worked for Dalziel Bros., illustrating a number of books with grotesque and humorous sketches, 1866-89; much of his work appeared in 'Fun.'

1. THE NUBIAN LION. A lion lying on his side, the head towards the l., with half-shut eyes. Signed Ernest Grisset, and inscribed, Nubian Lion.

Black chalk, partly washed with water colours; ant.,  $17\frac{1}{2} \times 30$  in.
Purchased August, 1880.

Reproduced in chromo-lithography by the Art for Schools Association, 1894.

GRISONI, Giuseppe (b. 1692, d. 1769). Painter; son of a Florentine artist and pupil of Tommaso Redi; employed at Rome by J. Talman, who brought him to England, 1715; worked in England, painting portraits and illustrating books; returned to Rome 1728, and died there 1769.

Signed and dated, G. G. Flo<sup>r</sup>: delin: 1722.

Water colours and body colours, and gold; (with margin)  $21\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Signed and dated, Joseph Grisoni delin. 1719.

Water colours, body colours, and gold; (with margin)  $14\frac{3}{4} \times 11$  in.

Both purchased April, 1893, in an album with similar drawings by other hands.

GROSE, Francis (b. about 1731, d. 1791). Antiquary and draughtsman; born in Middlesex, son of a Swiss; exhibited tinted drawings of architecture at the Royal Academy, 1767-77; published 'Antiquities of England and Wales,' 1773-87, 'Antiquities of Scotland,' 1789-91, and other works, containing many illustrations by himself.

1. SOUTH-WEST ASPECT OF DUDLEY PRIORY, WORCESTERSHIRE. View of the remains of the Priory, with farm buildings adjoining, seen across a stream or pond.

Indian ink, tinted in water colours, and with pen outlines; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 16$  in.
Engraved in 'Antiquities of England and Wales,' Vol. 1v.

Purchased May, 1876.

2. GWYDER BRIDGE, WALES. A three-arched bridge over a stream, with houses under a wooded hill on the further bank r., and two women and two men on the near bank.
Indian ink, tinted in water colours, and with pen outlines; roy.,  $5\frac{7}{8} \times 8\frac{7}{8}$  in.
Purchased June, 1881.
3. CASTLE CORNET, GUERNSEY. The fort on its islet, seen from a wooded shore across a strait; in the distance r., the islands of Herm and Sark, and l., on the horizon, Alderney; a frigate at anchor near the castle.
Indian ink and water colours, with pen outlines; imp.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Different from either of the two views engraved in 'Antiquities of England and Wales, Supplement,' Vol. II.
Purchased May, 1876.
4. EAST ASPECT OF CASTLE RUSHIN, ISLE OF MAN. The castle and houses around it seen from a bridge l. over a stream, which runs along the foreground; a woman and two men on the bridge.
Indian ink and water colours, with pen outlines; imp.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Engraved in 'Antiquities of England and Wales,' Vol. IV. The engraving bears the date 20th of May, 1795, and the name of S. Hooper as draughtsman. Hooper, however, was only the publisher of the work.
Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.
5. SOUTH VIEW OF ELY PLACE, HOLBORN. Courtyard, colonnade, and south side of the hall.
Indian ink, tinted with water colours;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 18$  in.
Engraved in 'Antiquities of England and Wales,' Vol. II.
6. EAST VIEW OF ELY PLACE. With the chapel at the r.
Indian ink, unfinished;  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
7. NORTH VIEW OF ELY PLACE. The chapel at the r.
Indian ink, unfinished;  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 19\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Engraved in 'Antiquities of England and Wales,' Vol. II. The print is dated May 16, 1772. Ely Place was pulled down, all except the chapel—which still exists—in 1775. Probably all these drawings were made in 1772. They were bought at Grose's sale in 1791, and are inserted in Vol. VII. of the interleaved Pennant's 'London,' bequeathed by J. C. Crowle, Esq., 1811.
8. THE WHITE TOWER OF THE TOWER OF LONDON, NORTH-WEST FRONT, 1784.
Water colours and pen sketch;  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased October, 1877.
2. INTERIOR OF ST. STEPHEN'S, WALBROOK, LOOKING E. With a man and a woman standing before the altar-piece.
Indian ink and water-colour tint; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

GYLES, Henry (b. about 1640, d. 1709). Glass painter; lived at York, and worked there, also at Oxford and Cambridge; revived the art of glass painting, which had died out in England; best known by his east window in the chapel of University College, Oxford.

1. PORTRAIT OF THE ARTIST. Head in three-quarter face, directed l., eyes full, with long curling hair; the bust lightly indicated. Inscribed, Ye effigies of Mr. Hen. Gyles the celebrated Glasse painter at Yorke.
Coloured chalks on buff paper; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{8} \times 9$  in.
Purchased February, 1852.

HAGHE, Louis (b. 1806, d. 1885). Water-colour painter and lithographer; born at Tournay in Belgium; pupil of his father, an architect, and of De La Barrière; came to England as a youth and worked here till death; distinguished first by his lithographs of foreign scenery, afterwards for his water colours, to which after 1852 he devoted himself entirely; painted chiefly historical subjects with interiors.

1. IN THE CHURCH OF ST. PAUL, AT ANTWERP. A corner in the sacristy of the church, with low vaulted ceiling, window r. above a black marble oblong basin and pump, door and steps leading upwards l. Signed L. Haghe and inscribed St. Paul Anvers 1845.
Purchased June, 1889.

HAIR, Thomas H. (worked about 1838-1849). Painter, chiefly of landscapes; exhibited at the Royal Academy and elsewhere between 1838-1849.

1. FLODDEN FIELD. English knights charging from the l. to attack the Scots army drawn up on slopes towards the r. and already engaged with the English front ranks. Above, showers of arrows fly against the cloudy sky. Inscribed Flodden, by Thos. H. Hair.
Water colours; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Purchased August, 1875.

HALFPENNY, Joseph (b. 1748, d. 1811). Topographical draughtsman and engraver; born in Yorkshire; first a house-painter, then drawing-master; worked under John Carr at the restoration of York Minster, from which he drew and engraved the 'Gothic Ornaments,' published by him 1795-1800; best known by this work and his 'Fragmenta Vetusta,' 1807.

1. LANDSCAPE WITH A MANSION IN THE DISTANCE. A river curving through meadows from the r. and flowing out again r. past a road in the foreground, on which is a man walking by a horse and cart; a group of cattle on the further bank; at a little distance a range of hills closing the view; and on the top of the ridge, towards the l., a large mansion above slopes of park. Signed and dated I. H., 1793.

Water colours; imp.,  $16\frac{3}{8} \times 22\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

HALFPENNY, William (worked about 1722-1752). Architect; published several works on architecture.

1. 'A PERSPECTIVE VIEW OF THE SUNK PIER AND THE TWO ADJOINING ARCHES AT WESTMINSTER.' Signed By Will<sup>m</sup>. Halfpenny, Architect; with explanation in MS.

Pen and sepia wash;  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 17$  in.

In Portfolio v. (No. 94) of the Crace Collection of London Views, purchased November, 1880.

HALL, George Lowthian (worked about 1856-1878). Landscape painter; worked in London; exhibited a number of pictures at the Royal Academy and elsewhere between 1856-1878.

1. HASTINGS. View from the upper part of the valley between the East and West Cliffs, looking over the roofs of the old town to the sea beyond; the church on high ground l. and two children on the grass slopes of the foreground. Signed G. L. Hall, and inscribed Hastings.

Pencil on greenish paper, heightened with white; imp.,  $13\frac{3}{8} \times 20\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

HAMILTON, Hugh Douglas (b. about 1734, d. 1806). Portrait painter; born in Dublin; pupil of James Mannin; won reputation in Dublin and afterwards in London by small crayon portraits; went to Rome 1778, and worked there for some years; afterwards painted in oils with less success, but continued in vogue; returned about 1791 to Dublin, where he died.

1. PORTRAIT OF A GENTLEMAN. Head and bust, almost in profile, directed l. and looking l., with slight smile; wearing wig. Signed H. D. Hamilton delin': 1772.

Coloured chalks; oval; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 8$  in.

Purchased February, 1888.

HAMILTON, James (b. 1819, d. 1878). Painter; born in Ireland; went young to America and worked there chiefly; in England 1854-1856; illustrated the 'Arabian Nights' and other popular works.

1. ARCTIC SCENE. An ice floe in the Polar Sea rising into a massive berg l., under which, near the foreground, a man stands with a gun; further off to the r. two other figures on the ice, and tall stakes erected at intervals between the berg and another berg in the distance; above, a dark sky flushed on the horizon.

Signed J. Hamilton.

Water colours; roy.,  $6\frac{7}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This drawing was probably made from a sketch by Dr. E. K. Kane for that traveller's 'Arctic Explorations' (Philadelphia, 1856), the illustrations in which were prepared by Hamilton; but this subject does not appear among those engraved.

HARRIS, John (d. 1834). Water-colour painter; worked in London; exhibited at the Royal Academy 1802-1815, and made some designs for illustrations; probably identical with a freemason of this name, who published some masonic subjects in lithography.

1. PORTRAIT OF DR. ADAM DONALD, CALLED THE PROPHET OF BETHELNIE; AFTER A PRINT OR PICTURE. Whole length, standing on a country road, turned to front in an uncount attitude, conical cap on head, face full. Signed and dated J. Harris Jnr. pinxt 1822, and inscribed Dr. Ad<sup>m</sup>. Donald, a prophet of Bethelnie in Scotland born Anno 1703, and with verses by Donald—

*Time doth all things devour,
And Time doth all things waist,
And we waist Time,
And so are we at last.*

Water colours; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Adam Donald (b. 1703, d. 1780), an ignorant peasant, had the wit to build up on his own grotesque figure and the superstitious of his neighbours a great name for prophecy and necromancy. There is an engraving of him from a drawing made in 1776, and this is probably a copy from the same original. A memorandum pasted on the back of the drawing says: This is the second drawing of Dr. Ad<sup>m</sup>. Donald of Scotland; the first painting was for Mr. Gordon, Aug. 1818, by Mr. J. Harris, 28 Mansion House St., Kennington, Surrey.

Purchased December, 1877.

2. ALBUM, containing 263 academical studies and studies for pictures, nearly all in black chalk on gray or drab paper, generally heightened with white. These include studies for the following pictures: 'Christ's Entry into Jerusalem' (1818), 'Pharaoh' (1825), 'Dentatus' (1808), 'Judgment of Solomon' (1813), 'Macheth' (1810), 'Lazarus' (1822), 'Romeo' (1810), 'Joseph and Mary resting on the road to Egypt' (1806), 'Penitent Girl' (1816), 'Agony in the Garden' (1821), 'Silenus,' and 'Puck.'
3. A very large album containing 264 drawings, academical studies, and studies after the antique, all in black chalk, including a number of drawings from the Elgin marbles made in 1808-1811, when the marbles were at Lord Elgin's house in Park Lane. In the controversy which arose when their purchase for the nation was being discussed, Haydon took a prominent part, and attacked with spirit and success the adverse and dis-paraging judgment of Payne Knight. The purchase by the nation was finally made in 1816. The principal studies from the Elgin marbles are as follows:
  - (1) A LAPITH, from Metope XI. of the Parthenon.
  - (2-4) HORSES of HELIOS, from the Eastern Pediment.

Attributed to Hearne.

LANDSCAPE WITH CASTLE AND CATHEDRAL. A road winding down to a river, from which rises r. a cliff, surmounted by a castle ruin; beyond the river, the high opposite bank of which is fringed with woods at the top, a town and cathedral, and in the distance a chain of hills; in the foreground, a woman with a child sitting under a group of trees growing from a rocky bank, and a man and woman talking to her; two other figures near the river.

Sepia and Indian ink, slightly tinted; imp.,  $17 \times 13\frac{3}{8}$  in.

This drawing, apparently a composition, has been ascribed to Hearne, but has no real resemblance to his style.

Purchased October, 1872.

HEATH, Charles (b. 1785, d. 1848). Engraver, etcher, and lithographer; son and pupil of James Heath the engraver; noted for his small plates in popular editions of English classics, and his portraits; less successful in large plates; in later years occupied with assistants in producing the Keepsake and other illustrated Annuals.

1. ILLUSTRATION TO OTWAY'S 'ORPHAN'; ACT IV., SC. 2. Castalio hiding his face as Monimia takes his arm and presses him to speak; Florella stands behind near a Gothic archway.

Indian ink, partly tinted in water colours; roy.,  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved by the artist as frontispiece to Vol. XII. of Mrs. Inchbald's 'British Theatre.' In the print the composition is modified in more than one respect; Castalio wears a cap and a different dress; and the background is altered. The drawing was attributed by Samuel Redgrave, in whose collection it was, to Henry Singleton, and it resembles his style. But the design is described on the engraving as drawn by C. Heath, and possibly a more practised draughtsman may have been called in to improve it by the modifications introduced.

Purchased May, 1890, at the Percy sale.

HEATH, William (b. 1795, d. 1840). Draughtsman, chiefly of military subjects; illustrated his own 'Life of a Soldier' in verse (1823), and 'Martial Achievements of Great Britain'; painted portraits.

1. SKETCH FOR A CARICATURE. Three officers of the Light Cavalry hastily beating a retreat r. before a group of ladies, one of whom holds a banner inscribed (in reverse) None but the polite deserve the Fair, preceded by a drum and fife.

HOGARTH, William (b. 1697, d. 1764). Painter and engraver; born in London; apprenticed to a silver plate engraver; designed and engraved illustrations for books from about 1720; afterwards (1727) began to paint portraits and conversation pieces in oils, and studied in the school of Thornhill, whose daughter he married; about 1731 began the first of his famous series of satirical paintings, 'A Harlot's Progress,' followed by the 'Rake's Progress' (1733), the 'Marriage à la Mode' (before 1745), and others, all in turn engraved by or under the superintendence of the artist; painted also some sacred and historical subjects, less successful than his portraits; published a number of satires designed and mostly engraved by himself, one of which, 'The Times' (1762), brought about a quarrel with Wilkes and Churchill; published The Analysis of Beauty 1753.

[1-14.] Drawings for a series of engravings called 'Industry and Idleness,' published 30th September, 1747. The prints, which were all, except one, engraved in reverse, are mounted opposite the drawings; they are all very minutely described in the catalogue of Political and Personal Satires in the British Museum, Vol. III., Pt. I., pp. 673-721. Some of these drawings are first thoughts, freely sketched; others represent more developed studies; others, again, the final design made for transfer to the copper.

Indian ink; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 14$  in.

In the print the master's face has a different expression; the torn 'Prentice's Guide' on the floor, and the ballad of 'Moll Flanders' above 'Tom Idle's' head do not appear in the drawing, and the inscription on the tankard on his loom is not simply Spittlefields but John . . . Crown a . . . in Spittlefields, probably the names of an innkeeper and inn, which it was customary to put on such pots.

2. THE INDUSTRIOUS APPRENTICE PERFORMING THE DUTY OF A CHRISTIAN. FINISHED DRAWING FOR PLATE II. The gallery of a church, probably St. Martin's-in-the-Fields; at the l. the good apprentice, leaning over the edge of a pew to look over the prayer-book of his master's daughter, near whom stands her father; a man asleep in the 'Prentices' pew, and a stout woman's face and bust appearing over the top of the one adjoining; at the r. a woman, the pew opener, sitting on a couple of hassocks; the body of the church occupies the background. Border as in the print, but with The good Prentice at church performing the duty of a Christian in the place of the verse from the Psalms.
Indian ink; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 13\frac{3}{4}$  in.
3. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE AT PLAY IN THE CHURCHYARD DURING DIVINE SERVICE. SKETCH FOR PLATE III. The 'Prentice sprawls r. on a tomb-stone gambling for coins with two loafers who lean their elbows on the tomb-stone l.; one, a shoe-black, appears to be laughing at the trick which the 'Prentice is playing on the third, who is between them, and behind whom stands a boy scratching his puzzled head; at the r., behind the 'prentice, stands the beadle with uplified cane; at the door of the church l. is a group of people; in the foreground skulls and bones round an open grave.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.
4. THE SAME SUBJECT. FINISHED DRAWING FOR PLATE III. The same composition as the preceding, but in this drawing as in the print the expression of the gamblers' faces is changed from that in the first sketch; the shoeblack has now a ruffianly and menacing air, and seems to threaten the 'Prentice; the third gambler has a patch over his eye; and the boy behind him grins. Border as in the print, inscribed The bad 'Prentice at play in the Churchyard with Pick-pockets, instead of a verse from Proverbs.

<sup>1</sup> This is the name finally adopted by Hogarth for the worthless 'prentice, as shown in Plate V. His original intention was to call him Thomas Fowler; the name occurs on two of the drawings here described, Nos. 14 and 16. The other 'prentice was called Goodchild.

Indian ink; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 13\frac{7}{8}$  in.

5. THE INDUSTRIOUS 'PRENTICE A FAVOURITE AND ENTRUSTED' BY HIS MASTER. SKETCH FOR PLATE IV. The 'Prentice standing l. by a desk with a day-book in his hand and interrupted by his master, who lays one hand on his shoulder, and with the other points to the workshop in the background; at the r. a porter arrives carrying rolls of cloth; a dog asleep at the feet of the master, under whom is written A Quaker.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

6. THE SAME SUBJECT; A MORE FINISHED DRAWING. Except for some details, this drawing corresponds with the print. The men working at the looms, the two women spinning, and the structure of the workshop are now plain; a cat takes the place of a dog, and the dog now comes with the porter, while the cat arches her back at him; the gloves on the desk are now added. The differences from the print are these. The master is still in Quaker's dress and has fuller features and a more pronounced smile than in the print; the almanack on the desk has a device of mitres and croziers instead of 'Industry and Time.'

Indian ink, with pen outlines; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

7. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE TURNED AWAY AND SENT TO SEA. DRAWING FOR PLATE V. A reach of the Thames, with windmills on the low shore l. (called Cuckold's Point), and vessels coming up stream; in the foreground the 'Prentice and his mother, with two men, in a boat sculled by a third man; one of the men points out to the 'Prentice a man hanging on the gallows on the shore, the other holds up a rope's end (not untwisted into tails as in the print). Without Idle's name on the chest, and without This Indenture on the paper he has thrown into the water. The man sculling puffs from his pipe a cloud of smoke, which does not appear in the print. Without the framing border, and inscription.

Indian ink; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

8. THE INDUSTRIOUS 'PRENTICE OUT OF HIS TIME AND MARRIED TO HIS MASTER'S DAUGHTER. STUDY FOR PLATE VI. A street near the Monument, the base of which appears in the r. distance; l. a house, at the window of which the 'Prentice, sipping tea, with his bride behind him, gives money to a bowing drummer, one of a band of drummers who are celebrating the wedding in the street; at the door of the house a footman pours a plateful of broken meat into the apron of a poor woman; in the foreground r. stands a woman half seen with a child beside her; the child carries a doll and appears to be munching a cake, while a dog looks up at her.

Pen and ink over pencil, with Indian ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

In the print two butchers are introduced among the musicians; a cripple singing a ballad is substituted for the woman and child in the foreground, though the dog remains; and the beggar woman at the door wears a hat, not a cap.

9. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE RETURNED FROM SEA AND IN A GARRET WITH A COMMON PROSTITUTE. SKETCH FOR PLATE VII. A garret of bare walls from which the plaster drops, with rent floor and stained ceiling; at the r. the 'Prentice and the prostitute in a bed broken at the foot, and sloping to the floor; Idle sits up in a shock of terror at the noise of a cat falling with some dislodged bricks down the chimney in the background; planks set slanting against the barred door indicate his fear of capture; the prostitute, who is the nearer of the two, pays no heed, lost in contemplation of an earring, one of several stolen treasures on the bed.

Pen and ink over pencil, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 11\frac{5}{8}$  in.

In the print, Idle's face is seen in three-quarters, not looking full, and his r. hand is not raised so high; at the head of the bed is a broken shield, substituted for a sword and a key; the prostitute's shoes, under the bed, are omitted; a jug and dish on the floor (roughly pencilled in the drawing) are put in, and a rat is introduced running from under the bed.

10. THE INDUSTRIOUS 'PRENTICE GROWN RICH AND SHERIFF OF LONDON. SKETCH FOR PLATE VIII. The interior of a City banqueting hall, with citizens and their wives dining at three long tables, disposed round three sides of the hall; one of the tables projects into the foreground at the l., and shows a busy group of voracious persons; Goodchild, the former 'prentice, and his wife are at the opposite table in chairs of state; at the door r. a hungry group, kept back by a beadle's mace.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This study, unlike the others, is in the same direction as the print, from which it differs in the following points:—In the print a negro servant is introduced behind the nearest table; there is only one balcony for musicians (in the drawing there are two); and the beadle is reading the address of a letter to Goodchild, brought by one of the men at the door, and holds his mace upright.

11. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE BETRAYED BY HIS WHORE AND TAKEN IN A NIGHT CELLAR WITH HIS ACCOMPLICE. FIRST SKETCH FOR PLATE IX. A cellar filled with people; in the centre foreground the 'Prentice sits with a man who wears a patch over his eye, dividing the spoils of a robbery; at the r. a huge, ill-favoured woman pours out drink for a youth beside her; two other figures, one standing, one sitting on the floor, are roughly sketched in at the extremer.; at the l. a woman seated smoking a pipe, and a soldier beside her, both on the near side of a fire, beyond which is a confused group of quarrelling people; in the background r. is a flight of stairs, on which is a freely sketched figure and indications of another above (probably the prostitute giving information to the watch).

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $10\frac{3}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{4}$  in.

The sketch differs greatly from the finished design. In the print, which is reversed, the watch descend the stairs l. with lanterns, and are received by the prostitute, who points to Idle; at the r. a man is throwing a murdered man's body down a trap; the soldier smokes with his face to the wall by the chimney, the smoking woman being absent. The group at the r. of the sketch is entirely omitted.

12. THE INDUSTRIOUS 'PRENTICE ALDERMAN OF LONDON, THE IDLE ONE BROUGHT BEFORE HIM AND IMPEACHED BY HIS ACCOMPLICE; FIRST SKETCH FOR PLATE X. Part of a court of justice; the foreground shut off by a barrier at the r., within which l. is the Alderman in magistrate's robes, with a secretary standing behind his chair; he looks with emotion on his old fellow-'prentice, who grasps the barrier, while his accomplice, l., swears against him on a book held by an attendant; at the r. of the prisoner is a group of persons, one holding up the weapons found on Idle, others bending down to speak to a clerk (?) who sits inside the barrier, turning away his head and holding up his wig as if annoyed by their importunity.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This study, as will be seen from the drawing next described, differs greatly from the completed design, especially in the conception of the alderman. The figures being so freely sketched, are not easy to identify with certainty; in particular the man seated in the foreground seems to be playing a more important part than the circumstances explain.

13. THE SAME SUBJECT; FINISHED DRAWING. The same composition with considerable changes; the Alderman turns away his head with a gesture of distress from Idle, who clasps his hands and begs for mercy; the secretary sits instead of standing; the clerk at the r. is standing instead of sitting and swears the accomplice, while with hand behind his back he takes a bribe from a woman; at the l. of the prisoner his weeping mother vainly supplicates a stout and important beadle.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

The drawing agrees entirely with the print, except that the heads in the foreground are there more defined and the beadle's hand is raised in shocked protest.

14. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE EXECUTED AT TYBURN; DRAWING FOR PLATE XI. An open space with houses l., thronged with spectators on stands projecting from the roof; the entire space is occupied by a great crowd, through which, towards the r., the 'Prentice, seated against his own coffin and holding an open prayer book, is being driven to the gallews, a triple structure rising l. above the crowd; the cart is followed by soldiers on horseback and preceded by a coach, from the window of which the Ordinary of Newgate addresses the people. In the l. foreground are two carts, the smaller and nearer containing Idle's mother (?) and a child weeping, the other a group of women drinking; in front of these carts are 'Tiddy Doll,' a seller of cakes, and a man and woman fighting over an apple barrow; in the centre a ruffian about to throw a live cur at the convict, and a woman crying The last dying speech and confession of Thomas Fowler; at the r. a soldier has plunged to the knee in the Tyburn and two boys laugh at him; other minor incidents complete the crowd.

Indian ink; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 15\frac{3}{4}$ .

The design was finally modified in the engraving by the introduction of a Wesleyan preacher sitting in the cart with the convict, and fervently exhorting him, while the Ordinary in the coach stares about him and says nothing; a wall thronged with people at the top (roughly sketched in pencil on the drawing) is also introduced; the low hills in the distance are made higher; and one of the men on the house roof is made to send off a carrier pigeon. This drawing gives the 'Prentice's name as Fowler, afterwards changed to Idle.

[15, 16.] Drawings for subjects of the same series, not engraved.

15. THE INDUSTRIOUS 'PRENTICE WHEN A MERCHANT GIVING MONEY TO HIS PARENTS. A counting-house with a gallery supported by pillars, running round it; at the r. the Merchant sits by a table and hands a bank note to his father who, with his mother, stands beside him; at the l., bales of wool and a servant busy with a weighing machine; in the gallery at the back another servant hoists a bale from below.

Pen and ink sketch, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

16. THE IDLE 'PRENTICE STEALING FROM HIS MOTHER. The outside of a cook shop kept by the Prentice's mother; he is saying good-bye to her at the door, and while he half kneels for her to kiss him he passes a pot full of victuals behind his back to a confederate; another looks round the corner of the house l.; at the r., beneath the unglazed windows, where meat and dishes are displayed, is an opened hatch disclosing a man working with a hammer just below the level of the street, and in front is a bird in a cage suspended from the window ledge. Over the shop door is a notice Roast, Boiled . . . and on the pot stolen by the 'prentice is Fowler's Cooke Shop.

Pen and ink sketch, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 11\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Nos. 1-16 were purchased July, 1896. The series was formerly in the Horace Walpole, Gye and Cheney Collections.

17. STUDY FOR A PORTRAIT GROUP OR 'CONVERSATION PIECE.' A garden terrace, with ten figures in two groups in and near the foreground; at the r. a youthful widow, seated and facing the front, takes snuff from a gentleman standing beside her chair at the extreme r. and looking across to the group at the l.; a young girl with a ball in her hand comes to the widow from the other side and touches her arm; beyond these, and almost in the centre, a lady stands holding a box from which she draws a necklace, turning her head meanwhile to a maid who puts a jewel or ribbon in her hair. At the l. a gentleman facing to the front stands holding a picture or drawing on his knee, while he turns to point out something in it to two friends behind him, one kneeling on a chair, the other standing beyond and between the two; close beside this group, r., is a boy seated on a stool caressing a dog, and looking up at the picture; behind the group, with one hand on the balustrade of the terrace, is a servant girl looking also at the picture with a gesture of lively admiration. In the background, r., a small stone sphinx terminating the downward curve of an archway unseen, and a tree beyond; at the l., a house of classical style, with pilasters, fronting r. on a sheet of water; a hill on the other shore in the distance.

Pen and ink over red chalk, washed with Indian ink and water colours; imp.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 17\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Purchased July, 1885, from the Cheney collection. Formerly in the William Russell collection. Hogarth says that after his marriage he 'commenced painter of small conversation pieces,' choosing this style from a wish to compose pictures on canvas, similar to representations on the stage. He did not long continue the painting of these subjects, though a few somewhat larger portrait groups like the 'Rich and his family,' at the Garrick Club, and the present drawing, date probably from a later period.

18. A CHRISTENING; CALLED 'ORATOR HENLEY CHRISTENING A CHILD.' A font round the further side of which stand the young mother, r., the officiating clergyman with the baby in his arms, and an older woman, l., perhaps the nurse; between and behind the two last is the clerk, seen in profile, looking l., his mouth open, like the clergyman's, as if both were repeating a prayer; the mother's eyes look to the front, the clergyman's are turned towards her, the woman at the l. is absorbed by the baby; in front a little girl, very slightly sketched in outline (with raw umber), reaches up with one hand to the font.

Oil colours on canvas; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Etched by Samuel Ireland under the title 'Orator Henley christening a Child.' A small copy was etched by Jane Ireland for 'Graphic Illustrations of Hogarth.' A whole-length figure of Henley with the baby in his arms, adapted from this study, was etched by G. Cruikshank as frontispiece to Caulfield's 'Remarkable Persons.' For a more elaborate description of this sketch see 'Personal and Political Satires in the British Museum,' Vol. III., No. 2837. For a note on Henley and his career see Vol. I. of this Catalogue, p. 132 (drawing by L. P. Boitard). A satire on Henley, called 'Oratory Chappel,' was published November, 1746, with Hogarth's name, but is not by him. The parson in Hogarth's picture, 'A Midnight Modern Conversation,' has also been identified with the 'Orator' and strongly resembles the parson of the present sketch. But the identification is not certain in either case.

Bequeathed by R. Payne Knight, Esq., 1824. Formerly in the possession of Samuel Ireland.

19. PORTRAIT STUDY OF A LADY. Bust of a lady in youthful middle age turned to front and l., with face in three-quarters looking r. over the l. shoulder; wearing a cap, and low bodice of greenish blue.
Oil sketch on canvas; roy.,  $3\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Purchased August, 1861.
20. PORTRAIT STUDY OF A LADY. A lady seated in a chair, facing l., with hands crossed on her lap; almost whole length; the head covered by a cap, coming under the chin, the face in three-quarters looking full.
Black and white chalk and stump on grey paper; roy.,  $14\frac{3}{4} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Purchased October, 1890.
21. STUDY OF A DEAD CHILD'S HEAD. Head of a dead child on a pillow, the chin towards the r.; the face surrounded by a frilled cap.
Chalks on grey paper; roy.,  $9 \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Purchased December, 1895.
22. PORTRAIT OF SIMON, LORD LOVAT. Head and shoulders, in full face, looking a little l. and talking with a smile on his broad lips.
Black and white chalk and stump on drab paper; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This seems to be a part of a larger study and was perhaps originally a whole length, like the corresponding portrait etched by Hogarth, which represents Lord Lovat seated and counting over the Highland clans on his fingers. This famous etching, published August 25, 1746, had an immense sale. An oil sketch of the portrait is now in the National Portrait Gallery.
Simon Fraser, 12th Lord Lovat, born about 1667, had an adventurous career, playing a double part almost all his life, intriguing both with the Jacobites and the government; sided against the old Pretender in 1715, but was one of the chief instigators of the young Pretender's rising in 1745, though he did not declare himself openly till after Preston Pans; was captured hiding in an island in Loch Morar, brought to London, tried, and executed on Tower Hill, April 9, 1747. It was at the White Hart Inn, St. Albans, on his way to London, that Hogarth drew his portrait, August 14, 1746. The artist is said to have known him previously and to have painted him before.
Purchased May, 1893.
23. SHEET OF SKETCHES AT LORD LOVAT'S TRIAL. In the centre at the top two studies of the Lord High Steward (Philip Yorke, Lord Hardwicke) at a table addressing the prisoner with lifted hand; opposite him, in the r. corner, Lovat standing between two warders, one hand thrust in his waistcoat, the other extended in explanatory gesture; below, a little l., a similar study in which Lovat leans forward over the barrier as he speaks, and still lower down r. another similar study, but with three guards holding axes behind the prisoner. At the l. of this last study two heralds holding maces. At the l. upper corner of the sheet a standing man; lower down a back view of the Judge or counsel, slightly sketched. Inscribed Sketches of Lord Lovat's Trial by Hogarth.

Indian ink, with a vermilion wash on the judges' robes; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{4} \times 11$  in.
Purchased August, 1842.

- [24-25.] Portrait sketches of coffee-house frequenters. Samuel Ireland, who once possessed these drawings, published aquatint engravings of them in his 'Graphic Illustrations of Hogarth,' under the title, 'Characters who frequented Button's Coffee-house about 1720,' and identified the characters with Button himself, Addison, Martin Folkes, Arbuthnot, Pope, Garth, and a Count Viviani. These drawings are undoubtedly by Hogarth; but this is all that can be said with certainty about them. The assertions of a man of such unscrupulous credulity as Samuel Ireland must be well sifted. In the first state of his engravings from these sketches he made the date 1730, and this is perhaps about the actual date to which they belong, though it is probably nearer 1740. But while publishing them as drawings of 1730, he boldly claimed to recognise in them portraits of Addison and of Garth, who both died in 1719. The famous circle at Button's broke up on Addison's death, and Pope quarrelled with Addison and his coterie in 1713. Therefore if the persons here represented are those Ireland claimed them to be, Hogarth must have drawn them when he was sixteen at most and still an apprentice to Mr. Gamble, the silver plate engraver. The mature style precludes that possibility, and the later date is confirmed by other considerations. The portrait of Count Viviani which appears in No. 25 (a) was, says Ireland, recognised by Horace Walpole, who remembered him well. As Walpole was not born till 1717, and the count is already bent with years in the drawing, if we put back the date into the second decade of the century, we must allow the latter a fabulous old age in order to make the former's acquaintance. Again, the most plausible of Ireland's identifications is that of Martin Folkes, in No. 24 (b), doubtless made on the authority of Hogarth's portrait of Folkes, painted in 1742; but in the drawing he looks little younger than in the painting, certainly not a young man of 23. Other points are noted in the comments on the drawings; but on the whole it is plain that Ireland, from a wish to make them interesting from a literary point of view, dubbed the characters as plausibly as he could, on the authority of vague and casual resemblances, and this with a headstrong indifference to dates and probabilities.

- (a) A WAITER AND A HUNGRY CUSTOMER. An old man with ragged hair, carrying a bag, and with a dog snuffing at his coat-tails, coming up from the l. to the aproned waiter, who holds a mug in one hand, while he puts out the other for the money, turning his head round r. as if to other customers. The old man clasps his stomach with one hand, and holds out a coin with the other, with an expression of fierce hunger on his face.

Indian ink and sepia;  $4\frac{3}{4} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Engraved in aquatint by S. Ireland for 'Graphic Illustrations of Hogarth,' Vol. I., p. 25. Described and annotated in 'Political and Personal Satires in the British Museum,' Vol. II., No. 1701. The waiter was said by Ireland to be Daniel Button, who opened a coffee-house in Russell Street, Covent Garden, about 1713. It succeeded to Will's, over the way, as the resort of the wits, chiefly through Addison's patronage. After Addison's death and Steele's retirement it lost its vogue.

- (b) EXAMINING A WATCH. A box in the coffee-house; a lean man sitting r., with one arm over the partition, and holding a knife in the other hand, waiting for his companion to pronounce on a watch which he is examining through an eyeglass; on the table a clay pipe, a bowl, and a watch-glass lying on a paper inscribed Votes of the Commons.

Indian ink and sepia;  $5 \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Engraved in aquatint by S. Ireland for his 'Graphic Illustrations,' Vol. I., p. 31. The man examining the watch has a decided resemblance to Martin Folkes, as he appears in Hogarth's portrait of 1742; and if this be Folkes, the drawing cannot date from much earlier than that year. The man at the r. was supposed by Ireland to be Addison; that is most improbable in any case, and if the other be Folkes, impossible. Addison was by nearly twenty years the older of the two, and died in 1719; Folkes, b. 1690, d. 1754, was President of the Royal Society.

25. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DRAUGHT PLAYERS INTERRUPTED. Two men playing draughts at opposite sides of a table, one with his back turned, the other looking up to address an old man in a cloak who comes up from the r., deprecating his intrusion with a gesture of the hand; at the l., on the further side of the table, is a slight standing figure holding a paper in his hand and looking in a nervous manner at the new-comer.

Indian ink and sepia;  $5 \times 7$  in.

Engraved by S. Ireland for his 'Graphic Illustrations,' Vol. I., p. 34. The man in the cloak is, according to Horace Walpole, as quoted by Ireland, a certain Count Viviani. Ireland called the draught-player Dr. Arbuthnot, the famous physician and wit (b. 1667, d. 1735). As no portrait of him is known, the conjecture was a safe one. The figure standing at the table has, says Ireland, 'much the countenance of Pope'; he appears again in the next drawing. The facial likeness to Pope is considerable, but the stature appears too tall and erect, and there is nothing to suggest Pope's position as the chief of English letters. He seems rather to be on the fringe of a coterie; and after his success was assured, Pope was not a frequenter of coffee-houses.

- (b) A GAME OF DRAUGHTS ENDED. Two players facing each other across a table, one with his back turned, as in the preceding drawing, and probably the same person, but now wearing his hat; opposite him is the spare little man who appears at the l. in No. 25 (a); he seems to be starting up irritated at having lost the game, while a young man in a tie-wig r. takes him by the shoulder and smilingly expostulates with him; at the l. a round-faced man in a periwig looks on, holding his cane upright on the table.

Indian ink and sepia;  $5 \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved by S. Ireland for his 'Graphic Illustrations,' Vol. I., p. 38, where one of the players is assumed to be Pope—'the peevishness and anxiety in the lineaments of the face leave no doubt of the identity'—while the man with the cane is claimed to be Dr. Garth, the poet of The Dispensary (b. 1672, d. 1719). Garth was a zealous Whig, and therefore little likely, as Ireland himself admits, to frequent the Tory haunt of Button's; moreover, the drawing must have been made after his death.

Nos. 24 and 25 were purchased at the George Smith sale, April, 1861; formerly in the collection of Samuel Ireland, who bought them from the executors of a Mr. Brent, a friend of Hogarth's.

26. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR SHOP-BILL OF BARKER'S COFFEE HOUSE. A shield surrounded by an ornamented frame, with scallop shell at the foot, and inscribed Barker's Coffee house.

Pen and ink sketch;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR AN ILLUSTRATION TO A NOVEL. A man standing under a tree r., leaning with one hand on a stick, and holding in the other a sword, with which he appears to have just disarmed a man facing him l. with one hand on his breast; in the distance two other men are engaged in animated dispute. Inscribed below with illustrative text, cut off at both ends, so as to be somewhat fragmentary in sense.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$  in.

27. SHEET OF STUDIES. Studies of a right leg standing on tip-toe, a left arm hanging straight, and a right leg seen from behind in a kneeling position; below, bust of a pagan god with two small horns growing on the top of the head; all probably studies for illustrations to the 'Analysis of Beauty,' but not used.

Pen and ink; roy.,  $13\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

28. Four on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) STUDY FOR AN ILLUSTRATION TO THE 'ANALYSIS OF BEAUTY.' A fat man's face crying out and wearing a child's cap and placed over a child's figure, seated in a chair; round him four cherubs, described by Hogarth as 'An infant's head of about two years old, with a pair of duck's wings placed under its chin, supposed always to be flying about and singing psalms; one of these has a man's face, bewigged and grimacing.

Pen and ink;  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$  in.

The child's figure was engraved by the artist, Plate I., fig. 17, of the 'Analysis of Beauty'; only one of the cherubs' heads was engraved, fig. 22. Both were to show the absurdity of unnatural combinations.

- (b) STUDY FOR AN ILLUSTRATION TO THE 'ANALYSIS OF BEAUTY.' A decoration adapted from the bones of the hip.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (c) STUDY FOR AN ILLUSTRATION TO THE 'ANALYSIS OF BEAUTY.' Decoration, adapted more freely than the last study, from the bones of the hip.

Pen and ink;  $2 \times 2\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Engraved by the artist for the 'Analysis of Beauty,' Pl. II., fig. 61.

- (d) STUDY FOR AN ILLUSTRATION TO THE 'ANALYSIS OF BEAUTY.' Bones of the hip, 'ossa indominata'; with dotted line showing the curve of their form.

Pen and ink;  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved by the artist for the 'Analysis of Beauty,' Pl. II., fig. 60.

Nos. 26-28 were purchased April, 1858.

29. DESIGN FOR FRONTISPIECE TO KIRBY'S PERSPECTIVE OF ARCHITECTURE. A landscape, in the foreground of which sits a Cupid with Palladio's book on Architecture on his knees, turning r. to the sun, which rises over a distant mountain and shoots a ray of light to a scroll on the ground l., half covered with perspective designs; above this leans obliquely on a stone an extraordinary object, something like the Roman faces, encircled near the top with the Prince of Wales's coronet, and branching above into a sort of capital, ornamented with the Star of St. George, so that the whole resembles the upper part of a fluted column; beyond is a lake with a town and rocky mountains l., and a circular temple r.

Red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{7}{8} \times 15\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Engraved by W. Woollett, with slight modifications, as frontispiece to Joshua Kirby's 'Perspective of Architecture,' 1761. The full meaning of the design is unknown; it is explained by Thomas Malton in his 'Treatise on Perspective,' and by Samuel Ireland, who gives an engraving of this drawing, made by himself, in his 'Graphic Illustrations,' Vol. II., p. 141.

Purchased July, 1860. Formerly in Samuel Ireland's collection.

30. THE SLEEPING HOUSEWIFE. The interior of a room, facing a fireplace, over which hangs a picture of a man drinking, with pistols hung on each side and guns above; at the l. of the fireplace a woman sitting in a chair, with head dropped on her shoulder, fast asleep; her book has fallen to the floor and a kitten plays with it; a cat sits on a table l., beneath a large looking-glass hung between two windows; on the other side of the fireplace a chair under a clock; at the l. a door in the side wall of the room, with stag's head above it. Signed and dated W. Hogarth, 1754.

Indian ink with pen outlines; roy.,  $8\frac{7}{8} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Bequeathed by the Rev. C. M. Cracherode, 1799. The drawing belonged at one time to a Mr. Eyre, who wrote on the back of it: N.B. recd. This of T. Forrest, Esqr., in exchange for one of P. Sandby, cost £9 9s.; it was given to him by Mr. Hogarth with another small Sketch of a Man reading.

31. HOGARTH'S TOUR. A sketch-book of nineteen leaves, containing six drawings and a tail-piece, illustrating an account in MS. entitled, An Account of what seem'd most Remarkable in the Five Days' peregrination of the Five Following persons, viz., Messieurs | Tothall, Scott, Hogarth, Thornhill, and Forrest. | Begun on Saturday May the 27th 1732 | and Finish'd | on the 31st of the same month | Abi tu et fac Similiter—Inscription [sic] on Dulwich Colledge porch.

Besides the seven drawings by Hogarth, the volume includes two drawings by Scott, who also drew the landscape of another drawing, and a map by Thornhill. The 'Tour' remained in manuscript till 1782, when it was published with aquatint facsimiles of the drawings by Richard Livesay. (A metrical version of Forrest's prose, by Canon Gostling, had appeared in 1781.) This was included in Nichols' and Stevens' 'Genuine Works,' 1817, Vol. III. See Austin Dobson's 'William Hogarth,' 1891, pp. 33-37.

- (1) FRONTISPIECE: 'MR. SOMEBODY.' A headless and legless figure in a parti-coloured coat, half drab, half blue, holding a stick in one hand and a mast and sail in the other; emblematical of the journey, 'A short tour by land and water, backwards and forwards, without head or tail'; Rochester Keep in the l. background; part of a fallen column under the sail r. Signed W. H.

Pen and ink and water-colour wash;  $7\frac{7}{8} \times 11\frac{7}{8}$  in.

[VIEW OF THE MEDWAY FROM ROCHESTER. By Samuel Scott: described under Scott.]

- (2) UPNER CASTLE. The shore of the Medway, with boats and a man-of-war partly showing on the river r.; at the l. the castle; in the foreground Scott seated sketching, and the travellers standing, each distinguished (here as in the other drawings) by letters, to which the corresponding names are appended below. On the scroll in the sky The Castle of Upner.

Pen and ink and water-colour wash;  $8\frac{1}{4} \times 12\frac{3}{8}$  in.

- (3) BREAKFASTING AT STOKE. Interior of a room at the Nag's Head inn; a aloof-headed fisherman in shirt and boots, shaving Thornhill; at the r. Forrest breakfasting on a bowl of milk, and Scott finishing a drawing at the same table; at the l. Hogarth seated sketching the scene; behind, Tothall shaving at a glass hung near the window.

Pen and ink and Indian ink, and a little vermilion wash;  $8\frac{1}{8} \times 12\frac{5}{8}$  in.

- (4) EMBARCKING FROM THE ISLE OF GRAIN; BY SCOTT AND HOGARTH. The Medway, looking towards Sheerness, with men-of-war and other shipping; in the foreground, l., the travellers embarking in a boat, in which Tothall sits holding the tiller, and Thornhill lends a hand to Hogarth, who is crawling along two oars laid from the boat to the shore; behind him, on the land, Forrest is pushing Scott forward. The figures only are by Hogarth.

Pen and ink and slight water-colour wash;  $8 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (5) THE TOWN OF QUEENBOROUGH. View looking up the main street to the clock-house; at the r. Hogarth and Forrest talking with a group of sailors who had been stranded without food or money.

Pen and ink and Indian-ink wash;  $8 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

[TOMB OF A SPANISH AMBASSADOR AT MINSTER. By S. Scott.]

- (6) TOMB OF LORD SHORLAND IN MINSTER CHURCH. The canopied monument of a Crusader, with his effigy on a slab; the feet at the l., resting on a horse's skull. The skull is explained by the local legend of Lord Shorland, told in the 'Ingoldsby Legends' as the 'Legend of Sheppey,' and by Forrest in the MS. text. Forrest's version is printed in Dobson's 'Hogarth,' pp. 34-35.

Pen and ink and Indian-ink wash;  $7\frac{7}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (7) TAILPIECE: 'MR. NOBODY.' A trophy, consisting of a man's laughing face in hat and wig, and two legs attached, from which hang a wine bottle and a glass; two oars crossed behind the head and legs, and a knife, fork, spoon and pipe hanging by a ribbon. Signed W. H. Not mounted like the other drawings, but drawn on the page.

Pen and ink and water-colour wash.

Purchased March, 1847. Formerly in the possession of Ebenezer Forrest, and of Peter Coxe.

Attributed to Hogarth.

Six on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) HEAD OF A SINGER, IN THE 'REHEARSAL OF THE ORATORIO OF JUDITH.' Head of a spectacled man in a full wig; in the print he occupies the centre of the composition, just under the conductor.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2$  in.

- (b) TWO HEADS OF SINGERS IN THE SAME DESIGN. In profile turned r.; they appear in the lower r. of the print.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{7}{8}$  in.

- (c) TWO HEADS OF SINGERS IN THE SAME DESIGN. One looks over the other's shoulder; he wears a bag wig, and has been conjectured to be a foreign Castrato; in the print they are just under the conductor at the l.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (d) HEAD OF A SINGER IN THE SAME DESIGN. In profile turned l.; in the print he looks over the same score as the man in spectacles, No. 26 (a).
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (e) HEAD OF A SINGER IN THE SAME DESIGN. In profile turned r., with glass held up to one eye; in the print he is at the r. of the middle row of singers.
Pen and ink;  $2 \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (f) HEAD OF A SINGER IN THE SAME DESIGN. In vanishing profile looking l., wearing a bag-wig; at the l. of the middle row in the print.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Nine on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) HEAD OF A BOY. The head of the boy in the design called 'Evening,' crying because his sister threatens to take away his gingerbread king.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (b) HEAD OF A YOUNG WOMAN. One of the mourners in the last scene of 'The Harlot's Progress' (Plate VI.); in profile looking l., with a hood over her head.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (c) HEAD OF A BOY, in a modish bag-wig; resembling the boy at the r. of the design called 'Noon'; in the print his eyes are on the ground.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (d) HEAD OF A DRUNKEN MAN. The head of a drunken freemason in the design called 'Night.'
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (e) FRENCH WOMEN KISSING. Heads of two old women wearing hoods and kissing. They appear in 'Noon,' in the background at the r.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (f) HEAD OF A WOMAN. A woman's face with a kerchief round it, frowning, with mouth open as if exclaiming. Inscribed Harlot's Progress. No head precisely resembling this appears in that series, but it is not unlike the drunken mourner of Plate VI.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (g) HEAD OF A GIRL. Head of a buxom girl looking r., in three-quarter face, wearing a hood.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (h) HEAD OF A MAN CRYING OUT. A man in a hat and wig bawling out. Inscribed Frenchman—Noon; but this head does not occur in the plate of that name.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (i) HEAD OF A WOMAN. Head of the servant of the Harlot in the funeral scene of the 'Harlot's Progress.'
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.

The last two numbers were purchased October, 1887. Formerly in the Esdaile collection. In spite of the high authority of Esdaile as a collector, it seems more probable that these and similar studies are copies from Hogarth than genuine works of his hand.

STUDY OF A GENTLEMAN SEATED. A gentleman seated on a chair turned to r. and front, the head in profile looking r., l. hand raised and extended, r. hand on a table l.

Red, black and white chalk on blue paper; roy.,  $15\frac{3}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Presented by J. E. Taylor, Esq., February, 1894.

This drawing has been attributed to Hogarth, but belongs rather to the Gravelot and Grignion school, and should be compared with the similar studies catalogued above, p. 240 (Gravelot, Nos. 2 and 3) and p. 252 (Grignion, No. 1).

PAUL BEFORE FELIX BURLESQUED. A slight and childish rude sketch of the well-known design made by Hogarth in burlesque of his own picture, as a satire on Rembrandt and his school. Inscribed on the back in a contemporary hand, probably by that of its former owner, George Jackson-Duckett (b. 1725, d. 1822), Paul before Felix, after the Dutch manner. By Hogarth. Hastily sketched in pencil.

Pencil; roy.,  $12\frac{5}{8} \times 15\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Purchased March, 1884.

Traditionally supposed to be a rapid sketch, intentionally and satirically childish, by Hogarth, but much more probably copied or roughly traced from the print published in 1751.

After Hogarth.

Three on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) THREE HEADS FROM THE 'MARCH TO FINCHLEY.' The drummer and his crying wife, and the boy playing the fife; all in the l. foreground of the picture.

Red chalk on oiled paper;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 4\frac{3}{4}$  in.

(b) TWO HEADS FROM THE 'MARCH TO FINCHLEY.' The Guardsman and his tearful sweetheart in the centre of the picture.

Red chalk on oiled paper;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 3\frac{5}{8}$  in.

(c) TWO HEADS FROM THE 'MARCH TO FINCHLEY.' The gin-woman and the boy shoeblack, in the r. foreground.

Red chalk on oiled paper;  $5\frac{3}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) FOUR HEADS FROM THE 'MARCH TO FINCHLEY.' The soldier giving water to the comrade who wants gin, and the comrade; the soldier pouring milk surreptitiously into his hat, the pastrycook laughing at the incident, and the soldier stealing a tart from the pastrycook; all near the foreground towards the r.

Red chalk on oiled paper;  $5\frac{5}{8} \times 4\frac{3}{4}$  in.

(b) EIGHT HEADS FROM THE 'MARCH TO FINCHLEY.' The soldier kissing the milkmaid; the infuriated sweetheart of the Guardsman; the soldier with a pike; the two Jacobite intriguers; the baby on a woman's back, and the man reading the notice on a wall; all near the foreground at the l.

Red chalk on oiled paper;  $6 \times 5\frac{1}{4}$  in.

The last two were presented by J. E. Taylor, Esq., February, 1894. They are tracings from Hogarth's picture of 1750, now in the Foundling Hospital, and are in all probability by Luke Sullivan, who engraved it.

The well-known drawing 'Heidegger in a Rage,' engraved as Hogarth's in Vol. III. of John Ireland's 'Hogarth Illustrated,' 1797, will be found described under Philip Mercier, to whom it was originally, and doubtless quite correctly, attributed.

HOLBEIN, Hans (b. 1497, d. 1543). Painter, decorator, and designer for jewellery and for wood engraving; born at Augsburg, and pupil there of Hans Holbein the Elder; from about 1515 to 1526 worked at Basle (with the exception of two years at Lucerne), painting portraits and wall decorations and some important religious pictures, making designs for painted windows, and for woodcuts in books; worked in England 1526–1528; in Basle again 1528–1532, and from that time till his death again in England, where he drew the great series of portraits of the English nobility, now at Windsor, and painted portraits both of Court personages and of London merchants, though far more portraits have been ascribed to him than are from his hand; designed 1523–1526 the famous woodcut illustrations to the Old Testament, and the still more famous Dance of Death; fixed a tradition of portrait painting in England which prevailed nearly till the advent of Vandyck.

[1-7.] Scenes from the Passion; probably designs for glass paintings. In the museum at Basle is a series of exactly similar but reversed designs, with three other subjects added which are here missing, viz., The Flagellation, Christ Crowned with Thorns, and Christ Nailed to the Cross, making ten in all. The drawings here catalogued are not the direct work of the artist's hand, but offsets taken from such drawings by means of damped paper. That this was a practice with Holbein is proved by an examination of certain designs for ornaments, e.g., No. 101 in the sketch book of ornaments at Basle, where only the left side of a goblet has been actually drawn, the right side has been produced in reverse by the process just described. We may therefore assume that the present 'Passion' series was made by Holbein himself from the Basle set; and the assumption is confirmed by the fact that the designs have been strengthened in parts by retouches with a fine brush and Indian ink; and these retouches show, beyond a doubt, the master's hand.<sup>1</sup> They have thus in great measure the character of original drawings, and are not inferior in effect to those at Basle; though the appearance is different and much lighter, the Indian ink shading having printed off but palely and being little strengthened afterwards. In one case, No. 5, additional retouches have been made in sepia by a later and weak hand. The designs date from the later part of Holbein's first residence at Basle, i.e., 1521-1525.

1. CHRIST BEFORE CAIAPHAS. Caiaphas sits l. on a richly decorated throne, beside which in the foreground stands a Jew in a hooded cap. Christ stands before him between two soldiers, the nearer of whom, at the r., raises his l. hand to strike him; behind is a crowd, filling the hall in the l. background, while between pillars of Renaissance architecture at the r. the archway is thronged with the soldiers' spears.

Indian-ink wash with brush outline; roy., 15 $\frac{3}{8}$  × 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  in.

The design has been cut at the bottom; in the Basle drawing, the ornaments at the two lower corners are complete. This occurs throughout the set.

2. CHRIST BUFFETED. Christ sits in the centre, under a vaulted roof supported by decorated pillars, a lamp hanging above his head; with eyes bandaged and hands bound, he is being buffeted by a man who stands r., and who clutches his head by the hair; another man is behind; a third at the l. plies a scourge of rope; a fourth in the l. foreground kneels and looks up into Christ's face, offering him a palm branch; in the space between the pillars at the r. stands a Pharisee in long robes with fringed cap, looking on.

Indian-ink wash with brush outline; roy., 15 $\frac{3}{8}$  × 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  in.

3. 'ECCE HOMO.' The scene is framed by a heavily ornamented Renaissance archway, opening on a court filled with figures, two Jews and a soldier occupying the foreground; at the l. Pilate leads forth Christ, crowned with thorns, from a doorway, in the shadow of which stands a bearded man; at the back of the court is a building with gables and a balcony, on which are spectators.

Indian-ink wash with brush outline; roy., 15 $\frac{1}{2}$  × 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  in.

4. PILATE WASHING HIS HANDS. Pilate sits enthroned under a canopy, washing his hands in a basin, into which an attendant at the r. pours water; he sits facing r., but turns his head l. to address the crowd, as Christ is led off l. between two soldiers; other soldiers and Jews are seen in the background, and the foreground is framed by a decorated arch, with Cupids holding a wreath above.

Indian-ink wash with brush outline; roy., 16 × 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  in.

<sup>1</sup> It is to be observed also that the Basle drawings have been similarly retouched where the damping-off has weakened the lines too much, e.g. in the figure of Pilate washing his hands.

5. CHRIST CARRYING THE CROSS. Christ, stooping, carries his cross towards the l., urged on by two soldiers, one of whom, in the foreground, raises his hand to strike, while the other from behind strikes him with his knee; preceding Christ at the l., an executioner drives on the two malefactors, one of whom turns round to jeer; the background is filled with a crowd carrying spears, axes, and a ladder; at the l. the wall of a fortress, at the r. a street. The whole is enclosed, as before, with pillars, between which hangs a wreath with a medallion portrait.

Indian-ink wash with brush outlines (retouched in sepia and body colour by a later hand); roy.,  $14\frac{3}{4} \times 11$  in.

This design has been greatly marred through the blundering retouches, by which the position of the l. arm of Christ has been completely altered and impossibly distorted; it has also been cut down on all sides, especially at the bottom, where the soldier's foot has been cut through.

6. CHRIST STRIPPED. Christ kneels on his cross between two executioners, who tear his garments from him; a third, in the r. foreground, bores a hole in the arm of the cross; behind, a man with his back turned lifts an adze, while a group of soldiers are gathered round one of the malefactors; at the l. appears the head of a man with a pitying expression (Joseph of Arimathea), and behind him Pilate looks frowning over his shoulder upon the scene. Two pillars on each side, and above, two Cupids, holding a medallion portrait of a Roman Emperor.

Indian-ink wash with brush outlines; roy.,  $15\frac{5}{8} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

7. THE CRUCIFIXION. The cross of Christ stands in the centre foreground; beside it stand the Virgin and St. John, on whom Christ looks down; three Roman soldiers stand l. with others behind, round the cross of the impenitent thief; the cross of the good thief is seen from behind, partly intercepted by one of the two pillars which frame the scene; on a ladder set against the back of the cross of Christ stands a man speaking to one in the crowd below, who raises the sponge of vinegar on a reed.

Indian-ink wash with brush outlines; roy.,  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Nos. 1-7 were purchased September, 1846. Formerly in the Lawrence collection.

[8-15.] Portraits and figure studies.

8. A MOTHER AND CHILDREN IN CHURCH. A seat in a church, on which, facing l., sits a mother with downcast eyes, holding a baby in her arms, while a little girl at her knee touches her wrist and looks up into her face; a young boy, in a flat feathered cap, stands l., and seems to be speaking to his mother; another boy, still younger, also in a feathered cap, sits r., with an unhappy face. Inscribed on the margin below, in a later hand, exaltate Cedrus. H. Holbein (apparently a reminiscence of Ecclesiasticus xxiv. 17, 'Quasi cedrus exaltata sum in Libano').

Indian-ink wash with brush outline; roy.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$  in.

An admirable example of Holbein's earlier Basle period. The woman has a look of Holbein's wife, as seen in the Basle portrait of 1528, and might conceivably represent her at a somewhat earlier age. Elizabeth Schmidt was a widow when Holbein married her. She had certainly one child by her former husband, and may have had others, though there is no record of them.

Purchased May, 1852. Formerly in the Cosway and Utterson collection.

9. PORTRAIT OF JOHN FISHER, BISHOP OF ROCHESTER. Head and shoulders in three-quarter face, turned l., and looking l.

Indian ink over red chalk on pink prepared paper (cut at corners); roy.,  $13 \times 10$  in.

This is a duplicate of the portrait of Fisher in the great series at Windsor, though in this example the features and expression are less emaciated and austere. Another similar drawing was in Dr. Percy's collection. Both this and the following drawing are in Holbein's manner, but whether actually by his hand is not certain.

John Fisher (b. about 1459) was Chancellor of Cambridge University, where he promoted the study of Greek, and quickened the whole academic life; made Bishop of Rochester 1504, through the favour of Henry VIII., whose fatal resentment he afterwards roused by his conscientious opposition to the doctrine of royal supremacy and the royal divorce; imprisoned 1534, and beheaded a fortnight before More, 1535; his fate was a shock to all Europe.

Bequeathed by the Rev. C. M. Cracherode, 1799. Formerly in the Richardson collection.

10. PORTRAIT OF KATHARINE, 4TH WIFE OF CHARLES BRANDON, DUKE OF SUFFOLK. Head and bust in three-quarter face turned l., and looking l.; wearing peaked head-dress, with lappets falling on the shoulders.

Black chalk, with touches of red and yellow chalk, strengthened with brush and Indian ink on pink prepared paper; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Like No. 8., this drawing is a duplicate of one of the Windsor portraits. Katharine, daughter of the widowed Lady Willoughby, was married, September, 1533, to Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, Henry VIII.'s favourite; his latest wife, Queen of France and Henry's sister, had died in the previous June.

Purchased with the Malcolm collection, September, 1895. Formerly in the Robinson collection. The drawing is also marked with the small star, often supposed to be the collector's mark of Charles I. or of the Earl of Arundel, but more probably that of one of the brothers Lanière.

11. STUDIES FOR THE PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Two whole-length studies; at the l., the lady stands in a three-quarter pose, turned l., with eyes looking down towards the r., her hands in front of her, holding a rosary; she wears the English peaked head-dress, with long black lappets. The other study, r., is a side and back view of the same figure, the l. hand raised and pointing. Signed twice over H. H. and H. H. B., but the signature is false.

Indian ink and brush outline, partly washed with Indian ink and with red, on drab paper; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Apparently a study from one of the ladies of the English Court.

Purchased with the Malcolm collection, September, 1895. Formerly in the Lawrence collection.

12. COSTUME STUDY, PROBABLY FOR A PROCESSION. A bearded man in the prime of life walking towards the l. and front, his face quite in profile, looking l.; he is dressed in blue cap and blue cloak over a white coat, girt with a belt, into which his hands are thrust; high red boots of soft leather, and slippers with soles of wood. Signed in a later hand H. Holbein.

Indian ink and brush or pen outlines, with water-colour wash; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{8} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.

This drawing seems to have been done as a study for some frieze or wall decoration. It used to belong to Horace Walpole, and hung in the Helbein room of his house at Strawberry Hill.

Purchased May, 1890, at the William Mitchell sale. Formerly in the Richardson, Horace Walpole, and Bale collections.

13. A WILD MAN OF THE WOODS; DESIGN FOR GLASS PAINTING. A naked bearded man, his head and his loins girt with forest leaves, holding an uprooted sapling in his hands, and with feet planted apart, looking defiantly to the r.; he stands on a stone ledge forming the sill of a window, decorated with pilasters and garlands in the Renaissance style and opening on a hollow among mountains thronged with pines.

Brush and Indian ink outlines, with Indian ink and slight colour wash; roy.,  $12\frac{3}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased with the Malcolm collection, September, 1895.

14. MINERS AT WORK. A round composition. A mountain side, on the face of which the miners are working; the foreground is a rocky platform, to which one of the men, with a lantern fixed in his cap, is just mounting by a ladder; on the platform two men are driving in wedges with pliant-handled hammers, round a rock which they wish to detach (the method used before blasting was introduced), while two others above pierce belcs for the wedges with small hammers. Behind these is a tall fissure, to which a miner ascends by a ladder, and from a second opening at the r. another pushes a truck of ore along a wooden bridge leading out of the composition; below him, at the r. of the first group, is a man raking up ore on a tray. Two wooden huts are seen high up l., and another at some distance r.

Indian ink with pen and bistre outlines; circle; roy., 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  diam.

Reproduced in the 'Jahrbuch der Kgl. Preussischen Kunstsammlungen,' 1894, p. 208, with an article by E. His, who maintains that the drawing must have been in Basle in the sixteenth century, when it was utilised by an artist for illustrations to a MS. book on mining by Andreas Ryff, and conjectures that it was made in the Alps, perhaps during a journey from Lucerne across the St. Gothard pass.

Purchased October, 1872.

15. MUSICIANS ON A BALCONY. A balcony on which are five musicians; one, wearing a cap, blows a trumpet over the balustrade; his neighbour at the extreme l. also wears a cap, and plays a horn, as do the other three, who are bareheaded; the last on the r. has his back turned.

Indian-ink wash, with brush outlines; roy., 5 $\frac{1}{2}$   $\times$  7 $\frac{1}{2}$  in.

This study is entirely in Holbein's manner, though certain weaknesses of drawing prompt a doubt, and some critics would assign it to a scholar.

Purchased May, 1852. Formerly in the Cosway and Utterson collections.

[16-39.] Designs for architecture, furniture, and ornaments.

16. DESIGN FOR A CHIMNEY-PIECE, PROBABLY FOR HENRY VIII.'S PALACE AT BRIDEWELL. A magnificent decorated chimney-piece, in two stages, one above the other, each flanked by a pair of pillars with entablatures above them. The upper part is divided into six panels, richly decorated; the upper three contain the royal arms of England with the motto 'DEV ET MON DROIT' in the centre; H and a fleur-de-lys, l.; HR and a percutillus (one of Henry's badges) r. The lower panels have a relief of a cavalry combat in the centre; medallions of Charity l., and Justice r. In the centre of the entablature between the two stages of the chimney-piece is the letter H; and the space under this, above the fireplace, where logs are burning, is decorated as a lunette with spandrils; the lunette contains a relief of a battle, with a wreathed medallion in the centre, representing Esther and Ahasuerus; the spandrils have l. the head of a warrior, r. the head of a lady, on medallions. The bases of the lower pillars on each side have blank tablets with scroll work.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash and colour in parts; atl., 21 $\frac{1}{4}$   $\times$  16 $\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Reproduced in E. His' 'Dessins d'Ornements de Hans Holbein,' Paris, 1886, Pl. XLVIII., XLIX., l.

The presence of the royal arms, meuegrams, and badges proves that this superb chimney-piece was designed for some building occupied or planned by Henry VIII. Peacham in his notes on Holbein, in the 'Compleat Gentleman,' mentions having seen 'of his own draught with a penne a most curious chimney-piece K. Henry had bespoke for his new built pallace at Bridewell'; and there can be little doubt that, as Walpole conjectured, this is the drawing in question.

Purchased July, 1854. Formerly in the Richardson and Horace Walpole collections.

given by him to the King at the beginning of the New Year 1544 (the year after Holbein's death). On one of the doors of the clock-case is, Conjunctio sive novilunium pro 20 annis; at the r. of the design compassu . . . , and a word illegible; lower down oppó [oppositio].

Indian-ink wash and pen; roy.,  $16\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Reproduced by His, Plate XLVII.

Anthony Denny, who commissioned this clock, the favourite of Henry VIII., was knighted by the king on 30 September of this same year, 1544.

Purchased July, 1850. Formerly in the Mariette and Horace Walpole collections.

18. DESIGN FOR THE 'JANE SEYMOUR' GOLD CUP. An elaborately ornamented cup, with a cover. The body of the cup is set with four medallions in high relief; a female head and bust on the side facing the spectator, two heads partly seen r. and l., the fourth not seen. Round the cup, beneath these, are the initials of Henry VIII. and Jane Seymour, alternating with precious stones set as roses and carnations; a border repeated round the foot of the cup. The stem is decorated with two pendant pearls at the top, and two more lower down, and has round it the motto of Jane Seymour, BOYND TO OBEY [AND SERVE]. The cover is also engraved with the motto, and has the rose and carnation border of jewels round the rim; above, two grotesque figures blowing pipes and surmounted by two Cupids holding a crown upon a shield; two pearls hang just below the Cupids. (The drawing has been cut close to the outline of the cup, but has since been laid in paper, the measurements of which are given.)

Pen and ink; roy.,  $17\frac{3}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.

A more finished design for the cup, washed with Indian ink, and with a modification in the curves of the pipes blown by grotesque figures on the cover, (a modification suggested in the present drawing) is in the University Galleries at Oxford (formerly in the Bodleian Library). The cup itself was executed for Henry VIII., about 1536-7. It was still in the Roysl collection at the accession of Charles I. in 1625; and in a document of that year is thus described: 'Item a faire standing Cupp of Goulde, garnished about the Cover with eleaven Dyamonds, and two poynted Dyamonds about the Cupp, seaventeene Table Dyamonds and one Pearle Pendent uppon the Cupp, with theis words BOUND TO OBEY AND SERVE, and H and I knitt together; in the Topp of the Cover the Queenes Armes, an Queene Janes Armes houlden by twoe Boyes under a Crowne Imperiall, weighing Threescore and five ounces and a halfe.'

Purchased November, 1848. Formerly in the Beckford collection.

19. DESIGN FOR A DAGGER. A dagger designed to be executed in chiselled gold or silver; the handle decorated with spiral bands set with stones, the hilt and tip with grotesque figures; the sheath elaborately chased, also with grotesque figures and foliage, set with pearls. Only the r. half of the sheath is drawn, as the corresponding half would repeat it.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $17\frac{7}{8} \times 4\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Reproduced by His, Plate XXIX.

Purchased August, 1874, from the Earl of Wicklow's collection.

20. Five on one mount, roy., viz.:-

(a) DAGGER-HILT. Knob at the end of a dagger-hilt with foliage-ornament, and a man's head at the top.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{7}{8}$  in.<sup>1</sup>

(b) DAGGER-HILT. Knob of dagger-hilt, ornamented with a grotesque head and dolphins.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{7}{8}$  in.

(c) DAGGER-HILT. Hilt, the top ornamented with a grotesque head, the cross-piece with ram's horns and acanthus leaves.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $5 \times 3\frac{3}{8}$  in.

- (d) DAGOER-HILT. Cross-piece of a hilt, ornamented with dolphins and foliage.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 3$  in.
- (e) DAGGER-HILT. Cross-piece of a hilt, ornamented with two boys blowing curved pipes, with dolphins and foliage; below, a band of twisted snakes round the rim of the sheath.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{7}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Reproduced by His, Plate xxxii.
21. Ten on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) SWORD BELT, with buckle and leaf ornaments in silver.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $6 \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (b) TIP OF BELT, with silver ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1$  in.
- (c) SWORD BELT, with buckle and leaf ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (d) A BAND OF ORNAMENT, perhaps for a belt.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{1}{4}$  in.
- (e) TIP OF BELT, with silver ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (f) A BAND OF ORNAMENT, perhaps for a belt.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (g) SWORD BELT, with buckle and leaf ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{4}$  in.
- (h) BUCKLE OF BELT in gold.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash;  $1\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (i) BUCKLE AND TIP OF BELT in gold.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (k) CLASP OF BELT in gold.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{7}{8}$  in.
(a) (b) (c) (d) (e) (f), reproduced by His, Plate xxxii.
22. Six on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) TWO CUPIDS, FOR A SUNDIAL. Two draped Cupids standing back to back and holding little rods by which the shadows would be marked on the dial.
Perhaps an alternative design for the dial in No. 17.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (b) TERMINAL FIGURES OF SATYRS. Two satyrs supporting a pedestal.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (c) A NUDE WOMAN SEATED ON A GLOBE.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3 \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (d) PART OF THE FOOT OF A VASE, with chased ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (e) A NUDE WOMAN, kneeling with her back against a globe.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2 \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (f) STEM OF A GOBLET. Decorated with female terminal figures and pendant pearls.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 5$  in.
Reproduced by His, Plate xlvi.
23. Nine on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) GROTESQUE FIGURE. A winged female figure with a washing brush in her hand.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.

- (b) GROTESQUE FIGURE. Similar to the last, but holding a mirror.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{4} \times 1$  in.
- (c) GROTESQUE FIGURE. Similar to the last two, but holding a comb.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (d) GROTESQUE FIGURE. A winged warrior with club and buckler.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (e) GROTESQUE FIGURE. A winged warrior with a mace.
Pen and ink and Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (f) GROTESQUE FIGURE. A winged warrior, with the jawbone of an ass.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (g) GROTESQUE FIGURE. A Roman warrior grasping with his hands the rim of the dish or salt-cellar behind him.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (h) GROTESQUE FIGURE. Similar to the last.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (i) GROTESQUE FIGURE. Similar to the last two.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{5}{8} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$  in.
The first three of these designs were doubtless intended to ornament some toilet box or vase; the rest, making two sets of three each, were probably for dishes or salt-cellar.
24. Five on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) A RAM'S HEAD.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{1}{8} \times \frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A BADGE: A CHAINED WHITE HIND. A white hind couchant on the top of a pillar, ducally gorged and chained.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{7}{8}$  in.
The white hind or white hart was a badge used by Richard II., who took it from his mother, the Fair Maid of Kent. It may have been still used in Henry VIII.'s time by her descendants.
- (c) SKETCHES FOR HERALDIC DEVICES. A cock, a strawberry, and a spread-eagle with a strawberry in its mouth.
Pen and ink;  $1\frac{5}{8} \times 2$  in.
- (d) A WINGED STAG. A winged stag with long branching horns lying down.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (e) A GOAT. A goat lying down: with three separate studies of the head.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$  in.
25. Seven on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) DESIGN FOR SMALL PENDANT. Two pearls pendant from a foliated ornament.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $\frac{5}{8} \times \frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (b) PANSIES IN A HANGING BOWL. This seems to be a study of actual flowers rather than a design for ornament.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (c) PORTABLE SUNDIAL AND CALENDAR. A small cylinder marked with the signs of the zodiac, and indicating the days of the month and the hours by the shadow of the upper rim: with a ring at the top by which to suspend it.
Pen and ink;  $3\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (d) DESIGN OF FLOWERS FOR AN ORNAMENT. A bunch of roses and carnations within a circle on a flat surface, to be wrought in metal in relief, with space for an irregularly-shaped pearl in the middle.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (e) DESIGN FOR A CURTAIN TASSEL.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (f) JEWELLED ORNAMENTS FOR A DRESS. Five ornaments, each composed of a pair of large pearls set in foliated scroll work; on a black ground.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (g) DESIGN FOR A CURTAIN TASSEL.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $3\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- (c) (e) (f) (g) reproduced by His, Plate XLIII.

26. Five on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A pendant of enamelled gold in the shape of a rounded lozenge hanging by a chain; in the centre an oval ruby; at each corner a table cut stone, and pearls in pairs between these; below, a pearl drop.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and colour wash and lights in white;  $4\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A lozenge-shaped pendant of enamelled gold hung by a ribbon; a table-cut stone in the centre, and four others at the angles with four pairs of pearls between them, and a pearl drop below.
Pen and ink, with Indian ink, a yellow ochre wash and lights in white;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- (c) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A round pendant with pearl drop, composed of a cross of five table-cut stones on a setting of gold-leaf ornament within a circle of twelve pearls and four stones. The stones are placed opposite the angles of the cross.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash, and lights in white;  $3\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (d) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A lozenge-shaped gold pendant hanging by a chain; table-cut stones at the angles with single pearls between and a fifth stone in the centre; below, a pearl drop.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash, and lights in white;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- (e) A lozenge-shaped pendant of enamelled gold hanging by a ribbon; table-cut stones at the angles with three pearls set in triangular pattern between, and a fifth stone in the centre; below, a pearl drop.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash, and lights in white;  $4\frac{7}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Reproduced by His, Plate XLII.

27. Six on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT CROSS. A cross of chased metal work, with pearls at the intersection of the arms; suspended by a ring.
Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2$  in.
- (b) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A heart-shaped pendant of gold, with two doves billing on a green bough in enamel, and the motto TVRTVRVM CONCORDIA; below, three pearls.
Water colours;  $2\frac{1}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (c) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A heart-shaped sapphire, framed in gold and enamel; below, three pearls.
Water colours and gold;  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- (d) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A round pendant of enamelled gold, set with four emeralds; below, a pearl.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and water-colour wash;  $3\frac{3}{8} \times 2\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (e) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A pendant formed in a monogram of the letters R and E in gold, with two rubies, an emerald and a garnet at the four corners; hung by a ribbon above, and with three pearls below.

Pen and ink, with water-colour wash; roy.,  $3\frac{1}{4} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.

A similar jewel, formed of the sacred monogram, is worn by Jane Seymour in her portrait by Holbein at Vienna.

- (f) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A monogram of the letters H and I (probably for Henry and Jane Seymour), with an emerald in the centre and three pearls below.

Pen and ink, with slight water-colour wash;  $2\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Reproduced by His, Plate XLIII.

28. Twelve on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR A JEWEL. The bust of a woman holding between her hands a large stone; below, three pearls. Inscribed on the space left for the stone Well Laydi Well, apparently by another hand.

Pen and ink and Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{5}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{8}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A pendant formed of two large stones, one above the other, set in gold work, and with three pearls below.

Pen and ink;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{4}$  in.

- (c) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A pendant like the preceding, but with gold work of a different pattern.

Pen and ink;  $2 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (d) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A jewel of open gold work with ribbon ornament; a diamond in the centre, surrounded by six pearls; a pearl below.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{5}{8}$  in.

- (e) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. Open gold work with leaf ornament; a diamond in the centre surrounded by three diamonds and three pearls alternating; a pearl below.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (f) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. Open gold work with leaf ornament in the shape of a lyre; at the top a grotesque head above two scrolls, inscribed QVAM ACCIPERE DARE MVLTO BEATIVS; in the centre a diamond; and below a pearl.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (g) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. Jewel formed by a Siren holding two stones in her arms and two horns of plenty, with three stones; below a pearl.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (h) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A lozenge-shaped jewel of intertwined ribbon ornament; in the centre a table-cut stone; stones at each angle and single pearls between; below, a pearl drop.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink and yellow ochre wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{5}{8}$  in.

- (i) DESIGN FOR A JEWEL. A jewel of leaf and ribbon ornament, with four stones and three pearls above, and a pearl below.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{3}{8} \times 1\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (k) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. A jewel of ribbon ornament enlacing three pearls and three stones, with a pearl below.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 1\frac{1}{2}$  in.

- (l) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. Three pearls and four stones set in gold leaf-work enlaced with ribbon, with a winged terminal figure at the top and a pearl below.

- (m) DESIGN FOR A PENDANT. Scroll work enclosing four stones within five pearls, with a pearl below.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2$  in.

Reproduced by His, Plate XLI.

29. Eleven on one mount, roy., viz. :—

- (a) DESIGN FOR THE SEAL OF CHARLES BRANDON, DUKE OF SUFFOLK. A lion's head, erased and ducally crowned, within the Garter, bearing its motto,

HONY SOYT QVI MAL Y PENSE; outside this a circular band inscribed, CAROLVS DVX SVFFYICIE PRO HONORE SVO RICHMOND. (The paper cut into an octagon close round the design.)

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $1\frac{7}{8} \times 1\frac{7}{8}$  in.

- (b) DESIGN FOR A DEVICE. A hand issuing from a cloud and resting on a book which lies on a rock; below, the motto SERVAR VOGLIO QVEL CHE HO GVIRATO: in a circle, round which the paper is cut into an octagon.
Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $2\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$  in.
- (c) A VARIATION OF THE PRECEDING DESIGN. The hand comes down in the centre instead of at the r., and the motto is on a smaller scale.
Pen and ink, with bistre wash; circle,  $2\frac{1}{4}$  in. diam.
- (d) SHIELD WITH HOLBEIN'S ARMS. Holbein's arms; a bull's head, sable, with a ring in its mouth and a mullet of six points between the horns.
Indian ink and pen, with blue background;  $\frac{7}{8} \times \frac{7}{8}$  in.
- (e) HOLBEIN'S COAT OF ARMS. A shield with the arms just described, surrounded with mantles and surmounted by a helmet bearing horns with a mullet of six points between them.
Indian ink and pen, touched with gold, on blue background; circle,  $1\frac{3}{4}$  in. diam.
- (f) SHIELD WITH HOLBEIN'S ARMS. A variation of (d).
Pen and ink; circle,  $\frac{3}{4}$  in. diam.

(s) MONOGRAM of the letters T.W.E.S.

Pen and ink;  $\frac{3}{4} \times 1\frac{1}{4}$  in.

(g)-(n) reproduced by His, Plate XXXIX.

Nos. 20-38 were bequeathed by Sir Hans Sloane, Bart., 1753.

39. DESIGN FOR DAGGER. A dagger, the hilt of which is ornamented with trophies, the sheath with a triumph of Bellona, riding in a chariot with three horses and preceded by warriors fighting.

Pen and ink, with yellow ochre and Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $13\frac{3}{8} \times 3$  in.

This design is on two pieces of paper joined together, the hilt on one, the sheath on the other. The two parts are obviously by different hands. The sheath is by Holbein; the hilt, in all probability, by Peter Flötner of Nuremberg.

Purchased November, 1848. Formerly in the Beckford collection.

Attributed to Holbein.

Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) DESIGN FOR DAGGER SHEATH. With Renaissance ornament.

Pen and bistre, with Indian-ink wash;  $9 \times 2\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Reproduced by His, Plate XXXV.

This seems to be certainly not by Holbein's hand, and at most a drawing of a sheath designed by him.

Bequeathed by Sir Hans Sloane, Bart., 1753.

(b) HENRY VIII. GIVING AUDIENCE. A room, at the end of which the king sits alone at a table laid for a meal, with a canopy over his head. Courtiers are grouped l. and r.; a man brings a letter l., another brings a dish r. from a sideboard. Inscribed Holbein invent.

Pen and sepia, with Indian-ink wash;  $3\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Not by Holbein, but possibly after a drawing by him.

Purchased June, 1854.

After Holbein.

THE TRIUMPH OF RICHES. The chariot of Plutus, drawn towards the l. by four horses and attended by famous men of wealth. The god, old, bowed, and bald, sits on a high seat with his feet on a sack of gold; on the forepart of the car sits Fortune scattering coin, and in front of her the charioteer<sup>1</sup> holds the reins, labelled Notitia and Voluntas. The two off horses are ridden by Liberality and Equalitas, the near ones led by Bona Fides and another figure (Justitia); attending the car are Simonides, Sichesus, Pythius, Crispinus, Leo Byzantinus, Themistocles, Narcissus, and others; Midas, Cæsus, and Cleopatra, all on horses, bring up the rear, while Nemesis hovers threatening above them.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash; imp.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 23\frac{1}{4}$  in.

About 1532, Holbein painted for the Hanse merchants of the Steelyard two allegorical compositions, The Triumph of Poverty and The Triumph of Riches. The paintings have themselves perished, but the compositions are preserved in several drawings, among which are this and the following. A similar drawing of the 'Riches' is in the Louvre, and is attributed to Holbein's own hand. The drawing just described was formerly attributed to Holbein; it is said by Woltmann to be a tracing of the Louvre example, but it has no appearance of being traced, and is certainly a copy, perhaps by an Italian. The heads and attitudes are given a Raphaelesque air, strikingly different from the <sup>1</sup> His name is Ratio, according to the copy by Jan de Bisschop, which also gives the leader of the fourth horse as Justitia. In the present drawing the titles have got confused in several cases.

Flemish style of the following copy of the 'Poverty,' which is probably by Vorsterman, who engraved a print of the 'Poverty.' Other and larger copies of both paintings are also in the department; they are by Jan de Bisschop, and the 'Riches' shows several minor differences and some additions; Phileas and Leo Pisanus are introduced, their heads appearing before and behind the charioteer, besides Heliogabalus and some unnamed persons; there is a parrot on the tree in the background, and the tree is much larger and more finished. All goes to prove that the Louvre drawing and the copy just described represent a study for the painting, while the Bisschop and Vorsterman drawings were from the paintings, or copies of the paintings, and represent the final designs.

Purchased June, 1854.

THE TRIUMPH OF POVERTY. The procession, as in the last, moves from r. to l. Poverty, an old woman, is drawn along in a waggon by two asses and two oxen; a canopy of poles and straw is over her head bearing the Greek title ΠΕΝΙΑ; in front of her sit Usus, Memoria, and Industria; behind, Infortunium, beating with a rod the heads of the crowd which follows. Spes drives the waggon, and the team is led by Moderatio, Solicitudo, Diligentia, and Labor. The asses are named Stupiditas and Ignavia, the oxen Negligentia and Pigritia. A throng of workmen follow, and among them an old man, Mendicitas, and an old woman, Miseria. On a tablet hung to a bough of a tree at the l. are Latin lines ascribed to Sir Thomas More:

*Mortaliū iucunditas volucris et pendula
Mouetur instar turbinis quem nix agit sedula, etc.*

(The lines are quoted in full in Wornum, 'Holbein,' p. 265.)

Black and red chalks and pen washed with Indian ink, and heightened with white on a blue background; atl.,  $17\frac{1}{2} \times 23$  in.

This drawing is probably by Lucas Vorsterman the Younger, who engraved the subject. If so, it was not made after the original painting, but from a copy made by Zuccaro in 1574. Walpole ascribed this drawing to Zuccaro himself, but the style is decidedly Flemish.

Two other copies of the 'Triumph of Poverty' are in the department, one by Matthäus Merian the Younger, the other by Jan de Bisschop.

Purchased July, 1894. Formerly in the Lely and Horace Walpole collections.

A copy of the 'Riches,' made in the same style, was sold at the same sale. Both belonged to Walpole.

School of Holbein.

THE DESCENT OF THE HOLY GHOST AT PENTECOST. The Holy Ghost descending through clouds in the form of a dove on the twelve apostles, who stand grouped round the seated Virgin, in a building of Renaissance architecture. From the arched top hang garlands held at the sides by cherubs, with a tablet between, bearing the date 1533.

Pen and ink, with Indian-ink wash;  $13\frac{5}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

This drawing is catalogued by Woltmann as by Holbein, but belongs only to his school. It seems to be by the same hand as a drawing in the Dresden Cabinet, now ascribed to Christoph Amberger, but formerly called Holbein, and reproduced by Woermann (III., 6).

Purchased June, 1860. Formerly in the Lely and Lawrence collections.

HOLDEN, Thomas (worked about 1748). Architect; apparently only known by the Ironmongers' Hall, built from his designs in 1748.

I. IRONMONGERS' HALL, FENCHURCH STREET. Front elevation of the hall. Signed, T. Holden Archt. The name is also on the actual façade.

Indian-ink wash and pen;  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{5}{8}$  in.

Engraved for the Gentleman's Magazine, November, 1750.

Inserted in Vol. XII. (No. 221) of the interleaved Pennant's 'London,' bequeathed by J. C. Crowle, Esq., 1811.

HOLLAND, James (b. 1800, d. 1870). Painter; born at Burslem; son of a potter; started in London as a flower painter 1819, but soon became known by his landscapes; elected Associate of the Water Colour Society 1835, Member 1857, rejoining it after a resignation and long absence; Member of the Society of British Artists 1843-48; worked both in oils and water colours in France, Switzerland, Italy and Portugal, as well as in various parts of England; best known by his richly coloured Venetian subjects.

1. VENICE. The corner of a piazza. A tall house over a shop at the r., and a wall with a fresco of the Entombment at the l., framing a vista of canal and buildings, above which rise two campanilli and the dome of the Salute, radiant under the blue sky; in the foreground, groups of market women with flowers and vegetables, and gondoliers by the frescoed wall.
Water colours and body colours; roy.,  $16\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Purchased October, 1886.

This does not seem to be an actual view in Venice, but one of Holland's variations on Venetian themes.

HOLLAR, Wenceslaus (b. 1607, d. 1677). Engraver and draughtsman; born at Prague; pupil of Matthew Merian; worked at Frankfort, Cologne and Antwerp; brought to England 1635 by Lord Arundel; published works on the Female Costume of England 1640, and of Europe 1643; fought for the Royalists, and was taken prisoner, but escaped; worked at Antwerp 1645-1652, when he returned to England and engraved for the booksellers; appointed designer to the king by Charles II., whose coronation he drew and engraved; sent by the government 1669 to Tangier, where he worked for a year; died in poverty; produced a vast number of prints, including topography, portraits, costume and historical subjects.

1. Two on one mount, roy., viz.:—

(a) PORTRAIT OF PHILIP, 4TH EARL OF PEMBROKE; AFTER VANDYCK. Bust turned r. in three-quarter face, looking full. Signed W. Hollar delin, A Van Dyck Pinx.

Indian-ink wash and pen; oval,  $3 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Another portrait of Lord Pembroke (b. 1584, d. 1650) is described among the drawings by G. P. Harding, No. 13 (p. 262); it is also after Vandyck, but from a different picture.

(b) PORTRAIT OF WILLIAM OUGHTRED. Head and shoulders, turned l., almost in profile, and looking l., wearing skull cap. Inscribed Mr. Oughtred and signed Hollar delin.

Pencil;  $2\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{3}{4}$  in.

A portrait of Oughtred was engraved by Hollar as frontispiece to his Clavis Mathematicæ, but differs from this; it is a half-length, full face.

William Oughtred (b. 1575, d. 1660) was one of the most distinguished mathematicians of his time; he was rector of Albury near Guildford, where he lived most of his life; was for some time tutor to the son of Lord Arundel; published Clavis Mathematicæ, 1631.

Bequeathed by the Rev. C. M. Cracherode, 1799.

2. PORTRAIT OF A MIDDLE-AGED LADY. To the waist, in an oval, turned l., the face in three-quarters, eyes looking full; wearing a small cap on the back of the head, and a broad linen collar over the shoulders.

Pen and ink on vellum; roy.,  $2\frac{1}{2} \times 2\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Purchased November, 1863.

Engraved by the artist (Parthey, No. 2655).
Acquired before 1837.
8. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—
- (a) DESIGN FOR A SUNDIAL; AND A VIEW OF HAMPTON COURT. A sundial in the shape of a pile of books with a cylinder above, on which the hours are shadowed by a flying figure of Time with his scythe; at the side, on the books, is a metal arc, also for indicating the hours. Above, a view of Hampton Court from the river, at some distance off. Inscribed at the top Hampton Court.
Silver-point;  $4\frac{1}{8} \times 4\frac{1}{8}$  in.
- (b) A MASTER AND PUPIL; AND A PAIR OF STOCKS. A boy reading from a paper which he holds in his hands, while his master, standing l. and holding his glasses to his nose, lays a hand on the pupil's shoulder and looks over. Above, a pair of stocks with leg-holes for three offenders.
Silver-point;  $4\frac{1}{8} \times 4\frac{3}{8}$  in.
Purchased February, 1850.
9. VIEW OF THE TOWER OF LONDON. The Tower seen from the river, on which are several anchored ships, including a man-of-war, flying the St. George's Cross, near the r. foreground; small boats ply with passengers to and fro, and groups of figures are on the opposite bank, under the fortifications; on the river is Thamesis Fluvius, and at the top Den Tower van London.
Pen and ink, with light water-colour wash; roy.,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  in.
A nearer view was engraved by the artist (Parthey, No. 908).
10. VIEW OF WHITEHALL. View of Whitehall and the houses and palaces bordering the river, which fills the foreground; at the l. a grassy foreshore with bushes; on the water a number of rowing boats. Inscribed on the river Thamesis fluvius, and at the top White Hall Palatium Regis.
Pen and ink, with light water-colour wash; roy.,  $3\frac{7}{8} \times 11\frac{5}{8}$  in.
Nos. 10 and 11 were purchased August, 1859.
11. VIEW OF THE THAMES AT WESTMINSTER. View from the river bank at Lambeth; at the r. in the foreground are landing stairs, with a number of boats moored to them and men and women coming or going by the ferry; part of Lambeth House appears on the terrace among trees; on the river are many small boats and two loaded barges, and on the other side is a continuous line of houses, with the Abbey and Parliament House l., Whitehall and other palaces beyond. Signed

W. Hollar D<sup>c</sup>. and inscribed with the names Westminster Abby, Parliament house, Suffolk house, Lambeth house over against the respective buildings.

Pen and ink; roy., 6 × 15 $\frac{1}{4}$  in.

Purchased August, 1882.

12. RICHMOND PALACE. View of the palace from the opposite bank of the river (inscribed Thamesis Fluvius); a gentleman and two ladies on the near bank, and other figures on the bank in front of the palace. Inscribed above Richmond, and signed W. Hollar fecit.

Purchased August, 1854. Formerly in the Esdaile collection.

32. TANGIER FROM THE WEST. View from green uplands, looking down on the town. It lies on a bay in a hollow, enclosed by fortifications, which climb a hill at the l., and culminate in a tower called Peterborow Tower, from which floats the Union Jack. At the back of the town roads issue from the Catharine port and lead to Bridges fort, Monmouth fort, Font fort, Catharine fort, and James Fort, all on hills commanding the approach to the town from inland. Near the foreground are two soldiers on foot marching l.; and on the same road, where it dips by a pool, are three others riding r. In the l. distance appears the coast of Spain across the sea. Inscribed with names of places, and at the top Prospect of Tangier from the West. Signed and dated W. Hollar fecit 1669.

Pen and ink, with water-colour wash; imp.,  $9 \times 33\frac{5}{8}$  in.

33. Two on one mount, ant., viz. :—

(a) TANGIER FROM THE SEA, OR NORTH SIDE. The foreground is occupied by the sea, into which a mole runs out at the l. from the land, protecting l. the bay; above the bay is the town, entirely enclosed by the fortifications; on the inland side l. is the Irish Battery, on the seaward side above the mole the Yorke Castle, above which to the r. are the Upper Castle and Government House; and the fortifications are continued on the heights r. to the Peterborow Tower. Inland at some distance r. is Charles fort, seen above the beach and settlement called Whitby. In the foreground are two English men-of-war, a ship of the line and a sloop, each carrying the red ensign, and the sailors on the yards and rigging are in red uniforms; other ships ride inside the bay; and a party of English soldiers are at work upon the mole. Inscribed above Prospect of Tangier from the Sea, it being the North side opposite to Spaine, 1669, by W. Hollar.

View looking west from Tangier, with the coast l. as far as Cape Spartell, and the Atlantic r.; Whitby, a little group of buildings, is near the foreground, with a curved mole running out below it r., near which a boat is anchored; beyond, l., a great number of men are working on the beach, quarrying the cliff and carrying stone away. The Way from Tangier comes down from the l. into the foreground; on the road are a man and a woman followed by another man driving a donkey with a pack; at the turn of the road above some soldiers are disappearing on their way to Tangier. At some distance along the coast is Henrietta Fort, and below it another fort called The Drop. Signed W. Hollar fecit 1669, and inscribed above Prospect of Whitby by Tangier, where the stone for the Mould [Molc] is fetsh'd and the Workmen doe quarter. Drawne from the S. E. by W. H.

Pen and ink, with water-colour wash;  $11 \times 38\frac{3}{4}$  in.

- (b) S.W. VIEW FROM PETERBOROUGH TOWER, TANGIER. View over bare undulating country with the sea at the r. In the foreground l. is a bastion below the Peterborough Tower, with groups of soldiers conversing, and cannon in the embrasures; at the r. is an outwork of the tower; and on the road from this to Henrietta Fort a troop is moving at some distance. From Henrietta Fort a chain of forts extends inland to the l., including Kendall, Pond, Anne, Norwood, James, Catherine, Font, Monmouth, and Bridges Forts; the last of these are close to the town, part of which appears at the extreme l. In the hollow at the back of the town is White Hall, a Fort and Taverne, with its Bouling green and its Herb and Kitchen Gardens for the Towne; and in front of these a river flowing into the town. Inscribed A Prospect of the Lands and Forts Within y<sup>e</sup> Line of Communication before Tangier, now in the Possession of the English, drawne from Peterborough Tower, by Wenceslaus Hollar, his Maj<sup>ties</sup> designer in September A<sup>o</sup> 1669.

Pen and ink, with water-colour wash;  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 40\frac{1}{4}$  in.

36. PLAN OF WHITBY, NEAR TANGIER. A plan of the buildings described in No. 35 (a) and of the ground adjacent; with scale of feet and explanatory references to the letters with which the several parts of the buildings are marked. Inscribed above Groundplot of Whitby by Tangier 1669. Signed W. Hollar fecit.

Pen and ink, with sepia wash; roy.,  $11\frac{5}{8} \times 13\frac{1}{2}$  in.

37. YORK CASTLE, TANGIER. View from the beach at low tide of the fortifications of Tangiers, which crown the cliffs and terminate l. in York Castle, beyond which the mole is seen jutting out, and the bay beyond; along the beach men are bringing a cart filled with stones from the direction of Whiby.
Water colours over pencil; imp.,  $8 \times 23\frac{1}{2}$  in.
38. Ob. PLAN OF THE FORTIFICATIONS OF TANGIER. Plan of Tangier and the lines of communication outside. With scale of feet.

Pencil on blueish paper, heightened with white;  $6\frac{7}{8} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Lij Kassa, afterwards known as Theodore, was born in Koara, a province of Abyssinia, about 1818; educated in a convent, he became governor of Koara, and proclaimed himself independent; defeated successive armies sent against him, and in 1855 became Emperor, as Theodore III.; after his wife's death his reign grew cruel, capricious, and intolerable; he plunged into endless atrocities, and on his refusal to give up some English captives, Sir Robert Napier's force was sent against him. He shot himself during the assault on Magdala, 1868.

Presented by the artist, 1868.

HONE, Nathaniel, R.A. (b. 1718, d. 1784). Painter; born at Dublin; studied in Italy for some years, about 1750–1752; returning to England, worked in London as painter of portraits and miniatures; member of the Society of Artists, and foundation member, 1768, of the Royal Academy, where he exhibited till his death; worked in London; etched a few plates.

HOOD, Thomas (b. 1799, d. 1845). Poet and draughtsman; born in London; apprenticed as an engraver, but soon turned to literature; became famous as the author of the 'Song of the Shirt,' 'The Bridge of Sighs,' and many comic works, some of which he illustrated himself.

1. THE WATERSPOUT. Two naked men fishing by the bank of a river, affrighted by the apparition of a watery form, towering suddenly above them from the stream, in the likeness of a man with long white hair; on his transparent robea appears the shadowy figure of a man falling headlong; on the other bank a horse runs wildly away; in the distance mountains rising above trees, and a storm at the l. Signed Thos. Hood Delt.

Pencil, partly washed with water colours; roy.,  $7\frac{7}{8} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Purchased June, 1861.

HOOK, Theodore Edward (b. 1788, d. 1841). Writer and draughtsman; born in London; famous in his day as a journalist, novelist, wit and improvisatore.

1. A GROTESQUE COUPLE. A fat little woman, in shawl and bonnet, on the arm of a young dandy, who looks away and puffs a cigar, while she points to him in admiration. Signed with monogram.

Water colours on gray paper, heightened with white (now blackened); roy.,  $5 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.

2. PORTRAIT SKETCH OF MICHAEL KELLY. Half-length, seated leaning back in a chair, turned to l., the face almost hidden by enormous collars, hands thrust in pockets.

Pen and ink; roy.,  $3 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Michael Kelly (b. about 1764, d. 1826), actor and singer, first appeared in Dublin, his birthplace; studied music and sang in opera in Italy and in Vienna, where he was trained by Glück and Mozart; from 1787 in London as director of the Italian Opera, and from 1797 much employed for musical settings of plays.

Both purchased June, 1879.

HOPPNER, John, R.A. (b. 1758, d. 1810). Painter; born in London of German parents; studied at the Royal Academy, and exhibited there from 1780; elected A.R.A. 1792, R.A. 1795, from which time he was established in favour as a portrait painter, and, till his death, divided with Lawrence the patronage of Society; made numerous chalk sketches of landscape, and painted, especially in earlier years, several fancy subjects, but his fame rests on his portraits, painted in a brilliant but not very individual style.

[1-5.] Portrait and figure studies.

1. PORTRAIT OF MRS. HOPPNER. Half-length, seated, turned to front, the face in three-quarters turned l., and looking l.; wearing large hat with ostrich feathers.

Black chalk and red chalk; roy.,  $10 \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

Engraved in stipple as 'Eliza. From Yorrick,' by J. Kingsbury, and published 1785. The engraving is mounted opposite the drawing.

Phœbe Wright, youngest daughter of Mrs. Patience Wright, the American sculptress and modeller in wax, celebrated both in London and Paris for her social gifts, was married to Hoppner in 1782; she sat frequently to West and other artists besides her husband, who made studies of her in various fancy characters.

Purchased July, 1891.

2. PORTRAIT OF A LADY, PROBABLY MRS. HOPPNER. To the knees, seated, turned to l., with hands clasped on lap, head in three-quarter face, nearly profile, eyes turned almost full; large hat with ostrich feathers, a glimpse of landscape and tree at the l. Signed J. Hoppner F.

Black and red chalk on drab paper, heightened with white on the dress; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.

3. PORTRAIT OF A LADY. To the knees, seated, full face, turned to front, with hands on lap, the head inclined a little r., lips slightly smiling, and eyes half closed; wearing large hat with ostrich features. Signed I. Hoppner.

Black and white chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{1}{2}$  in.

Possibly a portrait of Grace Dalrymple Elliott, wife of Dr. John Elliott. She eloped with Lord Valentia, 1774, was afterwards mistress of the Prince of Wales and of Philippe Egalité, was in France during the Revolution, and died there 1823. Her portrait by Gainsborough at Welbeck Abbey, and a miniature by Cosway, which has been engraved, are sufficiently like this to make the presumption of identity probable, though not certain.

Nos. 2 and 3 were purchased July, 1896.

4. PORTRAIT OF A LADY. Bust in full face, looking full, with slight smile; hair on shoulders.

Black chalk on buff paper, heightened with white; roy.,  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4$  in.

Presented by John Henderson, Esq., January, 1863.

HORNSEY, J. (worked about 1795-1797). Draughtsman; made topographical drawings, chiefly views in Yorkshire, for the Copper-plate Magazine.

1. PORTRAIT OF A BULL. A black and white bull grazing in a field, with a river beyond, and hills in the distance.
Indian ink, with partial slight tint; imp., 15½ × 19½ in.
Purchased May, 1878.

HOTHAM, Amelia (worked about 1793). Water-colour painter; biography unknown.

1. CASTLE AND STREAM. A stream coming into the l. foreground between rocky banks with trees r. and l. enclosing a view of a castle ruin on a wooded hill. Signed and dated, Amelia Hotham, 1793.
Water colours; atl,  $19\frac{3}{8} \times 26\frac{3}{4}$  in.
Purchased July, 1878.

HOUGHTON, Arthur Boyd (b. 1836, d. 1875). Book illustrator and painter; was in India as a youth with his father, a captain in the Navy; returning, he worked for the Graphic, and illustrated books; exhibited pictures 1859-1874, both in oils and water colours; but his reputation rests on his book illustrations, especially the brilliant woodcut designs for Dalziel's 'Arabian Nights,' 1865.

1. THE CHRONICLES BEING READ TO THE KING; ILLUSTRATION TO THE 'ARABIAN NIGHTS.' The king reclines on a divan, addressing with lifted hand the old slave who sits r. on the floor, reading from the chronicle held before him by a boy; in the background, r., stand three viziers, listening to the king, and l., beneath a lamp, are girls attending on him. Signed A. Houghton.
Pen and pencil on boxwood, heightened with white;  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 7$  in.
A design intended for engraving, but not used.
Purchased October, 1893, from Messrs. Dalziel Brothers.

HOWARD, HENRY, R.A. (b. 1769, d. 1847). Painter; born in London; pupil of Philip Reinagle; student at the Royal Academy; worked in Italy 1791-1794; painted portraits and a long series of historical and subject pictures, of which the earlier ones were the best; made drawings from ancient sculpture for the Dilettanti Society.

1. HEAD OF NIOME FROM THE ANTIQUE. A front view of the head of Niobe.
Sepia and Indian ink, highly finished; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
2. HEAD OF NIOBE. The same head, in three-quarter face turned l., nearly profile.
Sepia and Indian ink, highly finished; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
3. HEAD OF NIOBE. The same head in profile turned r.
Sepia and Indian ink, highly finished; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Nos. 1-3 were engraved by W. Skelton for the Dilettanti Society's 'Specimens of Ancient Sculpture,' 1809, Plates xxxv.-xxxvii.
Nos. 1-3 were bequeathed by R. Payne Knight, Esq., 1824.
4. CUPID AND PSYCHE FROM THE ANTIQUE. Cupid and Psyche kissing, from the marble group in the Capitol.
Indian ink, highly finished;  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in.
Engraved by R. H. Cromek, with whose engraving it is placed.
Presented by T. H. Cromek, Esq., April, 1867.

HOWARD, Hugh (b. 1675, d. 1737). Portrait painter and collector; born in Dublin; came to England 1688, and went to Italy for three years, 1697-1700, in the suite of the Earl of Pembroke; practised as a portrait painter in London for some years, but after obtaining some posts under government he devoted himself to making a fine collection of prints and drawings, which passed into the hands of the Earls of Wicklow, and was dispersed in 1873.

1. A GIRL WITH A DOVE. Half length figure of a girl, in an oval, turned l., with face looking nearly full, holding a dove in her hands.
Chalks on blue paper; oval; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
This drawing is in the manner of Howard's very fashionable contemporary, Rosalba Carriera, and may be copied from her; but in this case, as with others of the drawings described, the question must remain undecided.
2. PORTRAIT OF CARDINAL ALBANI. Three-quarter length, in biretta and cardinal's robes, directed to front, with face in three-quarters looking r., paper in l. hand, and r. hand pointing; bookcase and curtain behind.
Red chalk; roy.,  $12\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{8}$  in.
Probably after a painting; but Howard may well have painted the cardinal, and in that case this may be a memorandum of his own picture; the drawing has none of the character of work done from the life. Annibale Albani, born at Urbino, 1682, was nephew of Pope Clement XI.; wrote a book on his native town, and other works; died about 1750.
3. PORTRAIT OF A GENTLEMAN. Head in full wig, nearly in full face, turned slightly r., eyes full.
Indian ink; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$  in.
4. PORTRAIT OF A GENTLEMAN. Head in full wig, in three-quarter face, turned r., eyes looking full.
Indian ink; roy.,  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 5\frac{1}{4}$  in.
5. HEAD OF AN OLD MAN. Head of a bearded old man looking up; probably after an apostle in a picture.
Red chalk; roy.,  $11\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$  in.
6. HAMPTON COURT FROM HAMPTON, 1722. View looking down the Thames, with its sedgy eyots, to the palace half hidden among trees; two boats with deck cabins on the river.
Pen and ink with Indian-ink wash; roy.,  $8 \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
7. ST. JAMES'S PARK. View from the east, looking down Rosamond's Pond, in front of which stand three statues, with the Mall running parallel to the water r., and houses l.; at the end of the water is the Mulberry Garden, on the site afterwards occupied by Buckingham House and Buckingham Palace.
Pen and ink with Indian-ink and sepia wash; ant.,  $11\frac{1}{4} \times 33\frac{3}{8}$  in.
8. ITALIAN LANDSCAPE. A road leading l. to a river or lake, with towers and buildings on the other side, backed by mountains; four men on the road and another in a boat; others near a tent on raised ground r.
Pen and ink; roy.,  $10\frac{1}{2} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.
9. ITALIAN LANDSCAPE; A FERRY. A river coming down from the l., with hills on the other side; on the bank l. some figures in front of an inn, and others in a ferry boat about to put off.
Pen and ink; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 16$  in.
Nos. 8 and 9 are in the style of the Bolognese landscape draughtsmen, such as Grimaldi. Howard may have imitated their style while in Italy, or he may have copied actual drawings.
10. A BUNCH OF GRAPES.
Red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
11. PORTRAIT OF A GENTLEMAN. Half length of a gentleman in costume of Charles I.'s time, seated towards the r., the face in three-quarters, eyes looking full.
Pen and ink; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
12. CARICATURE; AFTER PIER LEONE GHEZZI. Profile of an old ecclesiastic, in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$  in.

13. CARICATURE; AFTER GHEZZI. Profile of a laughing monk in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{5}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  14. CARICATURE; AFTER GHEZZI. Profile of a priest, in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.
  15. CARICATURE; AFTER GHEZZI. Profile of a priest, in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{1}{2} \times 7$  in.
  16. CARICATURE; AFTER GHEZZI. Profile of a priest, in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $8\frac{7}{8} \times 7$  in.
  17. CARICATURE; AFTER GHEZZI. Profile of a laughing priest, in an oval.
Red chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  18. 'ECCE HOMO'; AFTER VANDYCK. Single figure of Christ.
Pen and ink; roy.,  $9\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  19. 'ECCE HOMO'; AFTER GUIDO. Head of Christ looking up.
Red chalk; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.
  20. THE VIRGIN OF THE ROSARIES; AFTER AN ITALIAN MASTER. The Virgin and Child on a cloud delivering rosaries to St. Dominic and St. Catherine of Siena, to be distributed among the people; cherubs above scattering flowers.
Red chalk; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{8} \times 9\frac{3}{8}$  in.
  21. THE VIRGIN OF THE ROSARIES. A set-off from the last drawing.
Red chalk; roy.,  $14\frac{1}{8} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  22. THE MADONNA IN GLORY; AFTER AN ITALIAN ETCHING OR DRAWING. The Virgin and Child on clouds surrounded by boy angels.
Pen and ink; roy.,  $13\frac{5}{8} \times 8\frac{5}{8}$  in.
- All purchased from the Earl of Wicklow, August, 1874.

HOWITT, Samuel (b. about 1765, d. 1822). Painter and etcher; devoted to field sports in early life; worked in London; painted subjects of sport and natural history, chiefly in water colours, but also in oils; exhibited at the Royal Academy and other galleries 1783-1815; brother-in-law of Rowlandson, whose style he followed in caricature; etched a great number of plates, and illustrated many books.

1. FOX-HUNTING. Hounds coming over a gate in a hedge, close on the heels of a fox, which runs to the r. down a slope; two huntsmen in the l. foreground, two others at a little distance r., and beyond them a wide view with distant hills.
Signed Howitt.
Water colours with pen outline in parts; roy.,  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 12\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  2. LION AND ANTELOPE. A lion rushing from the l. behind a rock and seizing an antelope, which he tears with teeth and claws, while three jackals run off into the foreground with their tails between their legs. Signed Howitt.
Water colours and Indian ink; roy.,  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$  in.
  3. LION AND ANTELOPE. A lion coming down a rock bringing an antelope in his teeth to his mate, who crouches with her cub in a hollow of the rock at the r. Signed twice over Howitt.
Sepia; roy.,  $7\frac{3}{8} \times 10\frac{3}{8}$  in.
  4. FALLOW DEER. Two bucks and two does resting near a fence l., the nearer pair lying down; further off, a buck and a doe moving off down a slope towards woods.
Water colours and Indian ink; roy.,  $4\frac{7}{8} \times 6\frac{3}{8}$  in.
- Nos. 1-4 were purchased October, 1867.

5. Two on one mount, roy., viz. :—

(a) SHOOTING OVER SETTERS. Three setters on a moor, one of them pointing and another setting, while the sportsman comes up from behind a rock l. Signed Howitt.

Water colours;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.

(b) DEER-STALKING. A man with two staghounds levelling his gun behind a tree at a stag in open ground beyond l. Signed Howitt.

Water colours;  $5\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{8}$  in.

Inserted in the interleaved Academy Catalogues (Vol. VII., No. 59), presented by J. H. Anderden, Esq., November, 1867.

[10-11.] Drawings for Captain Thomas Williamson's 'Oriental Field Sports,' 1807, fol. Howitt made the illustrations to this work from Williamson's sketches. These drawings have always borne Howitt's name, though it is practically certain that they are Williamson's first designs.

10. EXHIBITION OF A BATTLE BETWEEN TIGER AND A BUFFALO. Part of an arena, surrounded by a tall bamboo fence, on the top of which is a crowd of Indian spectators, with a balcony and awning for a native prince and his guests; below, the buffalo is rushing, horns down, on the crouching tiger.

Indian ink, with slight water-colour wash; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{4} \times 16\frac{1}{2}$  in.

The same subject with differences was engraved by H. Merke for 'Oriental Field Sports,' Plate xxiv. In the print, the tiger is hanging to the buffalo's neck.

Purchased July, 1835.

11. DOOREAHS OR DOG-KEEPERS LEADING OUT DOGS. Five Indians with leashes of dogs moving away down a road with a building r., and stables for elephants l.; in the distance a square tank with buildings beyond it.

Indian-ink wash and pen; roy.,  $11\frac{1}{4} \times 16\frac{3}{8}$  in.

First design for Plate xxxvii. of 'Oriental Field Sports,' engraved by H. Merke. In the engraving there are more figures and other changes; there are horses instead of elephants in the stables.

Purchased July, 1876.
